We all have problems affecting our people back home. I have one that has been asked me a number of times. In response to many requests, I introduced what has been called the bar-maid bill—I have no great interest in it myself—but here is a question that concerns people—in fact, I have seen letters recently sent out to licensees, signed by the Chairman of the Board, warning that if once again they should be caught having female help serve liquors over the bar, they will be penalized. At the same time the question arises if they are not permitted to have female help in a bar-room why should the Commonwealth hire female help in State Liquor stores, because in the same way they are dishing liquor out over the counter and they are permitted to do so while a person having a license is not.

I think the board should be called in, and have them clarify some of these misleading facts, if they are facts. If a girl can not serve over a bar in a licensed place, why can she in a Liquor Control Board store? It seems to me to be very unfair, so I would like to see the Board called in, in a non-partisan manner, and discuss these matters.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in view of what has taken place during the past week, the closing of tap-rooms and hotels for the sale of liquor after twelve o'clock and, further, in view of what has taken place today in the Senate Chambers, I feel that our boys should all be singing "Sweet Adeline," or "Nobody Knows How Dry I Am."

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, a short while ago somebody asked me what curfew meant, and I tried to remember my French, "courri le feu", which means "cover the flame"—put the flame out.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, we could not hear over here and we would like to have some of this humor over here, so that we could hear it.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 44, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 814), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," as amended, by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to cancellation of registration upon the failure to vote within two years

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 39), page 3, line 17, by inserting the word "[Within]" During; Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 39), page 3, lines 18 and 21, by inserting a light face bracket before the word "the" in line 18, and after the word "thereafter" in line 21; Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 39), page 3, line 21, by inserting after the word "thereafter" January first of each year.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WALKER. I have no desire to be captious on the record, but the word "within" is no longer in the bill. There is a striking-out of the word "within," and therefore it is no longer in the bill, and as I understand, correct procedure would be to have the word inserted after the word "vote" and before the word "two," on line 17, page 3.

The PRESIDENT. The word "within" appears in brackets.

Mr. WALKER. As I said, Mr. President, I merely make the suggestion, as I understand it there is no word "within" in the act after it is stricken out.

Mr. HEYBURN. I might say, Mr. President, that these amendments were drawn by the Legislative Reference Bureau and checked by the Bureau of Elections and in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth—whether they are right or wrong I do not know but a lot of experts have worked on them; a lot of experts.

Mr. WALKER. That fails to impress me, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I want to call attention to page 4, line 16, where there is an error of omission. Lines 15 and 16 now read "during the two immediately preceeding years"—they have omitted the word "calendar," and that is the whole purpose of the bill, to supplant "election year" with the words "calendar year," and I suggest that an amendment be presented to correct that error of omission at this time in order that the bill may be correct.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, with the consent of the sponsor, I request that the amendments be withdrawn.

(The amendments were withdrawn.)

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 44, on third reading, Printer's No. 65, go over in its order, so that we may have another set of experts check the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 45, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections three and thirty-nine of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 849), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the third class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; imposing penalties; and repealing existing legislation," as amended by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to cancellation of registration upon the failure to vote within two years go over in its order as this is a companion bill to Senate Bill No. 44.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to call attention to an error of omission, and we want to call it to your attention, so that it will be taken care of by tomorrow, line 20, page 4, where the word "two" has been left out preceeding the word "immediate preceding calendar years"; that word "two" should be put in the bill, we believe.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 46, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two and thirty-eight of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 487), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs, towns, and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," as amended, by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to cancellation of registration upon failure to vote within two years go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 47, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 115), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the first class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commission, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, real estate brokers, rental agents, certain public service companies, persons, firms and corporations operating vehicles for moving furniture and household goods, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," as amended by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to cancellation of registration upon failure to vote within certain periods go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 48, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1132) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class A as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," as amended, by further regulating and changing the provisions of the act relating to cancellation of registration upon the failure to vote within two years go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 53 on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. It will not meet with my approval, Mr. President.

As the sponsor of this bill, I have discussed it with the gentleman from Philadelphia. I have no desire to be discourteous but I have already discussed the matter with the gentleman from Philadelphia, who now wants further discussion, apparently, and there is no point in further discussion, when the matters involved already have been gone over with certain court officials in Philadelphia county. I spent six hours with them working out the bugs in this bill and when they left me they assured me they were perfectly satisfied with the bill, as we had it drafted, and after they got back to Philadelphia and away from my charming personality they changed their minds.

Mr. President I can not get them back in here for six more hours and I object to having action on the bill deferred at this time and I insist on going through with it.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 53, on third reading, go over in its order.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there is no question this is a constructive measure.

One of the salient features of this bill is the fact that it will allow the use of the Nirdlinger Estate Formula. However, as this formula appears now on Page 10 of the bill, Section 11, Paragraph 2, it has been so changed from a white dog as to become a black raven.

The reason I have asked the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, to have the bill go over in its order is to see whether this Nirdlinger Estate Formula, which has certainty and precision, could be again incorporated in this bill.

Unfortunately, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, puts me in the position of casting my ballot against this measure, although I am fully in favor of it, but I feel that by emasculating this Nirdlinger Estate Formula from the bill the entire gist of this legislation is lost.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, tell me whether or not the Bar Committee has expressed an opinion relative to this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say in answer to the question propounded by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox, the Bar Association approved this bill and they endorsed it a hundred percent, the Uniform Practice Committee of the State Bar Association has also approved the bill, and the Bar Association has written to me a formal letter approving the bill as it now appears before the Senate. I may say this also, sir, that it has been submitted to various Orphans' Court Judges for their approval.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, tell me what the opinion of the Orphans' Court Judges in Allegheny County is relative to this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will try to quote them as directly as I can. They said, after examining the bill, they could find no fault with it. I do not want to say on the strength of that, Mr. President, that they approved the bill, because, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, knows our Orphans' Court Judges far better than I do and he knows that the President Judge may point out that I read something into his remarks which was not there, if I said he approved the bill. The statement was, after examining the bill, he could find no fault with it.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, tell me if the expression of the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County was communicated to him in writing.

Mr. WALKER. No, Mr. President, the communication was made to me personally and verbally.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Am I correct, Mr. President, in stating that the Nirdlinger Estate Formula has been eliminated from this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I think that is a correct statement.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, again permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Surely, Mr. President, I do not bar anybody.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, do I understand that Judge Ladner and Judge Hunter are in accord with this bill? They are members of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have not called the roll of the judges of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County and I do not know what their position is today. All I can say, in all fairness to both gentlemen is that, as I understand it, there are six judges in the Orphans' Court in Philadelphia county and there arose the question as to whether or not the Orphans' Court in Philadelphia county was in accord with this bill. I communicated with them on the phone and one of the judges of the Orphans' Court told me over the phone they were not only in favor of the bill but they helped draft it. Then they sent Judge Hunter and Judge Ladner up here; and on the strength of some objections which they had, they had handed the amendments over to a lawyer from Philadelphia county who had discussed the matter with them, and they did file some objections to the bill, and they predicated that statement, by saying they had made a hasty examination—and then they came up here and for six hours we went over the bill in detail—you will note that the bill has been amended in some features, and those amendments followed suggestions they made in a lengthy conference in the office of the Judiciary General Committee, and then they advised me that they were now in favor of the bill and then I understand when they got back to Philadelphia and had sober second thought, they decided they were not in favor of the bill, and therefore I am not in a position to quote a final market report.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am speaking for myself, and not for the judges of the Orphans Court, but I suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, that I communicated with them, because those gentlemen favor the certainty of the Nirdlinger Estate formula. One of the reasons why I favored the bill was because of the Nirdlinger Estate formula. That has been eliminated now.

All I ask of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, is to permit this bill to go over in its order until tomorrow but this courtesy has been denied to me.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have tried to explain to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, that there are fifty members of this Senate and I have delayed action on this bill one time after another, until certain Senators got to talking together, meditating with their various judges and bar associations, and this matter has been cleared up with a great many Senators, but if I keep putting it off it will be October 1 before I can get it back on a third reading calendar; I think I have satisfied the objections the Orphans' Court judges of Philadelphia county had at that time. May I also say that I have discussed this matter with very eminent counsel from Philadelphia, and I do not think that either one of us will ever convince the other of the justifiableness of his position but, be that as it may, this bill of the Bar Association approves one hundred percent; it is strictly what may be termed a lawyers' bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we laymen of the minority feel the question is purely one of lawyers disagreeing over the contents of a bill, but we do not want to vote against the bill, feeling that it is setting up some uniform practice, and we always feel that the ordinary citizen benefits when we set up some formula that is uniform.

However, we do believe that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, puts us in an embarrassing position, when the learned gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, asked for only one day of delay—we do not ask that it be continued beyond tomorrow—but I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, that he has a great deal of sympathy on this side and that tomorrow the bill will come up for a vote without any question from this side, and I would ask that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, consent to having this bill go over in its order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have a strange feeling that I am going to hear this same story tomorrow, but I want to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, that he and I see eye to eye on so much legislation that I can not resist his personality and his charm and his personal feelings. I am perfectly willing to put this roll call off until tomorrow, with the anticipation that somewhere in this body some Senator is going to make the same request, and to him I want to say right now he may become my most bitter enemy, because I will not yield tomorrow; tomorrow the roll will be called and if the gentlemen on the minority side can not see their way clear to vote for the bill, very good, I will not take it as a personal matter.

Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, that I am willing to yield to his request, with the clear understanding that we are not going through with this again tomorrow, when we call the roll.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I accept the complimentary remarks made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and I am glad that he sees eye to eye with me and I only hope he serves long enough in the Senate to see vote to vote with me.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 53, on third reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen; and to make uniform the law with reference thereto go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?—The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 172, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the appointment of guardian in inter vivos gifts or under insurance or annuity policies go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to call attention to an obvious mistake in the title in this bill. There are no brackets in the title where the changes are made, and also line six does not read exactly right and I would like the sponsor of this bill to at least look into these changes, which will have to be made before the bill can be passed.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth sections were read and agreed to.

The eleventh section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 11, page 7, line 18, by inserting after the word "mining" if the Secretary of Forests and Waters shall find as a fact that such planting is reasonable, practicable and likely to succeed.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The twelfth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

"If the owner of the land desires its use for other purposes than for planting trees, shrubs and grasses, such use shall be permitted; and the acreage reserved for such use and any acreage of the excavated land for the prosecution of underground or drift mining operations upon the land, or for haulage ways for the removal of coal by underground mining from the operation, or adjoining or adjacent operations, shall be determined by the Secretary of Mines and credited against liability upon the registration bond at the rate per acre for which said bond was originally given, or cash or securities were originally deposited."

The court in such proceedings shall make such procedural orders as may be necessary for facilitating and expediting hearings and disposition of the matters complained of. From the decision of the said court of common pleas an appeal may be taken by either party to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania as in other causes. The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I refer the gentleman from Allegheny to my co-sponsor—my co-sponsor says no.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, a question arises in my mind from hearing the amendment read.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Allegheny wish to have the amendment read again?

Mr. WALKER. No, Mr. President, I have had enough of that. Does this mean that the Secretary of Mines can recall the bond forfeited before or after the procedure outlined in the amendment to Section 14, which has just been read?

Do I understand, Mr. President, that this bill will pass second reading today?

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Then, Mr. President, may I withdraw my interrogation until the bill appears once more on second reading calendar as amended?

Mr. WILSON. May I now take just one moment, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Jefferson will proceed.

Mr. WILSON. It is my understanding that whatever is done here today will be done on second reading and that this bill will not pass second reading but that the amendments will pass and that the bill will then go over in order so that we will all have the opportunity of examining it tomorrow.

If that is correct, I have nothing more to say, but if that is not correct I have something more to say at this time.

Mr. WALKER. That is correct, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fifteenth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth sections and title were read and agreed to.

prepare the information for us in order that tomorrow we may upon third reading interrogate the sponsor.

We would like to know, for instance, how much money is actually being saved by the Commonwealth each biennium by the retirement of these bonds; we would like to know how much of the $8,000,000 is used for maintenance costs which must still be paid if the bill passes; we would like to know, further, how much of the $8,000,000 represents an indirect contribution to the State Teachers' Retirement Fund and the State Employees' Retirement Fund, which will have to be made up by subsequent appropriations on the part of the Commonwealth

We would like to have that information in order that we may determine if this is a good business deal or whether it is just a political deal. so we ask the sponsor to have that information for us tomorrow.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord we come to Thee at this season of the year when we celebrate the birthday of the Father of our country, George Washington. We thank Thee for his leadership and the foundations which Thou hast enabled him to lay so well. And now, O Lord, we would offer the prayer which he prayed to Thee in another day of darkness and distress.

"Almighty God: We make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection; that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of subordination and obedience unto government; and to entertain a brotherly affection and love for one another and for their fellow citizens of the United States at large. And finally that Thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to do justice, to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the divine Author of our blessed religion, and without a humble imitation of whose example in these things we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord." Amen.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. McNALLY and HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, we ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

Amend sec. 1 (paragraph 5), page 2, line 20, by striking out the word "six" and inserting in lieu thereof "one and one-fourth."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to enter an objection to the offering of these amendments at this time. This legislation is joint legislation with the State of Ohio.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman having interposed his objection has said all that is in order to be said at this time. The amendments are not before the House for debate.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, the amendments are not before the House for debate. However, the bill will be.

The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I merely wanted to state my reasons for entering the objection. As a rule I do not wish to enter objections for technical reasons, and I wanted to explain why I was entering the objections. However, if that is not in order I will merely object and say no more. Do I understand the Chair's ruling that I may say why I am objecting to the offering of these amendments at this time?

The SPEAKER. The bill is now before the House for debate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, this legislation is joint legislation with the State of Ohio. Pymatuning Lake lies partly in the State of Pennsylvania and partly in the State of Ohio, and for that reason, and for the reason that under the act of 1937 which set up Pymatuning Lake and approved the compact that was made at that time between the commissioners appointed by the Governor of the State of Ohio and the commissioners appointed by the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania set forth that any change in that compact would have to be made by joint legislation or legislation to be adopted both by the State of Ohio and by the State of Pennsylvania and concurred in and also ratified by an act of Congress of the United States. In the original compact it was stipulated that motor boats would not be allowed on Pymatuning Lake.

The Lake has a seventy-five mile shore line and the people there have found it very hard to get from their homes to the fishing grounds in the lake, if they had to row a row boat out there; in fact it was almost impossible to get there due to the fact that this lake is so large and the winds come up and impede the progress of a boat back to the home wharf. Many people have been stranded out in the middle of the lake and had to take shelter on an island all night.

For this reason the sportsmen in that locality have endorsed this legislation to provide motor boats, and the people there have been unanimously in favor of allowing motor boats on Pymatuning Lake.

I would like to read one letter which I have received, and this letter is typical and representative of the letters which I have received from the people in that vicinity. This letter is from R. G. Harvey of Linesville, Pennsylvania, and reads as follows:

Mr. Rowland B. Mahany
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

I hope that you can see your way clear to support the proposed legislation to allow motor boats on Pymatuning Lake. While the lake could be the answer to a conservationist's dream, in reality the shoreline along the Spillway resembles nothing more than a muddy barn yard. With no incentive for people to build cottages and improve the appearance the lake will continue to look just as it does now. Because of the shallowness of the lake and the resulting high waves, most people do not care to row on it after the first trip or two.

It is certain that disabled veterans are not going to be able to enjoy Pymatuning Lake if the only fishing they can do is from shore or if in order to reach more favorable fishing grounds they must resort to rowing a boat.

Sportsmen of this area have gone on record favoring motor boats with limited horse power. While the local sportsmen took action opposed to motor boats in 1940, in the fall of 1944 at a County meeting all of the Crawford County chapters except Townville, which is far from the lake, took action favoring the limited horse power boats.

I hope that you can see your way clear to approve the proposed legislation."

This legislation, as I see it, is badly needed, and I hope all of the Members will vote in favor of it.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I think Mr. Mahaney forgot that three quarters of this lake is in Pennsylvania. It would be dangerous to have motor boats of six horsepower. The Audubon Society of Allegheny County is against the bill and most of the sportsmen in Allegheny County, who pay the biggest part of the tax for license fees for fishing on the lake are against this bill, therefore, I ask the Members of the House to oppose it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, Pymatuning was not projected as a real estate venture. Undoubtedly there are some fishermen in this House, and I never knew of a real fisherman that found a high powered motor boat was desirable company in fishing. The gentleman who sponsored this bill tells you how difficult it is for people who live adjacent to Pymatuning to get where they want to fish. As I say, Pymatuning was not instituted for the benefit of the people living on the shoreline; it is the possession of the fishermen of the state of Pennsylvania.

A six horsepower or a four horsepower motor boat makes a mighty wash. If you have fishermen, fisherwomen, fisherboys and fishergirls in light skiffs, particularly in canoes and you have a lot of motor boats racing past that point, you are going to have a lot of fatalities.

For fishing you don't need a six horsepower or a four horsepower motor boat, and so it is a question for the fishermen to decide. I hope there are enough fishermen in the House—not judges of good whiskey—if there are as many fishermen as there are judges of good whiskey we can lick this bill.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, the State of Ohio has made some surveys in relation to horsepower on motor boats, and I would like to read a letter which was addressed to Mr. George Bloom by H. A. Rider, Assistant Commissioner of the Division of Conservation and Natural Resources of the State of Ohio. It reads as follows:

"About five years ago, we leased the water rights on ten large flood prevention lakes in Ohio which contained a conservation pool level from the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District Board at New Philadelphia, Ohio. We pay for this water acreage from the funds derived from the sale of fishing licenses in Ohio. The lakes run in size from 1500 to 5000 acres.

The question immediately arose as to how fishermen could conveniently arrive at the various fishing areas on these lakes if all motors were prohibited. It being of the opinion that in lakes of this size the waters are not too disturbed by motors of moderate size as to become inimical to fish or fishing, we immediately set out through public hearings and deliberations to determine the best motor boat rules we could adopt for these lakes. Our thoughts at first were to confine these motors in use on these various lakes to a very small horsepower, approximately three or four horsepower. However, after the public hearing and lengthy deliberations, we determined that the favorite recent models of motors, or models put out during the last ten years, were two motors, one of which had a horsepower of five and one-tenth, while the other had a horsepower of 5.34. Therefore, it appeared without question to the Commission of Conservation and Natural Resources here in Ohio that, if we were to draw rules regarding the use of motor boats on these lakes, and limit the horsepower to motors of three or four horsepower, we would immediately eliminate great numbers of our Ohio fishermen who have purchased fishing equipment, including motors and boats, within the past ten years.

On further examination and study, we determined that a motor of less than six horsepower was no more disturbing to the water and the fish in these waters than motors of lesser horsepower and still powerful enough to be used successfully by fishermen. Therefore, we have drawn our rules for the use of motors on these, the Muskingum Lakes, to restrict the use of any motors over 6 horsepower. Of course, there have not been manufactured recently motors of 6 horsepower, but this provision does make it possible to use the two popular motors mentioned above and which the many thousands of our Ohio fishermen already possess.

Thus, we feel in a lake the size of Pymatuning, motors should be permitted. We also feel that if these motors are limited to 6 horsepower, they will not prove harmful to fish or too disturbing for fishermen. However, we know from our wide experience in the matter over recent years, that to set up a lesser horsepower than 6 for these motors would be most objectionable to the fishermen of Ohio.

I hope that I have made myself plain in this letter. If there is any further assistance we can give the State of Pennsylvania in this matter, we shall be happy to convey to you our experience in the use of motor boats on the fishing lakes of Ohio."

So in order to accommodate our fishermen who have purchased motors and who, contrary to Mr. Andrew's suggestion, like to take them to Canada with them and fish in those lakes there, and when they come back from Canada they would like to use their motors on Pymatuning Lake, we have had to yield to their desire and put this bill in to allow motor boats of six horsepower, and it is for that reason that this horsepower is so limited.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, being a motor boatman and knowing nothing in particular of the problems on this particular lake, however, I would like to say that a six horsepower motor in a boat fit to fish in is not a speed boat, and it would seem to me that the power fixed in this bill is not prohibitive for use on any waterway of any relative size for the purpose of fishing. Most of those motors would be outboard motors, and if they are placed on a racing boat they would speed, but if they are placed on a fishing boat they cannot speed, and for that reason I think that the case is rather overdrawn when one speaks against six horsepower as being too high powered a boat for use of fishermen.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Pentrack.

Mr. PENTRACK. Mr. Speaker, being a fisherman myself, I have fished on Pymatuning Dam, which is noted to be the fisherman's paradise of the northwestern part of Pennsylvania. No doubt the majority of the members of the House have not seen Pymatuning Dam and don't know what it is all about, but any man that has fished on any still waters certainly is not going to be disturbed by a motorboat, because when the fisherman sees a motor boat going by he will evidently row away, and when you are going to have a six horsepower motor boat, you are going to have them on private boats and private yachts, and you will have them cruising all over the lake, and you are going to spoil the fisherman's paradise in northwestern Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, JR., asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. DAVID P. REESE, JR., FOX, TITTLE and BONAWITZ offered the following resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, February 26, 1945.

The Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, a native of York County, a former judge of the Dauphin County Courts, a former member of this House, and a member of the bar of Danphin County since 1888, died Tuesday, February 20, at his home in Harrisburg after an active life that covered a span of four score years and ten.

During most of those years he was active in church, fraternal, philanthropic and civic circles.

He was graduated from the township school and the Shippensburg Normal School in 1884. Private instructors prepared him for his study of the law. Registering as a law student under the late Judge S. J. M. McCarroll, he was admitted to the bar in 1888.

During his study of the law, Judge Wickersham taught one term in the Model School at Shippensburg, one term in the Hanover High, and three terms in the Steelton High School.

Establishing the firm of Wickersham and Duerr in Steelton, he was later the senior member in the firm of Wickersham and Metzger until 1920, when he was appointed to the Dauphin County Bench.

His long training as a lawmaker, attorney at the bar and prosecuting attorney as well resulted in his appointment to the bench in 1920, by the late former Governor William C. Sproul, succeeding his late preceptor, Judge McCarroll, and he was elected to ten-year terms in 1921 and 1931, retiring in January, 1942.

The honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred on him by Gettysburg College in 1913; in 1924 the degree of Doctor of Laws.

Judge Wickersham held a place of prominence in many lodges and fraternal organizations, and for three years, 1913 to 1915, was Supreme Regent of the Royal Arcanum of the United States and Canada, an order to which he devoted many years of service.

A member of all the Masonic orders, at his death he was the oldest past master of Robert Burns Lodge, No. 464. His other lodge affiliations included the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias, Red Men, P. O. S. of A., Modern Woodmen of America, Woodmen of the World, Loyal Association and Macabees.

Active in other Masonic organizations the former Judge was a past high priest of Perseverance Chapter, Royal Arch Masons; a member of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar; Harrisburg Consistory, Scottish Rite Masons and a charter member of Zembo Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

He was a charter member of the Dauphin County, the Pennsylvania and the American Bar Associations.

He married the former Miss Mary Fencil, who died in August, 1907. Their three sons are Frank Brewster, a Harrisburg attorney, now associated with Maurice B. Metzger, in the firm of Metzger and Wickersham, which was formerly the firm of Judge Wickersham and Mr. Metzger; Robert Cadwallader, an official of the Koppers Company, Pittsburgh, and James Hopkins, a vice-president of the Fifth Avenue Bank, New York.

Judge Wickersham's second wife was the former Miss Ruby Seacrest, whom he married in 1910; therefore be it Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that in the death of Judge Wickersham the County of Dauphin has lost a jurist of marked ability and a civic leader who devoted much time to the needs of the city and county in which he lived, and the Commonwealth has lost an honored and outstanding citizen; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the widow of the said Honorable Frank B. Wickersham.

Mr. MODELL offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution, and while I know it is not a privileged resolution, nor is it a concurrent resolution, yet it is of interest to every Member of this House, and all of the citizens of Pennsylvania, especially those working in industrial plants. I would like to ask the consent of the House that the resolution be read for the information of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the reading of the resolution for the information of the House? Is there objection?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MORAN. I would like to know who objected to the reading of my resolution, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Majority Floor Leader objected.

AMENDMENT TO RULES

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution to amend House Rule No. 40.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules this resolution will lie over for one day for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to talk briefly, I hope, a little bit about whiskey, the purchase of whiskey, the manner and method in which one of our great businesses, the Liquor Control Board, does business, and then I want to inquire as to what should be done with the facts as they have so far developed.

The Liquor Control Board does a mighty big business. Its total sales in 1944 were $165,662,874. That is a lot of money, a big concern. Its net profit was $21,281,400 and that is a lot of profit. That $21,000,000 does not include $11,787,626 accruing from the emergency ten per cent tax. So you see that the Liquor Control Board is getting along right well, and in addition it has $5,000,000 loaned to it to help it do business. It has a surplus of about $10,000,000.

You would imagine that a concern that has total sales of $165,000,000, profits of over $33,000,000 and a $5,000,000 loan to enable it to do business would be able to discount its bills.

If we look at the records we will find that this prosperous concern cannot or does not discount its bills. When the Liquor Control Board does not discount its bills it hands the vendor one and one-half per cent, and when it discounts its bills it saves the Commonwealth one and one-half per cent.

I should not take your time, nor have I the patience myself to read you all the instances, but just a few of them run like this:

The Seagram Distillers Company on a $135,000 bill, the discount, which the Liquor Control Board did not take, was $2,331, an outright gift to the distilling company.

The Fleischman Distilling Company, on a $33,000 bill, $501 which the Liquor Control Board did not take.

Frankford Distilleries, a $95,000 bill, $1400 discount which the Liquor Control Board did not take.

The American Wine Company, that is only a little one, that was only $144.

Park and Tilford $59,888, a discount the Liquor Control Board did not take.

Springdale Distilling Company—that was a little one—$2600, a discount of $62 that the Liquor Board did not take Hiram Walker, Incorporated, a $76,000 bill, and $1100 discount the Liquor Control Board did not take.

When you are doing a $165,000,000 business and you don't take your discounts, when the State of Pennsylvania has loaned you $5,000,000 so you would be in a position to do business, there is something very peculiar, and I am willing to consult with the Majority Leader as to whether we send these facts over to the other branch of the Legislature where they seem to be somewhat concerned about various mysterious political phases of the Liquor Board situation. They might be able to use these facts.

Maybe our own Liquor Control Committee in this House, if it were not afraid of where a probe might lead, might do a little investigating into these business methods, and if the Senate doesn't want the facts and the House Committee doesn't want them, well, we might turn them over to the senior member of the minority group on the Liquor Control Committee and see whether he can get anywhere.

But I submit to you in all seriousness that there is something wrong with the business situation of a $165,-000,000 business, which in account after account—a row of figures that would take too long to go through, persistently hands the vendor the amount of the discount.

As I say, such information as I have and any other facts I would be glad to turn over to the Majority Leader or the Chairman of the Appropriate Committee. I really do not know what to do with the situation except that if you look into it you will find it is as I say, and you will not only find it is as I say, but you will find from a business standpoint it is even worse.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKFR. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria to what year the figures which he has read to the House as discounts on bills related: what year these bills were due and payable.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the year was 1944. The month I have in mind is the month of December.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in 1941 there was a plea made on the floor of the House for the passage of a bill known as the bill to allow tax anticipation notes, because of the failure at that time of the Liquor Control Board having available the tax receipts and the money with which to discount bills. As I recall at that time the plea of the then minority on this side of the House was utterly ignored.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say just a few words about a program that has been introduced into this House this evening. I think it is important enough to warrant the attention of every Member of this House and should be given very serious consideration.

A few months ago I was very much delighted at an editorial which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle entitled "What is California Doing for Aviation?" Immediately, of course, I was interested at the word "aviation." This article continued to score the Legislature of California and those in a position to do something about aviation in California for their gross negligence.

The article went on to cite the fact that several of the forty-eight states have gone ahead with their aviation programs and have become leaders in the Nation in aviation. The article continuing stated "Notable among the States which have taken a very active interest in aviation is Pennsylvania." Of course, I was pleased to know as a Pennsylvanian that we were in the forefront of aviation. Also I had a personal pleasure in that particular statement inasmuch as I felt I was responsible personally for the development of the present program in the state due to the fact that I sponsored the three bills in the last regular session which created or renewed the life of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission.

That Commission, Mr. Speaker, has functioned now for two years under the very able direction of the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Floyd Chalfant and the very aggressive, far-sighted and very much interested Executive Director, Mr. William Anderson. In conjunction with the Aeronautics Committee of the House the Commission has prepared what it presents as a ten year plan for aviation development in the state of Pennsylvania. You have received, or you may get if you go to your mail box, a copy of the proposed ten year program for the state of Pennsylvania.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that this is not a hard, fast, definitely set program. It is flexible, capable of adjustment and it is entirely dependent upon the initiative of the local communities.

We have prepared a series of bills and introduced those bills tonight which we feel will carry out the first two year step in this ten year plan. I submit this plan and the bills as soon as they are printed for your consideration. The committee will welcome any suggestions that you might have to make on this program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. NAGEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we were elected by the voters of our various counties of our State to assemble here in our State Capitol for a definite purpose, and that purpose is to enact new laws, amend old laws that have proved deficient and, last but not least, repeal laws that have become useless and, probably harmful, often standing as barriers to progress in this rapidly advancing age. To go forward necessitates change. An ancient philosopher once said, "All things are becoming." Here he had reference to the changeless law of change, the existence of which has been fully demonstrated by our scientists. If such thought be based on fact then anything made or conceived by man is not so holy or perfect that it cannot with immunity be subjected to change. Once it was said "The laws of the Medes and Persians change not," but they did change.

We rightly regard our National and State Constitutions as our supreme guide for our conduct. These precious documents should be subjected to change only after long, careful and prayerful deliberation for these instruments, we believe, contain some essence of eternal verity.

The laws of our State and Nation are different. They are not endowed with permanency. From time to time they become outmoded and useless. In fact, it might be in order to suggest that it be made mandatory that every decade our National and State laws be subjected to the careful scrutiny of a competent committee with a view to repealing all needless, useless laws that clutter up our statute books.

Thos. Jefferson once said, "All laws should die at the end of 25 years unless re-enacted."

No other event in world history has made so great a demand for legislative changes as the gigantic struggle in which we are now engaged. The food problem has become a matter of national and international importance. Laws must be enacted, revised and repealed to cope with the critical situation.

In 1901 it was thought necessary to enact a law in our state to protect the butter-producing farmer from competition because a then crude product known as oleomargarine had made its appearance on the market. This law placed heavy license fees on the manufacturer, the wholesaler, the retailer, the hotel, the restaurant, the boarding house. In fact, this law was an attempt to ditch oleomargarine at every outlet to the market. It forbid under severe penalty the coloring of this product so as to make it unattractive and inconvenient and thus discourage its consumption. The Federal law permits coloring of oleomargarine by the payment of a tax of ten cents a pound, but our state will not permit coloring under any circumstances.

The need for an oleomargarine law at that time probably justified its enactment and, perhaps, its existence during some of the past, but now the law of change has altered the picture. Genuine butter is now a most difficult luxury to obtain. The oleomargarine manufacturer has so improved his original crude product so that now it is comparable to genuine butter. It is now a highly nutritious and palatable article. Notwithstanding the obstacles on its way into the market, it has long been the poor man's spread. It is inviting in appearance after the housewife has incorporated into it the coloring matter sold with each package. If this coloring process could be entrusted to the manufacturer, the job could be done better and more cheaply. Why we want to keep this coloring job on the shoulders of the housewife is most difficult to understand. Perhaps it is a hangover from the dark ages when a man's wife was his slave and his chattel. Or might it be a hypocritical procedure to in a secret way benefit a few at the expense of the great masses?

Why should oleomargarine be so shackled by legal restrictions that it is only through hardship and difficulty that it can reach the multitude of begging consumers? At this time there is no logical defense to the affirmative of this question. On the negative side of the question, obvious, evident and conclusive facts constitute the sound base of argument.

Our state and nation—yes, the entire world has become milk, butter and cheese conscious. The food value of dairy products is now known with the result they are being consumed in ever increasing amounts. This has resulted in shortage which shortage must in some way be supplemented if the generations of the future are expected to be physically and mentally strong. Can any intelligent mind conceive of a time within the next quarter century when there will be an over-supply of dairy products?

Why then should we continue our attempt to outlaw oleomargarine, the only food in our Commonwealth that is penalized without any reasonable justification?

"Oh, yes," I am told, "oleomargarine is a fine source for taxation. We will miss the $600,000 revenue." A strong argument when viewed from only one side. However, dare we compare this paltry sum with the injury that may be done to our boys and girls through under-nourishment because of lack of dairy foods and other products of like vitamin content? Do we want to collect this sum in taxes and then expend many times this amount to maintain in our institutions mental and physical defectives whose conditions may be traceable to mal-nutrition?

I ask you, Members of the House, who wants the repeal of this drastic law? That is a fair question for me to ask and a question to which you should have an answer. I say the people of this great Commonwealth are demanding it. Since this legislation was introduced I and my co-sponsor have received many letters urging and praying that we put forth our best efforts to unshackle this vital food.

The people of this state include the farmers. The people of the state include the Grangers, for today the Grange is not a farmer's organization. Into its folds are admitted preachers and lawyers and doctors, undertakers and merchants and every class of profession and occupation in the United States, with a smattering of farmers, and many of them have told me they have tried to buy oleo over the counter. It might be interesting for you to know that in all of these letters I received from the various parts of the state not one manufacturer has urged that the bills be passed. That is conclusive evidence that there is no selfish monetary influence back of these bills.

Mr. Speaker, the press speaks. I might have had many comments clipped from the various papers of the State but I have two here to which I will call your attention. This is from the "Pittsburgh Post Gazette" of February 23rd:

Women Voters Organize To Change Margarine Laws

A lobby of housewives will soon descend upon Harrisburg, to make an attempt to remove the Pennsylvania laws against margarine (passed in 1901).

Mrs. G. H. Nicholas, chairman of the committee on economic welfare in the Allegheny County League of Women Voters says the housekeepers of the county are getting more and more furious with the high taxes which make it impossible for small store-keepers to stock margarine, and force the shopper to visit several places before finding a large store that has the financial backing to pay the taxes required.

They insist that the time wasted shopping could be used to better advantage in the war activities that are crying for the help of women.

And they are sincerely convinced that the regulations passed at the beginning of the century before the passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act in 1938, are no longer needed.

Since then flyers have been printed and circulated, and 20,000 letters are to be sent to all who are interested.

The lobby is to be still another step in the now flourishing campaign to help pass the Nagel and Yester bills, presented to the present Legislature by Representatives Reuben A. Nagel and William J. Yester which would remove all restrictions and taxes on margarine. This bill has been referred to the committee on dairy industries.

From the "Pittsburg Press" I quote the following:

"Suppose meat became so scarce that it was practically unobtainable in the stores, and eggs were the only substitute you could buy. Suppose, further, that the Federal Government insisted that all eggs be broken before they were sold in the stores, so they would not be attractive to buyers, and that the states imposed taxes that increased the price of eggs and made them difficult to obtain.

In such a case, the protests of outraged citizens would echo through legislative halls, and the restrictions undoubtedly would be repealed before many moons had set. Yet practically the same situation prevails in the case of butter and oleomargarine and, although there have been many protests, they have not been successful. Because the oleo restrictions have been in effect for many years, their opponents haven't been able to bring enough pressure to bear at any one time to offset the legislators' fear of dairy interests.

A Silly Situation

Its a silly situation. The nation's dairies cannot come anywhere near supplying enough butter to meet the needs of consumers, yet they continue to block reforms which would make more of the substitute available. It was bad enough in normal times, when the restrictions bore heavily upon housewives, who had to buy oleo because they couldn't afford butter.

In case you have forgotten, here are the hurdles that are placed between you and the pound of oleo you might want to buy.

The Federal Government puts up the first big obstacle through a special tax of 10 cents a pound on oleo colored by the manufacturer, and a license fee of $48 a year for stores selling the pre-colored product.

Because of this, most oleo is sold white, like a cake of lard, which discourages you at the start. Under Pennsylvania law, you can't buy colored oleo even if you're willing to pay the 10 cents.

You get a little container of color and, after softening the oleo, you laboriously mix it in. You waste an estimated 2½ percent of your oleo in this process, as well as considerable time and effort. While engaged in this pastime, it doesn't help your temper to recall that there's no legitimate need for it.

Taxes Add to Cost

In taxing oleo, Pennsylvania leads all the rest. Although it does not tax the product directly, it imposes heavy fees on dealers, which are passed on to the consumer. The fees total nearly a half a million dollars a year.

A manufacturer pays $1000 a year, a wholesaler $500, a retailer $100, and a restaurant which wants to serve oleo, or must, pays $50.

The price increase brought about by the taxes may not be so important in these war boom days, but that $100 retail license fee makes oleo hard to find. Most small stores cannot afford to pay it. Only about one-tenth of the retailers in Pennsylvania have oleo licenses.

Finding a store that handles oleo can become a game, but most housewives aren't in the mood for games these days.

On January 23rd, Representative Yester and I introduced two bills, namely House Bills 245 and 253, to release oleo to the crying public. These bills, if enacted into law will on the one hand serve a humanitarian purpose and on the other hand injure no one.

Since introducing these bills an appealing bill has been introduced which will remove a part of the license fee but these bills will not help to solve this acute food shortage.

House Bills 245 and 253 still repose in committee and to the best of my knowledge this committee has not convened during this session. Why this delay? We cannot think it is an attempt to hold back until just a few days before adjournment, which, of course, means defeat.

Don't forget, Members of the House and members of the Dairy Industries Committee that the revenue collected on oleo is nothing more than cost passed on to the consumer; in this case to make it more difficult for him to eat. Members of the House, your constituents want this important food released, and your vote and attitude will be noted. Don't forget that your constituents back over the hills of Pennsylvania, including farmers and city folks and including a great band of laboring people that we have in this country, they have their eyes on you and on me and they want us to come out here like men and stand on the floor of this House of Representatives and be counted so that they may know who is for the penalized people of our state.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 27, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Licutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

When we are reverently mindful of Thee, O God, we are at our best and are thereby prepared to do our best. May we be satisfied with nothing less. When we pray enable us to say "Our Father which are in Heaven," and to believe that Thou art the Father of all men.

In faith we ask Thee for faith in an ever-ruling Providence, which directs the affairs of nations and of men; greater faith in that directing care for our nation and for our individual lives. Our fathers believed that God rules over all, and by that faith were encouraged to found a new nation in this new world. Give us of this generation the faith to emulate them. If we do no enemy from within or without can destroy us.

We pray especially at this time for Thy comforting presence to be in the homes out of which young men and women have gone to serve our country. Many of these will not return. They will have given their all. God, be near to their loved ones at home who mourn their passing. Out of the war may victory soon come and the war flags come to rest around the banner of the Prince of Peace. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and colleagues, because of widespread concern, especially among the Judiciary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and other interested citizens, when Senate Bill No. 246 was introduced, it had to do with the age limit of those committed to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon and also further had to do with a definement of what would be known as a defective delinquent.

The Governor and the Department of Welfare have today, after full consultation with all parties concerned, decided that this bill should not be enacted at this time and therefore I have been authorized to make this short statement:

The Governor stated today that in accordance with a ruling of the Attorney General all defective delinquents fifteen years of age or over would be admitted to and cared for at Huntingdon.

Meanwhile, it is the desire of the Governor that a new building, especially adapted for the care of defective delinquents, be erected at Bellefonte as soon as material therefor is available.

A new building at Bellefonte can be operated better and cheaper than anywhere else because the facilities and products of the large farm there would be available for the inmates of the new institution.

Therefore, Mr. President, in the interest of the citizens of the Commonwealth, especially those that might be affected by this legislation, and realizing that these institutions throughout the Commonwealth are now crowded and are helpless to improve or enlarge their facilities, I make the following motion:

SENATE BILL No. 246, CALLED UP

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 246, Printer's No. 59, on Page 6 of today's Calendar, be taken up at this time for the purpose of making the motion that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am fully in accord with the statement by the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

However, I am very much interested in helping all defective delinquents. Huntingdon today is overcrowded, they have not the facilities, they have not the training shops, and the boys there today have no opportunity at all to be trained and cared for properly.

While it is true, as was stated by the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, speaking for the Governor, that they hoped to build an institution at Bellefonte, to my mind that can not come too soon. I hope that it will be done within the next few months and not five or ten years from now.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WADE, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 246, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. which was laid over in accordance with the rules.

He also from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred on February 14, 1945, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

COMMEMORATING ANTHONY WAYNE DAY AND CONSTRUCTING A MEMORIAL HIGHWAY

In the House of Representatives, February 5, 1945.

Major General Anthony Wayne began his public career as a member of this General Assembly of Pennsylvania where he actively promoted measures leading toward independence.

Turning from service in the legislature to service in the American army, Anthony Wayne commanded with distingtion the first Pennsylvania troops to take an important part in battle during the American Revolution when, by their brave steadfastness during the battle of Three Rivers, they founded a Pennsylvania tradition which has been maintained in every war of the United States.

Raised to the rank of Brigadier General in 1777, Anthony Wayne led the Pennsylvania Line in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth and helped General George Washington to hold the army together during the terrible winter at Valley Forge.

Anthony Wayne won especial fame in 1779 by his daring exploit in surprise, and capturing the fortress of Stony Point on the Hudson River.

The victory at Yorktown did not end Wayne's services to the American cause for his Georgia campaign in 1782 and 1783 against the Tories and Indians was largely responsible for saving that state for the new nation.

Having fought for independence, he later supported sound conservative government when re-elected to the General Assembly in 1784 and was an influential member of the Pennsylvania convention which ratified the Constitution of the United States in 1787.

When Indian hostility threatened to prevent American settlement and possession of the rich territory north of the Ohio River. Major General Anthony Wayne was chosen by President Washington to command the United States Army and with the reliable force which he had trained at Legionville near Ambridge in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, Wayne defeated the Indian confederacy at the battle of Fallen Timbers on August 20, 1794, enforcing their submission by the Treaty of Greenville on August 3, 1795.

After a lifetime spent in the service of his country, he fell ill while returning from the Northwest Territory which he had saved and died in Fort Presque Isle at Erie, Pennsylvania, on December 15, 1796 at the age of fifty-one years.

Anthony Wayne, as military leader and as patriotic statesman, above all believed first in his country and rendered great services to the United States and especially to Pennsylvania and the States formed from the Northwest Territory.

Two hundred years have passed since his birth on the family plantation of Waynesborough, Chester County, Pennsylvania, on January 1, 1745; and one hundred and fifty years since his crowning achievement of the Treaty of Greenville which dictated the future course of American expansion and which followed long days of discipline, drill and watchfulness by the Conqueror of the Old Northwest from which the present states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin were carved, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do honor to the memory of Anthony Wayne by designating as "Anthony Wayne Day," August 3, 1945, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Treaty of Greenville and be it further

Resolved That the Department of Highways be hereby instructed to designate an appropriate highway in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the "Anthony Wayne Memorial Highway," and be it further

Resolved That the General Assembly hereby commends and endorses the proclamation of Governor of the Commonwealth, Edward Martin, calling attention to the significance of this anniversary year and calling upon the schools and all other public agencies and institutions and all the historical, patriotic, civic and other organizations of the Commonwealth at some time during the year to conduct appropriate exercises and undertake such other observances as may seem fitting to pay tribute to the achievements and services of Anthony Wayne.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE ACTIONS OF MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I desire at this time to present a special report to the President and members of the Senate, and the Speaker and the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The General Assembly in the Regular Session of 1935 (Act No. 191, approved June 28, 1935), passed the "Municipal Authorities Act of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five." The term "Authority" in this Act was defined to mean a body politic and corporate, created for the purpose of constructing, improving, maintaining and operating bridges, tunnels, streets, highways, parkways, traffic distribution centers, traffic circles, parking spaces, airports, hangars, low cost housing projects, parks, recreation grounds and facilities, sewers, sewer systems, sewage treatment works, swimming pools, play grounds, lakes, low head dams, hospitals, and subways (any and all the foregoing being herein called "Projects").

The Act of 1935 was amended and clarified in the Regular Session of 1937 (Act No. 200, approved May 20, 1937); and again in the Regular Session of 1939, (Act No. 85 of May 17, 1939).

In the Regular Session of 1943, the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, called attention to certain irregularities which were carried on in various areas of Pennsylvania, notably in Westmoreland County, and other western Counties, in the acquisition of private water companies at unconscionable purchase prices, and the incidental consummation of operating contracts not to the best interests of the ratepayer and the public.

The Senator introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a Committee to investigate actions of Municipal Authorities in acquisition of water companies, and the Resolution was reported out as committed, and adopted in the Senate on March 10, 1943. A Committee consisting of six (6) Senators was appointed, and after conducting a thorough investigation by public hearings, presented its Report to the Senate on March 31, 1943, appearing as, by reference to the same, in the Legislative Journal of that date, will fully appear,

As a result of the Resolution, investigation and Report, a further amendment to the Act of 1935, and its supplements, was introduced and passed by the General Assembly (Act No. 292 of May 26, 1943).

At the same Session of the General Assembly, House Resolution No. 101 charged the Joint State Government Commission with an investigation and study of Municipal Authorities and the law under which they are created to ascertain—

- a. Number created.
- b. Costs of acquisitions.
- c. Operation and maintenance.
- d. Rates paid by consumers.
- e. Benefits derived.
- f. Defects in the law.
- g. Amendments deemed necessary to improve the operation of the law.
- h. Any other pertinent facts considered as important to this investigation, and to report its findings to the General Assembly at the first Special or Regular Session thereafter.

The Joint State Government Commission, at its meeting on June 16, 1943, ordered that such a Committee be created, and the Chairman of the Commission, on July 2, 1943, appointed the following Committee:

Honorable Clarence D. Becker, Chairman
 Honorable John Fremont Cox
 Honorable Paul M. Crider
 Honorable John H. Dent
 Honorable John G. Snowden
 Honorable G. Harold Watkins
 Honorable W. Stuart Helm
 Honorable Benjamin F. James
 Honorable G. Edgard Kline
 Honorable Albert L. O'Connor
 Honorable David H. Weiss
 Honorable Lloyd H. Wood

The Committee met for organization on August 18, 1943. The Chairman appointed Honorable Benjamin F. James Vice-Chairman of the Committee.

This Committee directed the promulgation of a questionnaire to all incorporated Municipal Authorities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which questionnaire received uniform response, and proved to be a fruitful source of information from which the Committee was able to conduct its investigation and do its work. It appears that ninety-five (95) Municipal Authorities have been created under the Act of 1935, and its supplements, and that approximately sixty (60) are functioning at the present time.

At the conclusion of its fact-finding program, the Committee concluded to epitomize its Report in the form of a new enactment containing the gist and valuable part of the Act of 1935, and its supplements, and the introduction of a score or more proposals suggested by the Committee for refining the law and protecting the rate payer and general public in a manner not inconsistent with workable legislation for the formation of such Authorities and the acquisition and operation of projects. In this connection, the Committee had the close cooperation of the Governor of the Commonwealth; the scrutinizing assistance of the Attorney General and his Deputies; Caspar W. B. Townsend, Esquire, of the well-known investment counsel law firm of Townsend, Elliot and Munson, in Philadelphia; Honorable Ellwood J. Turner, representing the Pennsylvania Municipal Authorities Association; and representatives of diverse brokerage houses.

The new enactment has been prepared, and the introduction of a Bill concurrently with the presentation of this Report will constitute the final word of the Committee as to its findings.

It should be recalled at this point that the Governor has stated in his message to the General Assembly—

"Whatever additional legislation is necessary should be passed to insure such a program of conservation and the freeing of our streams from pollution, including enabling legislation whereby municipalities may create Special Sewage Disposal Authorities to finance sewage disposal plants and facilities on a commercial and self-sustaining basis."

These and other projects will become important adjuncts to the measures to be adopted in the post-war era. Municipal Authorities have undoubtedly come to stay. In order to avoid further patchwork of the existing Act and its three (3) supplements, this Bill is presented today and is not a new law, but a re-statement of existing law with certain changes, and there is presented with this Report and made available for the members of the General Assembly in the consideration of this Bill a brief summary of the changes made to the existing law.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EDMONDS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, in the 1943 Session we had quite a good deal of discussion concerning authorities and we endeavored to find out certain of the information concerning which the Senator from Lebanon has just advised. We found that the information was difficult to get and I doubt whether we had anything like as accurate a summary as the gentleman from Lebanon has just presented. I think it is one of the most useful works that the Senate could get and for my own part I express my thanks to the Senator from Lebanon, in that he has succeeded in finding out what we did not succeed in finding out two years ago. It is a fine work and a work that will be of great help to members of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, a few weeks ago I introduced a series of gambling bills designed to prevent gambling at athletic contests and sporting events, either professional or amateur. At that time I stated that the bills were directed at professional gambling, the present law being entirely too weak to prevent a repetition of the Brooklyn College basketball scandal.

At the request of Captain Craig Ellis, Chief of the Vice Squad in Philadelphia, I have here a bill that further supplements the bill I previously introduced. As it is today, pool-selling and book-making are only prohibited in the case of horse races, but this bill is intended to cover any sporting event or athletic contest.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 420, entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred seven of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by prohibiting pool-selling and book-making in connection with any sporting event or athletic contest and providing penalties.

retirement systems of the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth now has sufficient surplus funds over and above its ordinary expenses to pay off said bonds with interest thereon and such payment would result in vesting title to properties owned by the Authority in the Commonwealth and the saving of the moneys now paid as rentals by the Commonwealth to the Authority and of the expenses incurred by the Authority in connection with said bonds and properties and

L. 452) as amended nor shall this act be construed to repeal said General State Authority Act of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five or to terminate the existence of The General State Authority

Section 8 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having read at length the third time, And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I regret that I have not the gift of picturesque profanity possessed by my friend, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker. If so, I could probably express my opinion on how bad this bill is. Instead I shall have to be content with what I call a Swan Song to Democracy. I shall vote "no". I am of a minority group of one. In this bill we abdicate to the Executive our last shred of sovereignty, which is the power of the purse. We have the power to deny to the Executive the spending of $49,000,000 to get rid of a dead dog. The Republicans seem to highly approve of the policies of the Earle administration. In private any Republican damns Governor Earle and all his work: in public we continue the Earle emergency so-called taxes, and now, in this bill, we condone the spending of the Earle prodigal son, which is the General State Authority. We say to the State Authority, all is forgiven, go and sin no more but the bill does not prevent bigger and better state authorities.

If this disease of spending has spread its contagion to the Republican Party we might as well join the Democratic or Labor parties—and confirm Henry Wallace, cheer for Aubrey Williams and become New Dealers.

This is the age of the common man. Pennsylvania, once a rock ribbed Republican state, is going New Deal.

The Governor has a tax program—it was Governor Earle's or Harry Shapiro's but now it is our very own. A funny thing is that all kinds of experts—I believe a hundred in number—have met and reported on the taxes. Those reports are now gathering dust.

Dr. Loban and General Duff and Secretary Harris and the Governor must have thought the reports very hard reading, and so they decided it was more practical to flip a coin—it was heads, the experts; tails, the Earle taxes. The coin came down tails, so here we are boosting Democratic statesmanship.

The idea is that the taxpayers have learned to love the Earle taxes.

In Russia when a committee of experts reported unfavorably on the Soviet Five-Year Plan the Dictator had every member of the committee executed. In our democracy we are more humane—we only put the experts' reports in the scrap basket.

It is funny, again, that we have a Ways and Means Committee and also a Senate Finance Committee but they have nothing to do with the tax program.

I have not as much power, unfortunately, as the Governor. I can only vote no and sing this sad little song:

Stranger, pause and shed a tear;
The bones of Democracy lie buried here;
All mixed up, it's very tough;
With Logan and Harris and portions of Duff.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before I make a motion that I intend to make, I am pleased to read a small article I have here: "Senator George Woodward, native Wilkes-Barre and dean of the State Senate, who represents the blue-stocking district of Philadelphia, seems to have entirely forgotten his democratic heritage." We are very glad to find you have not quite forgotten and you now want to join the party of the common man. We are pleased to have you back, Dr. Woodward; only we might suggest some changes you will have to make if you want to vote with us.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Warren permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Was this bill ever considered by the Appropriations Committee of the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. It has not been.

Mr. DENT. Does the Appropriations Committee know it involves the spending of some $48,000,000?

Mr. CHAPMAN. $48,800,000. It has not been in the Committee on Appropriations. I do not know anything about the bill.

Mr. DENT. Does the gentleman from Warren believe it is proper procedure for the Senate, which has a Committee on Appropriations—which must deal with problems of appropriations and budgets—to pass a bill without that committee considering that legislation?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Some bills are passed without consideration by the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. DENT. We know that. Thank you. The gentleman said some bills are passed without consideration—we admit that.

Mr. CHAPMAN. I mean by the Senate Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the gentleman must be the strong silent man.

Mr. DENT. Would the gentleman from Warren be opposed to a motion to send this bill back to the Committee on Appropriations in order that we may study its effect upon the budget.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Yes, Mr. President, because the Republican Senate Caucus has directed the vote.

Mr. DENT. I hope the Senate heard that last reply. In case you did not I will repeat it. The gentleman from Warren said be objected to the proposed motion because the Republican Senate caucus has directed the vote. That, of course, may be a good reason, but to those of us who are charged with the responsibilities of the state that is not sufficient reason for the Appropriations Committee not taking its proper place in the Senate and performing the duties it is set up to perform.

Mr. President, I would like to now interrogate the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. EALY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Ealy I asked yesterday if you would tell the Senate how much money this bill actually saves the taxpayer of Pennsylvania.

Mr. EALY. May I say first, Mr. President, I have no opinion personally on this matter of having the Appropriations Committee consider this bill as such. However, I think all the members of this Senate have considered it since the Governor's budget message. There has been fault found in having the Appropriations Committee, being a small body of just a few members passing on these appropriations. If there should be any special reason for sending this back to the Appropriations Committee I can see no objection, but I think all the members of the Appropriations Committee and all the other members of the Senate are here and have considered the bill and are ready to vote on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, may I interrupt the gentleman from Somerset right there and say that I hope to show there is sufficient reason for this bill being considered by the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. EALY. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland repeat his question.

Mr. DENT. I ask the gentleman from Somerset to tell the Senate how much money this bill will actually save to the people of Pennsylvania. I ask that because, if you will allow me, I will quote from the Governor's message relative to the bill, in which he said:

"Accordingly I have recommended that a large share of the surplus be used to retire the General State Authority Bonds now outstanding. I have done this for several reasons. In the first place these bonds, not being full faith and credit bonds, bear four per cent interest. The state government, which leases the buildings, constructed with the proceeds of the bond issues, is obliged to pay rentals for the buildings amounting to about $8,000,000 in a biennium.

Is that true?

Mr. EALY. I do not get the question. Where does the Governor say it will save the state $2,000,000 a biennium? Will the gentleman from Westmoreland point that out?

Mr. DENT. The Governor's message said it would save the state $8,000,000 a biennium by the retirement of these bonds, in a statement to the public press.

Mr. EALY. I do not follow the Senator's reading. Where is that?

Mr. DENT. "The State Government, which leases the buildings, constructed with the proceeds of the bond issues, is obliged to pay rentals for the buildings amounting to about $8,000,000 in a biennium." If you buy the buildings I think you are certainly saving $8,000,000, according to the budget.

Further on in the budget he repeats it, on page 7.

Mr. EALY. Where does the Governor say it will save the state $8,000,000 in a biennium?

Mr. DENT. Certainly he must say so when he said General State Authority rentals have been established amounting to $8,000,000 in a biennium and he now proposes to buy the bonds.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, they are two statements and they do not mean the same thing. If the Senator wishes to know, I have the figures here.

Mr. DENT. I imagine the Governor intends to save that amount because he removed from his budget the $3,000,000 appropriation.

Mr. EALY. Eight million and some odd hundreds of thousands of dollars would be the rental for the biennium 1945-1947 if the Authority is not liquidated. The amount which is paid to the General State Authority covers not only interest but it covers the retirement of these bonds.

The interest figure for the next biennium, as I have the figures, would amount to $3,707,000. The rest would be appropriated toward the retirement of the bonds. Each year the interest would drop somewhat but the amount to be appropriated for the retirement, in addition to the interest, would be the same.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is any part of this $8,000,000 used for maintenance of hospitals, upkeep and maintenance?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the $8,000,000 is a round figure and the amount actually going to the authority might include some figures for maintaining the authority. We make an appropriation every year for maintaining the authority, in addition to rentals and the amount for retirements.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, how much will the state be called upon to appropriate to the retirement fund in lieu of the money they are now earning because of the holding of these bonds.

Mr. EALY. I have that in this way, that if the authority is liquidated the retirement fund would not receive the four per cent interest on authority bonds which they expect to receive in 1945 to 1947, amounting to $3,700,000, in round figures.

However, since the bonds would be redeemed on May 31, 1945, the fund would have the whole of that sum, or in round numbers $48,000,000—the figure given me was $47,912,000. The other part includes some insurance and fiscal fees and so on, but in round numbers this $48,000,000 would be available to the General State Authority on May 31, this year, coincident with the close of the next war loan, during which time it is expected that two and one half per cent federal bonds will be available at par.

If the $47,900,000 were invested in two and one half per cent federals the fund would earn in 1945 to 1947 interest of about $2,395,000. There would be a shortage to make up by payment to the retirement fund of $1,313,000.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is there any legal restriction upon the money being invested at less than four per cent on the part of the retirement fund.

Mr. EALY. There is no legal restriction in investing at less than four per cent; the provision in our law is that the teachers are to receive four per cent on their funds.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, who is to pay the difference?

Mr. EALY. We have to make it up in some way or other, yes. Now we are paying all of this in this way and we are getting no interest, which would be a saving if the $48,000,000 were invested in something else.

Mr. DENT. That will be satisfactory, Mr. President. There is no use in carrying on this conversation any further. You understand that we disagree entirely with the program of retiring the bonds, because we feel the General State Authority has additional work to do. We feel it should be kept as an active agency, able and ready at all times to step into the breach when we need buildings and sanatoria, and so forth. I say that at this time there is a crying need for institutions in Pennsylvania. When the war is over the need will become more acute.

I have here a letter from the Polk institution, from which I would like to read two lines for the information of the Senate. This is a quotation:

"As was previously stated application was filed in October 1944. We are unable to accept new patients except as vacancies occur and you can readily see, being fifty per cent overcrowded in the institution and 700 patients, awaiting admission, we are faced with quite a problem."

That is only one institution in the state of Pennsylvania.

A while ago you heard the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, say that the Governor proposes, as soon as materials were available, to build an institution at Bellefonte. How do you propose to build these institutions? With state funds direct out of the treasury? If you propose to build them, where is the appropriation to be made from? When is the appropriation to be made? Where is it set up in the appropriation bill? Would we not be better off to take the $47,000,000 or $48,000,000 out. You now propose to retire a debt that is not a direct debt of the state, but one that is set up on a sound business basis, and eliminate $48,000,000 or any part needed of it, to build institutions in districts where they are needed, and where they will be needed in the future, especially when we have the returning soldiers to take care of.

All of you know what is happening in this war. Men are fighting in climates they are not accustomed to, young boys are taken into battle who never have had any experience and are not grown to full maturity, and the shock is unbalancing the emotions of many of them; they find themselves in the position where they will need care, and that it is the duty of the state of Pennsylvania to take care of them, along with the federal government. We have no institutions available when they come home. We will have no room for them.

I say this is the wrong time to consider this on the basis of $3,500,000—approximately the figure given by the Senator from Somerset which will be saved—but you are not saving it because in the end you are going to pay the same amount of money. That money, if it was invested, would return the same to us as you are using to retire the retirement fund.

If you take the $48,000,000, on which you are paying four per cent, and invest it at two and a half per cent, then the entire program of keeping the State Authority alive and keeping it active would cost us a million and some hundreds of thousands of dollars, which you now propose we have to pay anyway—we have to spend that, pay it to the teachers' retirement fund—so that the same amount you pay into the teachers' retirement fund would keep these institutions under the General State Authority and a future program open for the building of more institutions.

I suggest that this bill has not been considered by the Senate Appropriations Committee and I suggest it ought to go to that committee in order that it may have further study.

How many members of the Senate know what the cost will be one way or the other? The figures are available. Take the entire amount, invest it at two and a half per cent, and take the difference you have to pay to the teachers' retirement fund—the cost will be identical to the state of Pennsylvania to keep the State Authority as it is today; there is no difference in cost whatsoever.

Mr. EALY. In the Governor's budget, which was presented at the beginning of the session, there is recommended an appropriation to the Department of Health for sanatoria, crippled children's hospitals and other items, in the amount of $12,325,000; there is recommended to the Department of Welfare $15,735,000, besides appropriations to the departments of Military Affairs, Forests and Waters, Public Instruction and other departments.

I think it is very apparent that whatever interest is obtained from government bonds would be a saving. This General Authority works in this way. For instance, they wanted to build a finance building here, so the state deeded over to the General State Authority a piece of rectangular ground out here belonging to the state, the General State Authority erected the Finance Building and then the state occupied it and pays for it under this thirty year plan. In one sense that is not too bad, but it is not a method that the constitution provides for increasing the debt of the Commonwealth.

The Finance Building is not so bad in itself, but every state teachers' college, every armory, every school in which the state has an interest, hastily got up a program of expansion, plans were drafted very hurriedly, the architects had a paradise, and altogether some approximately $80,000,000 was spent. This whole program was put through hastily, and not by the constituted authorities which should do this building. There was not the proper coordination between the General State Authority and the Department of Public Instruction and between the General State Authority and the Department of Welfare or the Department of Health or the Department of Military Affairs.

For instance, over there in the Finance Building the General State Authority had to spend I think $30,000 to repair the ventilating system and they had to spend about the same amount in order to keep the water from running down the building someone then decided later, because the original plan was hastily drawn, that we ought to have an underground passage from the Highway Building, and where it would have originally taken about $10,000 to put that in, I think it took about $30,000, and so it went through the whole project.

Up in Beaver county there is a place called Old Economy. It was at one time a communistic project, started by a man a good many years ago. It is interesting to the state to have that project restored, but I lose interest in it when I find there is a mortgage on it which will take thirty years of paying of taxes to provide for.

Down at Pennsbury the General State Authority erected a replica of the home of William Penn, with ale vats and everything else in it, but when you take your children or grandchildren there to look at it and tell them there is a mortgage on there which will take them thirty years to pay, I can see they will wish that William Penn had not lived there.

I am opposed to building monuments with mortgages.

The same condition applied to the Governor's mansion. Governor Pinchot in his first administration said that we should have a mansion. Governor Fisher said the same thing. Governor Pinchot again reiterated the same proposition, in his next term and also Governor Earle, but instead of those Governors putting some money aside for that project, it was planned under Governor James' administration for the state to give a mortgage to put up this house. That planning surely was not a good example for the people of this Commonwealth, to go in debt for the entire amount of that dwelling.

The General State Authority is composed of a group such as the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, the Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Secretary of Property and Supplies, the Speaker of the House, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and three members appointed by the Governor, the Speaker and the President Pro Tempore, respectively, and they have entire control over this proposition; all that the Legislature can do is to ratify and make appropriations for whatever buildings they put up, no matter how large they may be.

This bill does not wipe out the General State Authority. I think it should be wiped out. Some of those who are concerned in this matter do not seem to want to go that far but I think, first, we should pay our debts as we go so far as we are able, and then we should go into debt in a constitutional manner.

The Constitution is simply a piece of paper; if the people will not stand back of it, it will fail them when the crisis comes.

Mr. DENT. I do not intend, Mr. President, to get into a long debate on the qualifications of the General State Authority, the necessity for, nor lack of necessity for passing legislation because they made mistakes in some buildings, but I will say this—perhaps I am a little softer-hearted than some people are—but if some of you gentlemen would accompany me up to Butler and see the Deshong Hospital and see its operation during this war, you would never regret one cent of money that was ever spent on the entire program of the General State Authority. If I were to take you to many hospitals in Pennsylvania—Polk, Cresson, Torrance—and then, if you could go back to the days prior to the General State Authority and review conditions as they were then in the state institutions, and then go into them today and see the buildings that were constructed by the General State Authority—never constructed by any other Governor or any other administration—if you could go into them now perhaps you would have a different concept of what the General State Authority has done.

Perhaps it did put a faulty rain spout on the Finance Building—that has happened even in private construction it happens in the homes of many of us today; many of us pay good money to have a contractor build a home and oftentimes they get in difficulty and you get a faulty chimney or you get a faulty boiler, that is true, but in comparison, where you are spending $80,000,000, I would say $50,000,000 to repair some mistakes in the construction of the Finance Building is a very low ratio for mistakes.

That is no reason whatever for stating as an objection to this bill that the General State Authority has not served its purpose, because the General State Authority has served its purpose, it has given to the weak, those feeble mentally, deficient persons and tubercular persons in Pennsylvania, living conditions they never would have had without the Authority.

You are now taking money you say is a surplus in the Commonwealth, which is a miscalculation, because the surplus would never have been there, if you had listened to the program as outlined by the Democratic leaders in 1943 and 1941 and 1939, you would have been operating the state on the constitutional grounds and methods the Senator from Somerset says we ought to operate under—and yet I dare say he will vote for the tax bills and he will vote for the budget set up by the Governor—when he knows himself that lump appropriations as they are made in the Governors message are contrary to good government and are not in accord with what was intended by constitutional requirements.

We are deliberately passing legislation today—that is the intent I understand of the Majority—that will create another surplus over and above the surplus you are now spending. That is not necessary, not at all necessary—get surplus funds and then retire good sound business investments.

MOTION TO RECOMMEND SENATE BILL NO. 197

Mr. DENT. I move, Mr. President, that Senate Bill No. 197 be returned to the Committee on Appropriations for further study, in order that we may determine just what effect it will have upon the budget of the Governor.

Mr. COX. I second the motion, Mr. President.

And the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. COX. The remarks I have to make, Mr. President, refer not only to this proposed legislation but to the other three special tax measures which follow on the Calendar and I hope that the Chair will give me a little latitude in the remarks I wish to make because they are applicable to a general proposition of which this bill is one.

Our newspapers in Pittsburgh have used many times the expression "ox cart government." Ox cart government, of course, refers to legislation which has not any place in a modern mechanized era and would be applicable to the type of government and to the type of social programs which we had during the period featured by the ox cart as farm transportation.

The remarks I make I hope will not be construed as a political attack on a party, because I make them after careful consideration and because of my interest in the job as we Legislators have to do, in seeing that the people of this Commonwealth are properly cared for, within the bounds of our duty.

I think that we take this expression "ox cart government" and change it around and call it "cart ox government" because the cart represents legislation and the ox represents taxation.

I can not logically see how it is possible at this stage of our legislative consideration to determine how much money we are going to need, until we have determined what our legislative program is going to be.

Last week Miss O'Hara had delivered to the desk of every member of this Assembly several reports from her department. One dealt with the condition of the mental institutions of this state. The picture painted by that report is tragic. Pennsylvania is one of the most wealthy states in America, we have the facilities; the sick, the mentally ill and the indigent certainly should have the best of consideration in this state if money could provide the facilities, of any state in America.

On returning to Pittsburgh I immediately contacted the authorities at our local mental institution, Woodville, and found that the situation there is an impossible one. The institution is crowded to its doors—truthfully it is very crowded. It became so dangerous that last week the trustees of that institution were compelled to pass a resolution in which they refused admission of any more women patients to Woodville. The authorities have told me that the attic in one of the main buildings of that institution is being used at the present time as a dormitory. That condition is very dangerous and if a fire should sweep that institution there would be a tremendous mortality rate.

The proposition that we face as members of the Legislature is this: being confronted with the report of Miss O'Hara, of the Department of Welfare, we can not ignore it. It is true that she has indicated a long range program of building in the amount of $153,347,000, which will perhaps solve this problem in the future.

In the Governor's budget message he has indicated that he has set aside the sum of approximately $16,000,000 to be used for these institutions. When I read the recommendations of Miss O'Hara, it is impossible to fit them in with the recommendations of the Governor. In other words, the funds are woefully inadequate because we as Legislators say to the people of our Commonwealth who have the great misfortune of having people in their homes who are mentally ill, there is nothing we can do at the present time, it is your problem, you have to carry it; perhaps when this war is over ten years or so thereafter, we can get around to solving this problem of mental health.

In 1943 by act of Legislature an Education Commission was authorized. The first two reports of that commission have been presented to the members of the General Assembly. I want to say that in my experience in the Senate those two reports are the finest I have ever seen. With all respect to Senator Edmonds, I think he will agree with me that the Edmonds Act, which was named for him, long ago outlived its usefulness. Anyone conversant with the problems of education realizes that one of the things wrong in this Commonwealth is the fact that the teachers of this Commonwealth are paid too small a salary to permit them to stay in the profession, and we know that if we do not have satisfactory teachers, people who can live within their incomes, our school system is going to suffer.

We also know that the tax burden imposed on owners of real estate for school purposes has reached its maximum and if there is to be any increase in the compensation paid teachers in this Commonwealth it must come from the general funds of the state and not from the individual district.

In 1943, by resolution, this Legislature authorized the Joint State Government Commission to investigate the penal institutions of this state. As a member of a subcommittee to investigate penal institutions I traveled around this state from one end to the other and we found there were many things that must be done—not tomorrow; many of them only can be done tomorrow and years to come—but many things must be done today.

The subject of stream pollution is one which has caught the attention of the public and of course has been reflected in the Legislature.

I cite these four examples of obligations of this Legislature—and there are many more—and yet we are in a position today where, as far as I know, we have no positive legislative program to meet these problems and it is our duty as members of the legislature to solve these problems; they are not insolvable, it can be done.

I would like, if the gentleman from Dauphin Senator Taylor, is here, to interrogate him. Here he is now.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I will, Mr. President. I did not hear all the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. COX. I regret the Senator from Dauphin did not catch what I was trying to explain, but very briefly I can refresh him. I was talking about the problem of mental health in Pennsylvania, the problems which confront us relative to education in Pennsylvania, the problem of penal institutions in Pennsylvania, and the problem of stream pollution.

Senator Taylor you are State Chairman of the Republican Party; is that correct?

Mr. TAYLOR. You know it is. I think it is.

Mr. COX. Senator Taylor, you are President Pro Tempore of the Senate; is that correct?

Mr. TAYLOR. Now and then.

Mr. COX. Will you tell the members of the Senate whether the Governor has a legislative program which he has indicated he would like to have passed to solve the problems of these four particular things I have pointed out.

Mr. TAYLOR. He did in his message. You know as much about it as I do. I did not prepare it; the Governor prepared it.

Mr. COX. I am not the State Chairman of the Republican Party and have no knowledge of what the Governor's desires are in this matter and, incidentally, I am not trying to be facetious; I am trying to be of some assistance in solving these problems.

Will the gentleman from Dauphin answer my question, please?

Mr. TAYLOR. Will the gentleman from Allegheny state his question again? I did not know I had been asked a question.

Mr. COX. Does the Governor have a recommended legislative program to solve the problems of these four classifications which I have indicated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Does he have?

Mr. COX. Yes.

Mr. TAYLOR. He has recommendations, yes. He has no "must" legislation that I know of, or if he has, he never consulted me about it.

Mr. COX. I am very glad that the Governor is broad-minded and has no "must" legislation, but I am trying to find out if, specifically, there are certain acts to remedy these particular problems.

Mr. TAYLOR. I am not running the Governor's program.

Mr. COX. In other words the gentleman can not answer the question; is that correct?

Mr. TAYLOR. I think it is a silly question to ask.

Mr. COX. I am sorry I must disagree with the Senator on the seriousness of this matter as to me it is an extremely important matter for the people of Pennsylvania to have solved.

Mr. TAYLOR. The gentleman knows the answers before he asks the questions.

Mr. COX. I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Dauphin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. TAYLOR. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Does the Republican Party have a legislative program to correct these problems of which I am talking?

Mr. TAYLOR. Well, of course, we have a program. The gentleman knows we have a program.

Mr. COX. I did not know. That is why I am inquiring from you, because I did not know.

Mr. TAYLOR. The gentleman has read the Governor's message, has he not?

Mr. COX. The Governor's message as I construe it, is an indication as to how the Governor feels about specific problems, and a recommendation, in the form of appropriations, which should be made from the revenues received from taxation.

Mr. TAYLOR. The gentleman from Allegheny has the same privilege as I have, and I advise him to consult with the Governor. I think the Governor can answer best all these questions. There is not a Democratic Senator in this Senate who is not welcome in the Governor's office. Of course, the Republicans are too.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the gentleman obviously has missed the purpose of my interrogation. It is elementary, and to me would be ridiculous, to pass a tax program in which we say we need five or six hundred million dollars until we know what we need the money for. On the specific bill which we are talking about, we, the members of the minority party, which have had nothing to do with the shaping of the program of this state, can not intelligently vote on a bill which will take from the surplus $48,000,000 unless we know we can spare the $48,000,000.

Mr. TAYLOR. If I may interrupt the gentleman from Allegheny, I would suggest that we have a very competent Floor Leader who is in charge of our policies. I think Senator Heyburn will answer any questions the gentleman may ask, maybe more intelligently than I could.

Mr. COX. I am not satisfied, of course. I have not learned very much with regard to the program of your party relative to solving these problems, but I guess I will have to rest my interrogation with you.

Mr. TAYLOR. If the gentleman from Allegheny is asking for information I am telling him where he can obtain it.

Mr. COX. Yes, I am, and have received very little.

Mr. TAYLOR. If the gentleman is interested in information, that is one thing, but if he is interested in politics, maybe we can talk politics together.

Mr. COX. I am afraid I could not talk politics with the gentleman, because he is a professional.

Mr. TAYLOR. Thank you.

Mr. COX. Again we return to the fundamental proposition involved, that we can not intelligently vote on these four pieces of legislation until we know what the program is going to be.

To cite some examples, there are bills on education which have been introduced in the House. One of them, particularly, would cost $70,000,000 more than the $27,000,000 set up in the Governor's budget. That bill would take, as I see it, half of our revenue. I do not know who sponsored that legislation; all I know is that it was introduced and the bill is in committee. The same thing is true with many other bills.

Until we, as members of the Legislature, get back of a legislative program and say, "This is how we are going to solve this problem of the present emergency which has arisen in our mental institutions, this is what we are going to do in the educational system of Pennsylvania, this is what we are going to do with the penal institutions, and this is how much money we are going to need to clean the streams of pollution," we are not in any position to talk about taxes.

My reason for seconding the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, is because I do not like cart ox government.

Mr. HEYBURN. There is only one thing I would like to say, Mr. President, I am not going to discuss the tax program because it is not in order now.

The money for the retirement of these authority bonds is not in the State Treasury. Mr. President, the discussion has gone far afield. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, talked about the need of keeping the General State Authority. This bill does not abolish the General State Authority; whether you like it or not, it does not abolish it. It simply, Mr. President, is just good common sense business.

We are getting out of debt to the tune of $48,000,000. The matter is completely covered in the Governor's budget, and we know its effect from the Governor's budget. There is no need of returning this bill to the Appropriations Committee to determine the effect. It is going to cost $48,870,000, as shown on page 2 of the Governor's budget. Mr. President, I contend it is good business, when any state or individual is prosperous, to get out of debt.

Another thing referred to by the minority leader, Mr. President, he talked about ex-minority leader Senator Shapiro being an estimator par excellence. I would like to tell him that in 1937 Senator Shapiro estimated there would be a return from the personal property tax an income of $34,400,000. Actually, Mr. President, there was only $24,000,000. Senator Shapiro undershot his estimate by $10,000,000. Mr. President, I do not contend that is any outstanding estimating; I could do that myself, and I am nothing but a farmer.

Mr. DENT. I will take up that matter of estimates when the time comes. I just wanted to suggest maybe you are not wiping out the General State Authority but you do not make any appropriations to continue it.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARR and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—19

Barr.	Gourley.	Leader.	Ruth.
Heaman.	Haluska.	Margie.	Stiefel.
Cox.	Holland.	McCreesh.	Woodring.
Dent.	Jasnan.	McGinnis.	Woodward.
DiSilvestro.	Klein.	Rosenfeld.

NAYS—30

Becker.	Ealy.	Letzler.	Thomas.
Berger.	Edmonds.	Mallery.	Troutman.

Carr.	Heyburn.	Stevenson.	Wagner.
Chapman.	Homsher.	Tallman.	Walker.
Crider.	Jones.	Taylor.	Wilson.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I ask a question of the Senator from Somerset, who is the sponsor of this bill?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset consent to be interrogated.

Mr. EALY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. As I understand it this bill means, first, that the state pay off the authority bonds; it means, second, that the Authority property is taken away under the custody of the state; does that mean the Authority is then to be abolished?

Mr. EALY. No, Mr. President, the Authority is not abolished. There is to be a very mere skeleton Authority, until some time when it may be decided to expand it. The force of the personnel of the Authority is cut down to the very minimum. Perhaps there is no necessity for having any personnel during this period.

Mr. EDMONDS. I want to say, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Somerset and myself have usually seen eye to eye on this question of the Authority. The Authority was a bad thing in the beginning; it is an illogical thing now. If we are in position today to pay our debts we ought to do so; if the debt is $48,000,000 the obligation to pay it is just as strong as if the debt were only 48 cents. That is my own point of view. The way it looks to me, the Authority will be left without any function of acquisitions, and under those circumstances it ought to be abolished, and abolished at once.

Mr. EALY. I agree with the Senator from Montgomery exactly.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Session of 1936—P. L. 13), entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor, as herein defined, sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; providing for the collection and payment of such tax; and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board," as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions thereof for a further limited period of time.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, before offering an amendment to this bill I should like to supplement the remarks of our colleague from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, without benefit of poetry.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, this is the first of the series of emergency taxes which we are now asked to vote for, for another two year period. The question arises on this side of the Senate, why—in view of the fact that the emergency no longer exists to its major extent.

When these taxes were originally recommended to feed and clothe the more unfortunate citizens of this Commonwealth, the Republican party on the floor of this Senate argued that they would drive business to ruin or from the borders of this state. As we all know, the taxes were enacted and business continued to prosper.

In the 1938 Gubernatorial campaign the people of this Commonwealth were promised a bonfire after election by the Republican candidate for Governor, the basic fuel for which would be the "iniquitous Earle taxes." There was a bonfire but the fuel was a good deal of the social legislation of the Earle Administration. The "iniquitous" Earle taxes remained but lost their iniquity when proposed and passed by the James Administration. They were simply referred to as "Earle Emergency Taxes." That was the beginning of the "Me Too" Republican Party in Pennsylvania.

This administration has continued the major part of those taxes and intends to continue them for two more years. Now they are just called "emergency taxes."

Mr. President, we are not opposed to the passage of these tax bills as such—if we once again begin to make use of them for emergency purposes. This administration no longer considers them to be emergency taxes, even though they refer to them as such.

No matter how polite we may try to be, it is impossible to state it any other way. It is only by fake budget estimating that this and the last Republican administration are and were able to maintain the need for these taxes for emergency purposes. Let us suppose that we are starting from scratch on June 1, 1945. The Governor has estimated normal expenses for the biennium of 366 million dollars. He has estimated that receipts for this period will be 369 million dollars. This includes an estimated return of 151 millions from emergency taxes. It is self-evident from the Governor's own estimates that these emergency taxes are needed to meet the normal expenditures of this Commonwealth, for without them we would be 148 million dollars short to meet our normal obligations.

It must be borne in mind that expenditures for the next biennium are shorn of all construction items which are transferred to Post-War Projects. An item of 12½ millions for construction in this biennium does not appear in the 1945-47 budget. Likewise 8 millions for General State Authority Rentals have also been eliminated and yet we are told there is still an emergency and the emergency taxes are needed.

Are these estimates correct, however? The James and Martin administrations have boasted to the citizens of this Commonwealth that they have created huge surpluses by their economical operation of the Government's business. The Governor in his budget message had the effrontery to state in print: "The surplus which we find on hand is due in some measure to inflation of receipts from war production, but largely from economical operation of the State Government." Whom does the Governor think he is kidding; or who is it that is kidding him? We challenge anyone on the other side of this House, or anywhere, to point out to us what economical operation has contributed largely to the creation of a surplus of $107,500,000.

His own budget figures are conclusive proof that these surpluses were created purely and simply by the continuance of the emergency taxes when the need for most of them no longer existed. The need for them was accomplished by false estimation of receipts.

In the 1939 biennium relief costs totalled 215 millions and emergency tax receipts were 168 millions. In the 1941 biennium relief costs dropped 94 millions to a total of 121 millions, and emergency tax receipts jumped to 213 millions. In the present biennium relief costs dropped to 89 millions and emergency tax receipts sky-rocketed to 224 millions. This makes a net advantage difference to the Commonwealth of 182 million dollars in the six year period. Increased subsidies and other expenditures leave us a net balance now of at least 107 million dollars. Let us get that fact straight now and for the future. Taxes and underestimated receipts—and nothing else—have produced this surplus.

So that there may be no question about these underestimates, let me point to one glaring example. In 1943 Governor Martin estimated corporate net income tax receipts for the biennium would be 63 millions. Notwithstanding early federal tax returns which indicated tremendous increases, the Governor stretched a point and increased his estimates to 68 millions. We told him then he was wrong but he would not listen. Now—two years later—he changes this estimate to 128 million. He admits an error of 100 per cent. This is true of many of his estimates.

In 1943 his total estimates indicated receipts of 380 million dollars. These included 30 millions in personal property and mercantile taxes which were subsequently repealed. He now estimates these same taxes will produce 450 million—a slight difference of 100 million dollars, or a total miscalculation of almost 30 per cent. Can we, under these circumstances, call this a businesslike administration?

Mr. President, it is our contention that even at this late date, this administration is playing fast and loose with the receipt estimates and with but three months to complete the biennium, the revised estimates are still not adequate. His estimate of 128 millions for corporate net income taxes is based on returns which show that on November 1, 1944, we had already collected $75,500,000, with the major portion of these taxes payable in March, April and May of this year. A fair estimate would be at least $140,000,000. This is true of most of the items set forth in the budget message and the final surplus figures for the biennium will be closer to 130 millions than 107 millions.

One would think that we have now had sufficient background to begin to estimate our returns for the next biennium with a bit more business-like efficiency—but despite this the Governor starts all over again and estimates that corporate net income taxes will produce only 95 millions or a decrease of 33 millions from his own last estimate and 45 millions from our estimate. This, despite the fact that 1945 will probably be the heaviest profit year for corporations in the entire history of this Commonwealth. For the biennium 1941-1943, 91 million in corporate net income taxes was collected. This covered business for 1941 and 1942. In 1941 there were little or no government contracts. In 1942 only 32 billion was spent for war production. In 1943, 57 billion was spent and in 1944 64 billion was spent. It is estimated that 65 billion will be spent this year which would indicate for this year alone a corporate net income return of 75 million. Similar underestimates are made in other tax items and a business-like estimate of all taxes would be well over 400 millions instead of the 369 millions as stated by the Governor. This is exclusive of the 22 millions which will be available from the 1 cent emergency liquid fuel tax. The total surplus for both bienniums will be above 200 millions and not 110 millions, as estimated.

Mr. President, it is our contention that we will have enough money to pay the basic salaries of the school teachers of this Commonwealth and thus stabilize the most important function of this government. By doing this we can, for the first time in years, relieve the local taxpayers—by reducing these school taxes proportionately and at the same time set aside specifically $65,000,000 for postwar projects.

This, of course, means that we can not and should not retire the General State Authority bonds totalling 49 millions, as recommended. It is our contention that the state can not legally retire these bonds, since they are not a state debt, and can not be paid off by the state under our constitutional provisions. There is a more practical argument, however. The bonds are held in their entirety by the state employes and teachers' retirement funds. These funds guarantee their members four per cent and these bonds pay four per cent.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. EDMONDS. These remarks by the gentleman from Philadelphia are out of order, as they do not apply to the bill under consideration.

Mr. ROSENFELD. It is our position, sir, that this is a part of the entire budget of the Governor, and we are entitled to make remarks on the Governor's budget, of which this is a part.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, the gentleman has a right to make remarks concerning the Governor's budget but he has no right to discuss that bill; this Senate has voted in favor of that bill, which has now gone over to the House for its action.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair rules the gentleman from Philadelphia will confine his remarks to the bill under discussion.

Mr. ROSENFELD. If these bonds, are repaid the funds will not be able to reinvest at more than 1½ per cent to two per cent and this will cost the Commonwealth 2 million dollars every biennium. There is no provision for this in the present budget. It will also still be necessary to maintain the buildings returned to the state by the Authority. In other words, there will not be a saving to the state of 8 million dollars as stated by the Governor.

If the Governor is so anxious to reduce the state debt, even illegally and contrary to our constitutional prohibition, why not retire the Turnpike bonds totalling 43 millions. These bonds are callable in 1947, pay 3¼ per cent and are held in the main by insurance companies and bankers. Is this perhaps the reason for by-passing the payment of these bonds? It appears to us on this side of the House as though the administration is not being at all fair in its obligations to all the citizens of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, there is an emergency in this Commonwealth. It exists in every municipality and in every school district in this state. Each of us in this state are one of the same people who make up the citizenry of our respective municipalities and school districts. We are in the anomalous position of being rich in Harrisburg and poor at home. Relief can only come from Harrisburg and we propose to help the school districts and the local real estate tax payers by having the state, of which we are all a part, assume the payment of the basic salaries of all school teachers in each school district—of which we are also all a part.

We cannot otherwise agree to support this tax program as there is no longer a financial emergency in the operation of the state government.

I do not know how many of you have taken the trouble or the opportunity to look at the last four or five budgets, but I can not believe that you would be willing—even under a Republican administration—to continue to take in these enormous sums of money for general fund purposes—when they are not needed for such purposes.

I can not imagine a businesslike administration lumping post war projects in the various departments without any specific plan and without earmarking funds for each specific project, so that each one of us will know how many hospitals will be built, how much will be spent for stream pollution, and so on. My colleagues on the right surprise me when they are willing to accept this obviously faked hit or miss budget by voting for tax bills considered in committee for ten minutes. Are they the gentlemen who are so interested in businesslike Government?

You have obviously put the cart before the ox—as my friend Senator Cox has stated—but under any circumstances there is a financial emergency back in each of our home cities, towns and boroughs. It is for this reason that this amendment is offered.

Messrs. ROSENFELD and COX offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 3, line 18, by inserting lightface brackets before and after the words "General Fund"; Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 3, line 18, by inserting after the word "Fund" the following: "Department of Public Instruction for the payment by the Commonwealth of the whole of the minimum salaries of all members of the teaching and supervisory staffs in all school districts subject to the reduction of taxes on real property by school districts.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HEYBURN. The gentleman from Philadelphia just talked about the Governor's tax program and the budget. If I may take a few minutes of the Senate's time I would like to make a few statements.

The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, raised the issue of what the Republican Party is doing about education and welfare in the state. Mr. President, I think the best evidence of what the Republican Party is doing, and their position in these all-important matters, is their record—the record speaks louder than words.

I would like to quote a few figures in connection with the budget of the present Governor, Edward Martin, for the present biennium, as compared with the figures of the last Democratic administration under his Excellency George Earle.

Mr. President, in this present budget of General Martin's, for the biennium now expiring, there is an item of $54,000,000 more for education than that which was in the last budget of Governor Earle—$54,000,000 more—exclusive of an appropriation of $24,000,000 for school teachers' salaries by the last session of the Legislature.

Mr. President, the gentleman also raised a question on welfare. The last Legislature appropriated $24,000,000 more for welfare than the last Legislature under Governor Earle. For Public Health $2,250,000 more was appropriated, $1,000,000 for Agriculture, Mr. President, more than $2,000,000 for Labor and Industry, in excess, Mr. President. I contend that is the Republican's position and it speaks for itself as to the sympathies of the Republican Party for the poor and distressed and mentally ill of the Commonwealth.

The gentleman also referred, Mr. President, to the fact that nothing had been done by Governor Martin to cause any great saving in the expenses of the Commonwealth, as compared with that of the last administration of Governor George H. Earle. Mr. President, there are a lot of things I could talk about but I think that the figures that speak loudest are these:

Under the last Democratic administration the high of state employes was 97,312. Under Governor Edward Martin on June 30, 1944, checks were mailed to 40,361, a decline of 56,951 from the high of the last opposition administration. Mr. President, I contend that is good housekeeping and has resulted in a great saving to the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, the gentleman also stated that Governor Martin has played fast with estimations, and I am not too sure, Mr. President, that the gentleman has given that very careful consideration. Take one item—the cigarette tax—from which Governor Martin estimated an income in the next biennium of $27,000,000. In January 1944, Mr. President, as compared with January of this year, there was a decline of $400,000 in one month; $400,000 less return from the cigarette tax in January 1945, than in January, 1944.

If the same average continues, Mr. President, and it may—we have no reason to believe it may not, certainly—the revenue from that tax would only be $20,000,000 instead of $27,000,000 as estimated by Governor Martin.

It could very well be in this particular case, Mr. President, that Governor Martin has overestimated the revenue from the cigarette tax.

Mr. President, the gentleman also talked about the paying off of the General State Authority bonds and said it would be better to pay off the turnpike bonds. Mr. President, the gentleman well knows that the turnpike is an entirely different operation than the General State Authority. The turnpike runs its own business, makes its own profits, pays its own expenses, and will pay off its own indebtedness. Mr. President, it would be very poor business for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to try to pay off turnpike bonds rather than the General State Authority bonds.

Mr. President, there are a lot of answers I could give to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, but I think it is pretty clear—and the time of the Senate is growing late—that this estimate of Governor Martin's is not calculated to deceive anyone. It is done, certainly, to figure out an income adequate to maintain the expenses of the government for the next two years, and I was never trained to believe it was a crime to wind up a year's business with some money in the bank. I am glad there is money in the treasury with which to pay off the General State Authority bonds. I am glad there is money in the treasury to earmark for post-war construction to relieve this very condition that the Senator talks about in the mental hospitals of the state and also, Mr. President, to construct many worthy and needed buildings in different parts of the state in connection with the departments of Health and Military Affairs and Welfare.

Mr. President, I do not suppose there is any use talking any longer because probably on this side they will vote "aye" and on the other side they will vote "no."

I maintain, Mr. President, this is a proper budget; the estimates are as proper as can be expected under the conditions, and as I contended awhile ago, concerning the cigarette tax, using that as an example, it may be high.

Mr. DENT. I am not too disturbed about the time of the Senate. The timing of the selection of this particular hour for the passage of these bills was no doing of the Democratic Party; the majority picked the time, and we only have to follow along and take advantage as the opportunities present themselves. These bills have been on the Calendar quite a while and they could have been taken up at some other time if they had been willing to work during daylight hours. However, that will not change the picture.

Mr. President, we take the position that there is a miscalculation on the part of the Governor's budget in the amount of moneys that will be earned by the tax program. We feel, too, not knowing exactly what the expenditures will be, that we are on sound ground in opposing this legislation at this particular time.

I might answer the gentleman, when he talks about the economies of this administration as compared to the Earle administration, and he speaks about the difference in appropriations for education, the Department of Welfare, and so on, under the Earle administration and under the Martin administration I wonder if he realizes that at the time the Earle administration made its appropriations we were in the midst of this nation's worst depression, we were struggling at that time to keep the bodies of Pennsylvania citizens together. Now we are trying to elevate their minds, and, if you are making greater appropriations, you are doing so because a few courageous men over the opposition of your party fought for and passed the emergency tax program that is now to be adopted as a permanent tax program by the now majority party.

I would like to read into the record a resume of comparative budget figures. I am going to ask that they be printed, in order that two years from now, if the Lord allows me to live, I will be able to call upon the leaders of the Republic Party to compare then, as I compare the figures for 1943-1945, I then hope to be able to compare the 1945-1947 figures for them.

It was estimated by Governor Martin in his budget of 1943-1945 that the receipts for that biennium would amount to $382,156,000.

Our estimates, based on actual receipts up to November 1, indicates that the total receipts for the same period will be $462,173,000.

The excess, therefore, is $80,000,000.

The Governor estimates that the actual receipts for the years 1943-1945, as put forth in his twelfth biennium budget, will be $449,518,000, or an excess of $67,362,900.

It should be noted, however, that the total increase of revenues over estimated revenues for the 1943-1945 biennium would have been $106,510,000.

But there was a loss or deduction of $25,896,000 brought about by elimination of the personal property tax, as well as the elimination of the mercantile license taxes during the 1941-43 biennium, the former amounting to $21,640,000, and the latter, $4,207,000; with $49,000 additional deductions arising out of the decrease in anticipated revenues.

Some of the high lights in the increases should also be noted in order to correctly project the possibilities of the 1945-47 revenues. One of these is the net corporate income taxes enacted as an emergency tax, which in the 1943-45 biennium, was estimated to bring in $68,000,000 but which actually brought in, up to November 1, $75,500,000, and will, according to the Governor's estimate, bring in $129,000,000 in the 1945-47 biennium; and, according to our estimates should bring in $135,000,000.

To ascertain the surplus available at the end of the 1945-47 biennium, the following figures should be considered:

There was an available cash surplus on June 1, 1943, of $37,861,000.

There will be, according to our estimates, an available surplus on June 1, 1945, of $80,604,000.

Total, $118,465,000.

Assuming that the same taxes will be levied during the 1945-47 biennium, including the liquid fuel tax, in round figures there should be collected in that biennium $460,000,000.

Assuming that the Governor's requested appropriations will be enacted into law, there will be $366,000,000 expended in 1945-1947. There should therefore be added to the surplus available at the end of the 1945-1947 biennium, an additional $100,000,000. The total surplus available May 31, 1947, should be $218,465,000.

To this should be added the motor fund surplus, which the Governor admits is now $55,800,000, which would make a total surplus of $274,265,000.

Even this does not reflect the true surplus, for a reference to the special funds account, particularly, the motor license fund, indicates that there will be an additional surplus in that fund because of the inability of the Commonwealth to spend moneys for road building during the war. According to the 1945-47 budget, the revenue in this fund for 1945-47 is estimated at $164,000,000.

It should also be borne in mind that our estimate of anticipated revenues for 1945-47 included the emergency liquid fuel tax. The Governor's estimate of $369,000,000 eliminates that tax as an income and proposes to turn it over directly to the counties. I have included it in this estimated income because I feel that the better way of determining the probable income is by including all the taxes that will be imposed irrespective of the disposition.

If the Democratic Party proposes to accept the Governor's method of disposing of this tax, then the estimated surplus as of June 1, 1947, should be reduced by $20,000,000, and would therefore be $254,265,000.

To support my estimate of the income for the 1943-45 biennium, the following should be noted:

The Governor himself admits an estimated and additional income for 1943-45 of $449,518,000, a difference of approximately $15,000,000 between that and our estimate.

That is due in the main to a reduction in the estimate of receipts from the corporate net income tax by $6,000,000, and to underestimates of receipts in other important taxes.

As an instance of the fallacy of the Governor's estimates, I call attention to the fact that in several instances the Governor's estimates for 1943-45 are in excess of the amounts already collected on these taxes up to November, 1945; and further, that in many of the taxes which are only collected once a year the amount collected for the first year is more than half of the total amount which the governor estimates will be received at the end of this biennium.

For instance, the tax on trust company shares has already produced for the first year $2,429,000. The Governor estimates that for this biennium it will yield only $3,100,000.

The same thing is true with the tax on national bank shares, which already has yielded $2,951,000, and the Governor estimates that for the whole of the two years it will only yield $3,757,000.

Gross receipts taxes, which have already, for the first year, produced $6,600,000, the Governor estimates will only produce, for the entire biennium of two years $8,357,000.

With respect to the Governor's estimate of $369,000,000 receipts for the biennium 1945-47, it should be noted that the Commonwealth has already collected, up to November 1, $277,000,000; and that this includes only the first year's payment on the corporate net income tax, with the tax due and payable in April and May yet to be received.

In the first year the Commonwealth collected $75,500,00 on this tax. Assuming that we only collected $60,000,000 in the last year, the Governor's estimate of $129,000,000 for the next two years is totally inadequate.

On the emergency taxes, as an instance, the following is to be noted:

Up to November 1 there has already been collected $20,000,000, with still seven months to go, and with the admission by the Governor that the total anticipated collections up to May 31, 1945 would be $29,600,000, the Governor estimates receipts from this tax for the next two years at $27,000,000, with an admitted collection of $9,335,000 by the Governor for 1943-45 for the gross receipts tax, and an actual collection up to November 1, 1944, of $8,335,000, the Governor estimates that only $6,000,000 will be received from this tax in the next biennium.

All of these discrepancies can be ascertained by a careful examination of the attached, comparative statement of the budget estimated for the years 1943-45 and present receipts, as well as the Governor's estimate of 1945-47 receipts. It seems to me to establish conclusively that the income for 1945-47, even eliminating the emergency liquid fuel tax of approximately $22,000,000, the income for 1945-47 will be at least $445,000,000, which will be approximately $80,000,000—$79,000,000 to be exact—over and above appropriation recommended for 1945-47 by the Governor.

I have here a complete chart as they are to date on each one of the taxes proposed to be enacted, and the taxes as they were in 1943-1945. I will not take the time of the Senate to read each figure but I do ask—and unless permission is granted that they be included in the record I will be forced to read each and every figure—of course I have the stamina to do so—there is no use reading the figures at this time, but I do believe that the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to a more careful scrutiny of the entire budget proposals and the entire tax proposals.

We do not believe, in the face of the past record of the person who prepared the Governor's estimates for the budget, that we should accept these figures without the appropriations committee giving a thorough hearing to these bills and allowing experts to go over the figures.

The gentleman from Delaware said this administration had saved by economies in this administration. I noticed in the budget message that in every instance salaries and expenses of every department of government, from the Department of Agriculture and Forest and Waters to the Executive Department of the Governor, each and every one of them have increases over and above any amount ever appropriated before. I can not break the appropriations down, in the Department of Forests and Waters and in the Department of Agriculture, because the Governor has lumped all the expenditures; we do not know where the money is going because he has bracketed it all under one lump sum without due regard to where it may go.

You say this surplus is to be spent for post-war programs, and yet you do not set up any agency of state government that will take these appropriations and spend them for post-war projects; you put them into the various departments with the definite understanding that if the money is not spent it will lapse and become part of the general fund two years from now.

I ask you who is being fooled by that. Are the people getting a post-war program or just a post-war surplus? There is no specific appropriation for any particular item or any particular project. If the Post-War Planning Commission has done its duty each and every one of the projects proposed by the Governor should at least be in the blueprint stage and at least appropriations should be made for the various projects the Governor recommends and the Legislature feels ought to be put through, make appropriations to those particular projects, and any and all amounts spent will not lapse, the remainder will not lapse and become part of the General Fund at the end of 1947, or we will come back here in 1947 and find ourselves with a surplus greater than today because funds that are supposed to be spent for post-war projects can not be spent unless the war ends over-night and we return to normalcy over-night.

The period we are to provide for, in the judgment of the best minds I have talked to, will not be a period of construction because we will not be back to normal times, we will not have the facilities to go into construction work, and so I say to you that you are not creating any post-war projects, but you are creating a post-war surplus; you are creating post-war political talk but you are not creating any specific projects for the people of Pennsylvania.

I ask that the Chair have printed in the Journal the returns as we estimate them to be on the Governor's tax program.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. Permission is granted.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it is a little bit difficult for me to follow the position that is being taken by the minority. I can not quite get what they are driving at.

As they started out on this discussion of the bill which was passed, they were objecting, as I understood, to the paying off of some $46,000,000 or $47,000,000 because they claimed that at this time it was difficult for us to tell how much money we are going to need and that $46,000,000 or $47,000,000 therefore should be kept for a surplus.

Now as I understand the latter part of their argument, the thing they are objecting to is that we are going to have too big a surplus. I can not quite put two and two together.

The Minority Floor Leader, as I recall, evidenced grave alarm because of what was going to be necessary in the way of new and modern penal institutions, welfare, tuberculosis hospitals, and what not, and was concerned, apparently, from his statement, as to where we were to get the money.

Now it looks as the Governor has his budget so set up and his tax program so set up if the minority side is nearly correct, we ought to have a good fund of money with which to do these things when the war period is over.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that if he insists on misquoting what I just said, I will have to have the speech I just made reread to the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, when it comes to a question of misquoting it seems to me some of the members on the other side have been indulging because, if anyone was misquoted, they certainly misquoted that $8,000,000 figure and the statement of the Governor in his budget and tried to put words in the Governor's mouth which were neither in his mouth nor in his statement.

It is difficult, of course, to determine just what the future is going to be in the way of revenue. It is difficult because we are in a very unusual period, Mr. President, and many experts think that the period following the close of the war will be even more unusual if possible, than the one which we are presently in. If the war ends and business drops, or if there is even a temporary depression, there is going to be a reflection, in so far as revenue to the Commonwealth is concerned. So that the estimates then will be materially affected.

In so far as the estimates made by the administration and the question of them being much too low, I do not know how anybody can take that position or how anybody can say whether they are too conservative or too extravagant. As we analyze some of the figures and think of the possibilities, I am wondering if whoever made up the administration figures was conservative enough in so far as some revenues are concerned.

For instance, in connection with the corporate net income tax, it may be that my colleague, the Minority Floor Leader, does not know that there is a carry-over and a carry-back provision which will again materially influence and affect the revenue from the corporate income tax in the post-war period, because by that carry-over and carry-forward provision it will allow the corporations to carry over their losses into years when they make a profit and offset those losses against profits, so that there will be no corporate income tax paid on the profits in that particular year, and there is not any way to determine at this time how greatly that will affect revenues.

So I say Mr. President, that the budget as it is set up, and the tax program as it is set up, is one that is set up as conservatively as it can be for the benefit of the citizens of the Commonwealth. Certainly, as my colleague from Delaware said here earlier today, it is far better to finish with a little left in the bank than it is to finish as the last Democratic administration did, with a great big figure in the red.

In so far as the Minority Leader's statement is concerned about during the depression their having been more interested in the bodies or taking care of the physical side of people than the mental, did he suggest, when he made that statement, that at that time, which he said was the depth or top of the depression—I have forgotten which words he used—they had fifty thousand and some thousand more state payrollees than we have now? Is that what he meant by taking care of physical needs?

Mr. President, the gentleman on the other side, in the last session and this session, apparently have endeavored to have the public think they are so deeply interested in education and the school teachers. In the session of 1937 they appropriated $86,000,000, plus, for public education. In the first biennium, of Martin administration, 1943-45, the budget has set up $114,000,000, plus, on top of which we passed an increase-in-cost-of-living for school teachers of $24,000,000, plus, or a total of $138,000,000 plus, against $86,000,000 during the last biennium of the Earle administration.

That is rather a rapid kind of increase, Mr. President, we think it is an increase that is consistent, however, with sound business, but anything at a much greater rate than that might not be sound business.

Mr. ROSENFELD. I have listened with a great deal of interest to the deduction of forty or fifty thousand from the payroll between the Earle administration and the present Martin administration. Of course it sounds like a lot if you do not consider the reduction in the Highway payrolls and the Department of Public Assistance payrolls and the Liquor Board payrolls. I do say that you can not determine that from the basis of the number of employees, because you have got to look where the money was spent and where it was saved, in order to determine whether there has been any economy in government, so notwithstanding the fact that our subsidies to education have increased by $50,000,000 or $52,000,000, we have during that period reduced our relief costs and increased our emergency tax receipts so that we have now an advantage of $182,000,000, and that, as simply as I can state, is the reason for the present budget.

I am a bit confused about the expression emergency taxes. It appears to me that these taxes are no longer emergency taxes, because, as I look through the budget, I can see no unusual expenditures for the next biennium which we can hope at some future time to cut down.

Our normal expenditures for the next biennium are $366,000,000, and as hopeful as I dare be, I can not see where we can cut down on any of those expenditures in the future.

Our estimated receipts are $369,000,000. That includes $151,000,000 estimated from corporate net income taxes, and if that is so I say, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, those taxes are no longer emergency taxes, they are here to stay; we need them now and we will need them in the future.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HEYBURN and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 59, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," by providing rest periods, sick leave, hospital and medical expenses, and extra compensation in certain cases for police in counties of the second class.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 330.25), page 4, lines 25, 26, 27 and 28, by striking out all the words in said lines; Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 330.25), page 5, lines 1 to 17, by striking out all the words in said lines, both inclusive.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 64, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420), entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine," by increasing for a further limited period of time the rate of tax imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies, limited partnerships, associations, joint-stock associations, copartnerships and persons.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 27 by striking out with dark faced brackets after the word "forty-four" the following "[June thirtieth and]" and inserting in lieu thereof the following and for the twelve months periods ending; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 28 by striking out with dark faced brackets after the word "forty-five" the following "[and June thirtieth]"; Amend Section 1, page 4, lines 8 and 9 by striking out with light faced brackets after the word "from" the following "[electric light and power water power and hydro electric business]" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "the sales of electric energy"; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 22 by striking out the light faced brackets after the word "first" the word "[day]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "day"; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 22 by striking out with light faced brackets after the word "February" the following "[and August]"; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 28 by striking out with light faced brackets after the word "of" the word "[six]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "twelve"; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 29 by striking out with light faced brackets at the beginning of said line the word "[days]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "day"; Amend Section 1, page 4, line 29 by striking out with light faced brackets after the word "January" the following "[and July]".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HOLLAND. I desire to offer amendments.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, we are now considering amendments which I submitted. The Clerk has more amendments, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Yes, that is correct; the Clerk will again read the amendments.

(The amendments were again read by the Clerk.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BARR. Before a vote is taken on the amendment, Mr. President, I would like my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, to explain the meaning of the brackets in connection with "electric light and power, water power and hydro electric business"?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, that amendment puts the power companies in the same position as other public utilities. Railroads, for instance, pay on the transportation of passengers, freight, and so forth, and that is what was intended by this bill, in so far as electric and power companies were concerned. In the present act, before amendment, they were also compelled to pay on mercantile business, the selling of stoves and things of that type of business in which they engaged. This amendment relieves them from payment of taxes on gross receipts on that portion of business, but they now pay on the transmission of energy—whatever the wording is—"the sale of electric energy."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny county.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Does that mean, for instance, that the Philadelphia Company, in Pittsburgh, which is in competition with private industry in the sale of electric ice boxes, stoves, and so forth, that they would not have to pay this tax?

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct.

Mr. BARR. I ask my side to oppose the amendment.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. BARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, why does my colleague, from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, object to putting these companies in the same position as other public utilities.

Mr. BARR. I am not objecting to putting them in line with other public utilities but here is the Philadelphia Company, which pays no real estate tax in the City of Pittsburgh, and they are selling stoves and electric ice boxes and so on in competition with the man across the street, who has to pay a real estate tax; I do not think that is fair.

Mr. GELTZ. They pay the same taxes otherwise; they pay corporate net income taxes and the other taxes, and taxes on all receipts from the transmission of electric energy.

Mr. BARR. That does not go back into the coffers of the city of Pittsburgh or the county of Allegheny.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the amendment.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to know what the present law covers with respect to the gross receipts tax. I will make myself clear: does it only cover transmission of electric power or all the business done by utility companies.

Mr. GELTZ. Well, Mr. President, I can not answer that question but I can say this—

Mr. JASPAN. I ask that the question be answered.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am not finished with my answer.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, why the need for amendment.

Mr. GELTZ. If my colleague from Philadelphia county will make himself a little more explicit I will endeavor to answer his question. There were several things involved in the question.

Mr. JASPAN. I will repeat my question, Mr. President. As the law stands today what is the gross receipts tax imposed on?

Mr. GELTZ. On what kind of companies?

Mr. JASPAN. On utility companies, the bill we are now discussing.

Mr. GELTZ. Transportation of passengers, baggage and so forth, as far as the railroads are concerned, and the bill itself states specifically what is covered in so far as other companies are concerned. The only type of public utility which pays on all of its business today is these power companies.

Mr. JASPAN. Therefore you are amending the present law; is that correct.

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President, to put the power or electric companies in line, in all fairness, under this bill, with other types of public utilities.

Mr. JASPAN. Thank you.

Mr. BARR. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, if he would mind leaving the bill on second reading, as, if I am right in my understanding of the amendment, I would like to study it and talk to a few people about it.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the amendment and then I ask that the bill be read for the second time. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr.

Barr, will find that the bill will be on the third reading Calendar tomorrow.

Mr. BARR. Yes, Mr. President, and then I will have to secure unanimous consent to take the amendment out and I know I can not get it because it will be opposed.

Mr. GELTZ. That is the reason why it would only mean unnecessary delay, Mr. President, because there happen to be more votes on this side.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest what is the hurry; what is the rush?

Mr. GELTZ. There is no hurry as far as we are concerned, Mr. President, excepting that the bill is on the Calendar, it is now being amended, and tomorrow we hope to have it amended and on the third reading Calendar and passed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this bill is one of the so-called emergency tax bills, which tax has been in effect since the special session of 1936. Why the change now? What has happened? I can not quite shed any crocodile tears over any poor power company yet. If you are going to accept the Earle taxes, accept them.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland has the floor.

Mr. DENT. I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I believe this is one of the unfairer moves being made in this Senate, the move which has just been made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

First of all, as Mr. Geltz knows, the merchandising of products by any utility company is merchandised on the theory they shall use more electrical energy and the customers shall pay higher bills. I have had a little experience in this matter. From 1913 up until 1932 I have had dealings with every holding company and every utility company in the United States and I am telling you, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, that the utility company gives the most unfair competition to the electric dealer, to the department store and those merchants who are paying local real estate taxes and paying practically all the other taxes. They time and time again sell below cost. Let me tell you, Mr. President, when they sell below cost we who consume electrical energy pay for those losses in merchandising by increased bills. And I say to you it is fair that they pay a gross receipts tax on the merchandise they are marketing because it is being marketed for only one reason, to get the customer to use more electrical energy. They sell it at a loss, and when they sell at a loss the customer pays that loss, while the poor electrical dealer and electric department or the store, merchandising the same type of merchandise, can not sell at a loss because he has no way of regaining that loss, while the light company gets that loss repaid by increase in consumption and increase in rates.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask of the Members of the Senate, in fairness to all of the electric dealers in Pennsylvania, to all the retail merchants in Pennsylvania, to vote against these amendments, because they are unfair to every little dealer.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand the present law, power companies pay a gross receipts tax on their utility business as well as their non-utility business; is that correct?

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Under the proposed amendment they would pay gross receipts tax on their utility business and corporate net income tax on their non-utility business; is that correct?

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct. Mr. President, it puts them in line with the railroads and other utilities. For instance, railroads do not pay gross receipts taxes in connection with the mail or revenue which they derive from restaurants in the various stations. This act never was intended—I do not believe it was the intent of the Legislature—to include that in the gross receipts tax; it was a gross receipts tax on public utilities, and not revenue derived from public utility business.

If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, has some objection to public utilities engaging in that business, it seems to me what he ought to do is to introduce a separate bill which would prohibit them from entering into competition, but certainly that has no place in connection with consideration of these amendments, which are correcting amendments.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, tell the Senate how much this will reduce the revenue from the present tax.

Mr. GELTZ. That, Mr. President, I can not say. There will be some reduction in the gross receipts tax but apparently there will be some increase in the corporate net income tax, and whether one will offset the other I do not know.

Mr. DENT. I will enlighten the gentleman. It is common practice to sell these items at very small profit, so the net income tax will not be affected very much by any profit which might be made through the sale of these utility utensils.

Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, tell the Senate how much the Governor has estimated this tax will bring in during the next biennium and how much it brought in during the last biennium.

Mr. GELTZ. Which tax, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. The tax before us now, the gross receipts tax.

Mr. GELTZ. The gentleman from Westmoreland is referring to the 1945-47 biennium?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President. Is it not true that the Governor estimates the tax to bring in $6,000,000 as compared with $9,300,000, and some odd thousands, in the 1943-45 biennium?

Mr. GELTZ. That is because of the difference in the millage; is that what the gentleman from Westmoreland means?

Mr. DENT. I am asking what is the difference in the tax.

Mr. GELTZ. What difference in the tax does the gentleman mean?

Mr. DENT. Are you reducing taxable items.

Mr. GELTZ. Does the gentleman mean because of this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Yes. We want to know what it is.

Mr. GELTZ. I do not know that.

Mr. DENT. How can we intelligently vote on appropriations, budget, and everything else, if we do not know how much money we are going to have.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the effect can not be nearly so great as it appears to be in the mind of my colleague from Westmoreland, because the total tax is estimated at $8,000,000 for the 1945-47 biennium.

Mr. DENT. The Governor only says $6,000,000 in his book.

Mr. HEYBURN. That is a misprint, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. The Republican Floor Leader has stated that is a misprint; I think it is a miscalculation.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the $6,000,000 the gentleman refers to, I believe, is on the six mill tax. That is correct. The other is on the basis of the eight mill tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, aside from the reduced income from this tax, there is a matter of principle involved. The principle, of course, is whether this business of the utility is a proper item for taxation. The gentleman from Allegheny said that the Legislature never intended to tax along the lines contained in the bill. This bill has been on the books for eight years and certainly sometime during those years, if there was a mistake in the purpose of the General Assembly, they certainly should have found it long before now.

Is it not true the General Assembly knew exactly what it was doing and the gentleman from Allegheny knows exactly what he is doing? He is reducing taxes on public utilities in Pennsylvania. That is the only thing that is being done.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am not so sure I know exactly what I am doing, except I am offering some amendments here which I think are correct and equitable amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BARR. We have some other amendments we would like to offer, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. There is a motion that my amendments be adopted, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the amendments to the first section be adopted.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GELTZ, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendment:

Amend the title page 1, line 11, by inserting after the word "persons" at the end of said line and title the following: "by making further provisions for the report and payment of the tax and by further defining gross receipts."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. BARR. We have offered some amendments, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. BARR. We have some amendments on your desk, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The bill will be prepared for third reading.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, there are other amendments on your desk.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair has no additional amendments.

Mr. JASPAN. They were presented to the Chair. Let us be fair about this.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair has no further amendment.

Mr. BARR. They are up there, Mr. President; the boy took them up.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Just a minute, Senator Barr.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion.

Mr. HEYBURN. I have no objection, and I do not think anybody else does, to granting unanimous consent to reconsider the vote, if the gentleman has amendments and wants to introduce them.

Mr. BARR. That is not the question involved.

Mr. HEYBURN. The bill is now on third reading.

Mr. BARR. By a mistake of the Chair. If the Chair wants to be fair he will rule a motion is in order to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. There is nothing to prevent the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, from making such a motion; the Chair can not make the motion.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 64

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 64, passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 64, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-three of the act approved the first day of June on thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by increasing for a further limited period of time the rate of tax imposed upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

Mr. HOLLAND. I have sent my amendment to the Chair.

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following amendment:

Amend the bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 7 and 8 the following: "Section 2. The proceeds of the additional tax levied hereby shall be paid by the Department of Revenue to the several cities, boroughs, towns and townships in the proportions that their populations bear to the total population of the Commonwealth."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in asking the Members of this Senate to vote for these amendments which I have just offered, I want to call to their attention that by a decree of court in 1825 utilities of Pennsylvania have enjoyed tax exemption on their real estate. In Pennsylvania today the little municipalities, counties, cities, townships or boroughs, would be receiving close to $9,000,000 if the utilities paid the same tax as a man who owns a home. After all, gentlemen, the local community must furnish them the same police protection, the same fire protection, the use of their streets, as is afforded and paid out for by the poor home owner.

Each session, when this bill has been presented, the objection made has been that some of the real estate was concentrated in one borough or township or city and that borough or township or city would receive greater proceeds from the taxation on real estate. Springdale has always been said as the place where they pave the streets with gold.

This means the distribution of the gross receipts tax back to the communities in proportion to the population is just; it is just because we here in the state are not doing our duties as Senators when we permit the billions of dollars of real estate owned by utilities to go tax exempt.

When one group fails to pay taxes, another group must not only pay its own taxes but also pay a share of the tax that is not being paid by the other group.

I would like to point out to you gentlemen that one of the experts, one of the men who for years have recommended that this tax be paid by utilities, is a man by the name of Logan, who is now budget controller for the Governor and the state of Pennsylvania. He wrote a book in 1934 called "Taxation on Real Property in Pennsylvania," and in this book he pointed out that Pennsylvania—think of this, gentlemen—Pennsylvania is the only state of the forty-eight where the utilities do not pay a tax on their real estate and do not pay a franchise tax for the use of the streets. We are the only state in the forty-eight where the utilities do not pay that tax.

I think it is fair to ask you at this time to consider my amendment and help the poor little real estate owner and the home owner back home.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND, and were as follows, viz:

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following amendment:

Amend the title, page 1, eleventh line of title, by inserting after the word "persons" "and, providing for distributing the proceeds of such increase among cities, boroughs, towns and townships."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny state his point of order?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, what are we voting on, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. On the amendment to the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny state his point of order?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, my amendment to the bill was voted down; you can not vote on the amendment to the title.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the amendment is improperly before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, withdraw his amendment?

Mr. HOLLAND. The amendment was defeated, Mr. President. I withdraw my amendment to the title.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 80, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 2), page 3, line 18, by inserting after the word "include" the following "cooperative agricultural associations".

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Is the Senator able to tell us how much this will reduce the tax under this bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not believe there will be any reduction in the net revenue, because of the fact that a bill has been introduced in the House which will tax cooperative agricultural associations.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Does the gentleman from Allegheny mean separately.

Mr. GELTZ. Yes.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Should we not wait until that bill comes over here before we act on this amendment.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not know of any reason why we should wait for another bill. As I understand, co-operative agricultural associations have paid no taxes under this bill heretofore but in order that they do not be taxed twice, in case some court may hold that another tax is to be imposed, we are putting the exclusion in this bill.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Thank you.

Mr. DENT. I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this amendment.

The Clerk continued to read the amendments:

Amend Section 2, page 3, line 15, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following "or a corporation having capital stock, joint stock association or limited partnership, either organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, the United States or any other state, territory, or foreign country or dependency holding property employed or used in this Commonwealth and receiving rent or income therefrom"; Amend Section 2, page 5, line 8, by inserting after the word "whatsoever" the following "except the declared value excess profits tax"; Amend Section 2, page 5, line 21, by inserting after the word "realized" the following "and losses sustained"; Amend Section 2, page 5, line 21, by inserting after the word "sale" the following "or exchange"; Amend Section 2, page 5, line 25, by inserting after the word "realized" the following "and losses sustained"; Amend Section 2, page 5, line 25, by inserting after the word "sale" the following "or exchange"; Amend Section 2, subsection (c) (3), page 7, line 14, by inserting after the word "be" the following "(1)"; Amend Section 2, subsection (c) (3), page 7, line 15, by striking out with light faced brackets the following "[from]"; Amend Section 2, subsection (c) (3), page 7, line 16, by striking out with light faced brackets the following "[(1.) sales, fees and commissions]"; Amend Section 2, subsection (c) (3), page 7, line 20, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following "and except rentals and royalties and interest and dividends"; Amend Section 3, page 9, line 24, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following "or for the privilege of holding property employed or used in this Commonwealth and receiving rent or other income therefrom"; Amend Section 4 (c), page 13, by inserting at the end of line 20 the following "except that if the taxable income has been or is increased by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or by any other agency or court of the United States, interest shall be computed on the additional tax due from thirty days after the corporation receives notice of the change of income until paid"; Amend Section 7, page 16, between lines 15 and 16 by inserting at the end of said section the following subsection "(c) Where a report of change, correction or redetermination of Federal income or Federal tax has been filed after a petition for review or an appeal has been taken, such report shall be deemed a part of the original report upon petition of the taxpayer at any subsequent proceeding as though it had been filed with the original report and no separate petition for review or appeal from the resettlement resulting from such report of change, correction or redetermination shall be necessary."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. I think in all fairness to everybody concerned these amendments ought to be printed before they are voted on. I do not think anybody by any stretch of imagination can tell what is in the bill now.

I ask, Mr. President, that the bill be printed with the amendments. It will have to stay on second reading. We will vote for adoption of the amendments if you will let the bill remain on second reading so that we can read them.

As I understand, Mr. President, there is now a motion before the Senate for adoption of the amendments.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair put it this way: Will the Senate agree to the amendments as read?

Mr. BARR. No; I do not know what they are.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "Nay" to "Present."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "Nay" to "Present."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GELTZ and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Troutman,
Berger,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Blass,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wagner,

Holland	McGinnis,

PRESENT—12

Barr,	Dent,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Gourley,	Leader,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Margie,	Woodring,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to explain my vote.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. I am recorded as voting present. I voted present because I do not know what the amendments are and that is equally true of many members of the Senate on both sides.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendment:

Amend the title, page 1, line 15 by inserting after the word "time," at the end of said title and line, the following: "by providing for additional deductions in fixing the tax by specifically imposing tax on corporations receiving rent or other income from property in Pennsylvania by providing that a report of change of income becomes part of the original report in certain instances by changing the gross receipts fraction by specifically providing for the computing of interest on increases of income indicated by reports of change and by exempting cooperative agricultural associations."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JASPAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Troutman,
Berger,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Blass,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Wade,

PRESENT—13

Barr,	Gourley,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Holland,	Leader,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Margie,	Woodring,
Dent,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The title was agreed to as amended.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Rosenfeld, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, had amendments prepared to this bill, but the bill as now amended does not lend itself to the amendments as drawn and intended to be presented and incorporated in this bill. Accordingly I ask that the bill go over in order on second reading so that we may have amendments properly prepared for submission tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Lackawanna so move?

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 80, Printer's No. 95, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question;

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION THAT SENATE ADJOURN

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, in view of the confusion in this body during the last hour, I move that we adjourn, to allow the Republicans to go into caucus and straighten out their difficulties.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair rules the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny is out of order. The question before the Senate is shall House Bill No. 80 go over in its order.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, a motion to adjourn is always in order; it takes precedence.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair did not think the gentleman from Allegheny was serious in his motion.

What is the pleasure of the Senate?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion that House Bill No. 80 go over in its order?

(A voice vote having been taken, the motion was determined in the negative).

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 28, 1945, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. BARR. This is just a mockery, Mr. President. We do not know what is in the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, nothing will be gained by passing this bill on second reading and denying us an opportunity to present our amendments. We admit that you have the votes, but harsh treatment by any majority never gains anything for that majority and just piles up for themselves headaches in the future. Tempers of men become disturbed and we might find ourselves in the position where each and every day of the session from now until the end of the session will be a long day, because men do not like to be tramped around by a majority, either in the Senate of Pennsylvania or in Germany or anywhere else. We only ask that we be accorded the right to serve as we were elected to do.

We have amendments which we think are proper. They will make disposition of the money as we think it should be disposed of. These amendments can not be offered if this bill passes second reading.

I am only trying to tell the Senate majority that nothing will be gained by steamrolling this bill—which they themselves, by their actions in the past thirty minutes, has proved to the few observers around here that they do not know what the amendments will do—or if they do, they had an awful time in their huddle to convince their own members. How can you ask us to vote intelligently?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 80 on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the minority will have the right to offer amendments tomorrow on third reading. I am sure no one on this side will object to the offer of any amendments tomorrow, when the bill is in third reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. That accomplishes the same thing.

Mr. DENT. That is agreeable.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JASPAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tyler,
Berger,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Wade,
Blass,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Wagner,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Walker,

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 341)) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties," as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. GELTZ offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 3 (b), page 5, line 17, by striking out the light faced brackets beginning after the word "signed" the following: "[and verified by oath or affirmation]".

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I have been trying to get the attention of the Chair, as I have amendments I desire to offer to House Bill No. 80.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair was not aware the gentleman from Philadelphia was addressing the Chair.

Mr. JASPAN. Give him a chance to address the chair.

Mr. ROSENFELD. If the bill has not passed second reading—

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. It has.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE BY WHICH HOUSE BILL No. 80 PASSED SECOND READING

Mr. ROSENFELD. I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 80, on second reading, passed second reading, for the purpose of offering amendments.

Mr. HALUSKA. I second the motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FARRELL. I rise on a point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, did not vote with the majority and therefore his motion is not in order.

Mr. ROSENFELD. The Senator did not vote with the majority but neither the President nor the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, could hear how I voted.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia vote.

Mr. ROSENFELD. The gentleman could not vote because the Chair went through it so quickly, notwithstanding the fact that I was yelling in the microphone, but the Chair apparently did not hear me.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. If the gentleman from Philadelphia did not vote on the bill, how is he eligible now to move that the vote be reconsidered.

Mr. ROSENFELD. The record of the Clerk will indicate that I voted "aye", notwithstanding the fact I did not.

Therefore I ask that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 80 passed second reading be reconsidered.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 83

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 83, passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. On behalf of myself and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, and for the same reasons so ably presented by this side in connection with House Bill No. 39, I present to the Chair the following amendments:

Amend page 15, after line 6, by inserting the following: "Section 13. The amount collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the State Treasury through the department and shall be credited to the General Fund for the Department of Public Instruction for the payment by the Commonwealth of the whole of the minimum salaries of all members of the teaching and supervisory staffs in all school districts subject to the reduction of taxes on real property by school districts"; Amend page 15, line 7, by striking out the words "Section 13" and inserting in lieu thereof the following words: "Section 14"; Amend page 15, line 14, by striking out the words "Section 14" and inserting in lieu thereof the following words: "Section 15".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GELTZ and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	Haluska,	Leader,	Rosenfeld,

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN on behalf of Mr. TAYLOR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 431, entitled:

An Act giving the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the acquisition by the United States of America of certain tracts of land in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, for use in connection with the Middletown Air Depot, and ceding jurisdiction to the United States.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 28, 1945, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have no desire to prolong this session but the record shows that I made a motion about two hours ago; to keep the record straight this present motion is out of order because a motion once defeated by a roll call can not again be made in the same legislative day.

Therefore the gentleman must change his motion to a different hour.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Cambria mean the motion to adjourn?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, a motion to adjourn was defeated earlier today and a similar motion can not be made on the same legislative day; it can be changed a minute either way but it can not be at the same time. That is just to keep the record straight.

Mr. HEYBURN. I disagree with the suggestion of the Senator from Cambria but never-the-less I have no objection to amending my motion so that it will read that the Senate convene at 11:01 tomorrow morning.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 28, 1945, at 11:01 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 8:38 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time until Wednesday, February 28, 1945, at 11:01 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 27, 1945.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our gracious Heavenly Father we pray for those to whom Thou hast committed the government of this nation and state. In these days which demand so much, replenish them with Thy resources of wisdom, understanding, counsel and strength; so they may uphold what is right, and follow what is true so that Thy divine purposes may be fulfilled.

We commend to Thy loving care our sons and daughters who have gone forth to serve their country and the cause of freedom, on land and sea and in the air. Inspire them with devotion to the cause to which they are offering their lives. Hold in Thy holy keeping all those, dear unto them, whom they have left behind. May victory and peace soon be our lasting possession, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MORAN and SHAFFER.

RESOLUTION No. 32.

In the House of Representatives, February 26, 1945.

Thousands of people are now dependent for transportation upon the facilities and service of bus companies in order to reach their places of employment or to reach the schools and the shopping districts.

Due to the shortage of gasoline and rubber and the constantly diminishing number of automobiles, the bus companies are providing the only available service and at an enormous profit.

In most areas this service is not only inadequate but it is badly handled and with no regard for the comfort or convenience of passengers.

Men and women, after a hard day's work, are forced to walk home or pay a high price for taxi service and children have to wait on street corners in bitter cold weather, waiting for a bus that, when it comes, is too full to hold any additional passengers.

Fares are exorbitant and inequitable. Buses making trips of the same mileage charge different rates and in some instances more fare is collected for a short haul than for a long one, therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Public Utility Commission of the Commonwealth is hereby requested to make a searching and complete investigation of the fares charged and the adequacy of accommodations furnished by bus transportation companies in the various metropolitan areas of the Commonwealth and particularly such as provide service to the public in going to and returning from industrial plants, and to compel an adjustment of rates where found inequitable, and to furnish more adequate service where service is found inadequate under penalty of the forfeiture of their certificates of public convenience.

Referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

By Mr. MODELL.

Frances Hope Johnson, entered the Hall of the House. The Army Band played the General's March.

Governor Edward Martin and Major General Philip Hayes were invited to the rostrum by the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. In this room, where so much history has been made in the past, a new chapter in the history of our glorious Commonwealth is about to be written.

In these days of war, every event in any way connected with the progress of the war, commands our gravest and most personal attention, and the events of this day must be of the greatest concern to us and to every citizen of Pennsylvania.

To those of you here, and to all those listening at home beside their loudspeakers, I have the honor to present distinguished speakers, and distinguished guests of honor.

Among the latter there are five veterans of overseas battlefronts, wearers of the Purple Heart, visitors to our Capitol from the Valley Forge General Hospital at Phoenixville.

With them, have come five members of the Women's Army Corps, on duty at the Valley Forge Hospital as medical technicians.

And finally, there are seventy-five young women from all over Pennsylvania, loyal and patriotic young women who are about to put on uniform to serve at Army hospitals as much-needed medical technicians.

Ladies and gentlemen, the Honorable Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, General Hayes, Governor Bell, distinguished visitors, Members of the Legislature and fellow Americans: Pennsylvania is proud to welcome this distinguished group to the Capital City this afternoon. We are proud of the five young men, veterans of battlefronts all over the world, who have honored us with their presence.

In this trying hour Pennsylvania has many duties to perform. On another occasion I spoke to you about the importance of our production in the more than two thousand war plants of this State. I urged all of you to assist in speeding up that production.

We have already 900,000 Pennsylvania boys and girls wearing the uniform. Yet, we need more and the Third Service Command, presided over by that distinguished soldier, General Hayes, has been called upon for technicians to assist in our various hospitals. No more important duty has been assigned to any district. So this afternoon in these public ceremonies the General will swear in seventy-five of these noble women. But this is an appeal I want to make to you as Members of the Legislature coming from everyone of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania: Pennsylvania still needs three hundred more. Your wives have a mission in this work; but I appeal to all of you to go home and put forth your best endeavors so that Pennsylvania may promptly complete its quota.

From the days when men assembled over on the square at Carlisle to march to Washington's aid in Cambridge, the men and women of Pennsylvania have responded to every call when our military authorities needed us. I know that we will promptly complete our work in this assignment.

Now, my fellow Pennsylvanians, I have the great privilege and honor of presenting a distinguished soldier, the man who presides over the destinies of the Third Service Command, Major General Philip Hayes of the United States Army.

MAJOR GENERAL PHILIP HAYES. Your Excellency, Governor Martin of Pennsylvania, Honorable members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, Officers of the United States Army, ladies and gentlemen: It is indeed an honor to be present at this most distinguished event.

As you know, this special session has been called to honor seventy-five young women—young women who are leaving their homes in various parts of your great Commonwealth to go into training as members of the Women's Army Corps for eventual service as medical technicians at several of the sixty Army general hospitals.

You may well be proud of these young women, proud as I am to attend this testimonial session.

But the significance goes even deeper.

You see, this is a time of great crisis and of urgent need. I cannot place too much emphasis on these words.

I am most happy to accept these young women for service from your Governor, but I cannot help doing so without adding these words:

"Let there be many, many more!"

Some of you may be asking:

"Why?"

"Why all this talk of crisis?"

"Why do we still need so many thousands of women in uniform?"

"Germany is almost beaten to her knees.

"The war in Europe is almost over."

There are several answers to those questions.

First of all, until hostilities have ceased and the Armistice signed, we cannot truthfully say that the war in Europe is over.

True, the Axis has been battered almost beyond recognition, but until the Nazi war machine has been utterly shattered, and until every shred of the anticipated last-ditch German Underground resistance has been dissolved, our men will be fighting and dying on the Continent of Europe.

And when the glorious day of Peace has come, none of us must forget that Peace in Europe does not mean Peace in the Pacific.

There will still remain a tough, cancerous enemy on the other side of the world.

And the Japanese war, as we all know, is still far from finished.

It is true that we are winning it as surely as the Allies are achieving victory over the Germans, but our war with Japan is destined to go on and on.

I want to call your attention to some cold, hard, unpleasant facts.

I am speaking to you today in Harrisburg, on February twenty-seventh.

When this day ends, one thousand wounded service men will have come back to this country.

Today, and every day, one thousand of your sons, your brothers and friends, come home—home to an Army general hospital.

Tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, and the day after that, more and more thousands will return for rest and cure and treatment.

Do you realize what that means?

Thirty thousand wounded men come back to the United States each month.

Those men have fought and fallen on foreign soil in defense of our philosophy of living.

In your defense.

For them, the battle is not over.

Do you know what I mean?

Before me, you see five service men, each wearing the Purple Heart that means they were wounded in combat.

They have come here today from the Valley Forge General Hospital at Phoenixville, and I am asking each man to rise as I mention his name.

Private John R. Reardon. Wounds from high explosive bullet. Dutch East Indies.

Sergeant Francis W. Quage. Shrapnel wounds. France.

Private First Class, Charles F. Burke. Shrapnel wounds. The Philippines.

First Sergeant Milton B. Haduck. Bullet wound. Holland.

Private First Class, Manual Amaral. Shrapnel wounds. Italy.

These men have seen battle in the four corners of the globe.

Ask them.

Ask them what it means to come home.

Visit an Army hospital and ask the men you will find there.

They will tell you that the return home means, not the end, but the beginning of another tough battle.

The gruelling, often long and heart-breaking battle back to health and happiness.

I'm sure you will all understand what I mean when I say that this last fight is often the toughest and most difficult of all.

Translate this into broad terms and you will realize that the end of the war will not necessarily mean the end of the struggle for a great many of our men.

It means only that their own individual battles against pain and suffering, against fear and the return to normalcy, are beginning.

It means, ladies and gentlemen, that these men will need every help and every bit of aid you can possibly give to them.

They deserve it!

They earned it!

They paid a terribly high price for it!

But listen to this.

There is, as you all know, the problem of manpower shortage.

And there is a woman-power shortage, too.

Today, in our Army hospitals, you will find only one nurse on duty for every twenty-six patients.

One nurse must care for twenty-six men.

That is more than twice the number of patients that any one nurse can efficiently handle.

Can this be America?

Can such a sorry state of affairs exist in a nation that boasts a population of a hundred and thirty million?

It can, and it does.

Now I'm not here to analyze that embarrassing situation.

Nor am I here solely to tell you that this condition exists.

No, I'm here to tell you that the Army has a solution to the problem, and that we of the Third Service Command are determined to do no less than our share toward achieving that solution.

Governor Martin has said that these seventy-five young women here today are indicative of Pennsylvania's willingness to shoulder responsibility and of her eagerness to bring about the downfall of tyranny.

That, I know, is true.

Pennsylvania has not earned its great reputation through indifference and failure to comply with the precepts of democracy.

The Army has that same determination to end this critical situation in our Army hospitals.

A plan has been developed to place women—WACS—into these hospitals, serving as medical technicians, and as proof of the efficiency of this plan, I ask you to regard the five medical technicians from the Valley Forge General Hospital, sitting here before me.

These young women are already on duty, and the Valley Forge Hospital is functioning the better for their presence.

To you young women who have not yet put on uniform, and to the thousands more who will follow you into training, I want to say that I am proud and happy to be here today.

You are clearly showing to your friends and neighbors that you realize and understand the seriousness of this situation.

Ladies and gentlemen, the Army everywhere has a big job to do.

We do not believe in wasting time or words.

The objective is to act quickly and thoroughly.

I would not be here today if this were not an important "mission."

I would not tell you that a critical situation exists, if it didn't.

I wouldn't tell you that thousands of women are needed for service in Army hospitals, if that were not true.

I wouldn't say—it's up to the individuals, the thousands of eligible women who have not yet done anything for their country and our fighting men, if I didn't mean every word of it.

The people of Harrisburg, and in fact most of the Third Service Command, have heard a lot about a certain phrase, "Blue Angels for Purple Hearts."

That phrase came into existence through the heartfelt gratitude of our wounded men who wanted to find words to express their thanks for the deeds of kindness done for them by WAC medical technicians.

Looking at the WAC's blue service uniforms, these men invented the name, "Blue Angels."

I propose that we salve the young women we are honoring today, and all those already in uniform.

Your courage and patriotism deserve the loudest applause, the warmest praise.

We could find no higher or more lofty compliment for you—than by borrowing those words of our wounded men themselves.

You are indeed—Blue Angels for Purple Hearts.

objects to such examination or treatment on religious grounds or to permit any discrimination against such person on account of such objection: Provided, That exemption from medical or dental examinations shall not be granted if the Secretary of Health shall find that facts exist under which such exemption constitutes a present substantial menace to the health of other persons exposed to contact with the unexamined person."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MODELL. House Bill 171, Mr. Speaker, the title contains the words:

"Providing a complete medical and dental examination of all children of school age and teachers in the Commonwealth and imposing certain duties on the Department of Health."

I note that in section three on page two it includes medical and dental examination for all children of school age and teachers and adds the words "janitors, cooks and other cafeteria help and all other employes in the schools." Is there necessity for amending the title?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman raise that question when we come to the title. We are now considering section 2 of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment to section 2?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I object to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, and ask the House to vote "no."

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I introduced the amendment to section 2 of this act for the purpose of eliminating a discrimination against osteopathic physicians and surgeons, who would by this bill be presented from appointment as examiners of school children and teachers.

In reading this particular act we find the language different from other laws that have been enacted in this Assembly. Other acts have stated that physicians duly qualified and licensed to practice medicine shall have certain rights. This particular bill speaks only of doctors of medicine.

I desire to point out to the membership of the House that under the act of 1909 as amended in 1937, P. L. 1649, osteopathic physicians and osteopathic surgeons shall observe and be subject to all state and municipal regulations relating to the control of contagious diseases, the reporting and certifying of births and deaths and all matters pertaining to public health the same as physicians of other schools. In 1937 the words were added "with the same force and effect as the certificates issued by physicians of other schools."

If we look into the Act of May 18, 1911, P. L. 309, we find the words:

"Every school district of the first and second and third class in this Commonwealth shall annually provide medical inspection of all pupils in the public schools by proper medical inspectors to be appointed by the school directors in the district in sufficient number to conduct the required inspection in conformity with the standards of requirements prescribed by the Commissioners of Health for the medical inspection of schools in such districts. Such medical inspection shall be made in the presence of the parents or guardian of the pupils when so requested by the parent or guardian."

The following words were added

"all such medical inspectors shall be physicians legally qualified to practice medicine in this Commonwealth."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why they should not be included in this particular bill since they have every right to practice medicine in this Commonwealth, and certainly they should not be made an exception in this bill; for that reason they should not be excluded in this particular bill, and accordingly I have introduced these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER declares the "noes" appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, eighty-six Members having voted in the affirmative and fifty-nine in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was agreed to.

The section as amended was agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. O'BRIEN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 13, by inserting after the word "shall" the following: "at least once in every two years and".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe, Mr. Speaker, it has been the practice under the present law that inspections, as far as the health of school children is concerned, be made at less intervals than this amendment would require. I see no objection to the amendment.

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was agreed to.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth sections were separately read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I again desire to make an inquiry as to parliamentary procedure.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MODELL. My parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker, is whether it is necessary for a title to an act to contain the same words or to include all the things to be done in the other sections of the act?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman direct his inquiry to the sponsor of the bill or the Majority Floor Leader?

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I direct the gentleman's attention to section 3, page 2 of the bill, which reads:

"Medical and dental examinations of children of school age, teachers, janitors, cooks and other cafeteria help and all others employed at schools within the Commonwealth shall at such intervals as may be designated by the State Department of Health, be given a complete medical and dental examination."

I also direct the gentleman's attention to the title of the bill which does not include the janitors, cooks, cafeteria help and all others employed at the school. Can the gentleman explain why that is not included in the title?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot explain, Mr. Speaker, the amendments which the gentleman read, including the additional personnel employed in the schools. These were added to the bill by amendment when it came from the committee.

I believe that the question raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia is in order, and I feel that the title should be amended. I see no objection if the gentleman will allow the bill to be passed on second reading to ask unanimous consent to have the title amended on third reading.

Mr. MODELL. I have no objection, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I should like to inquire of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether he will inform us as to how much money this program covered by House Bill 171 will cost in the next biennium.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot answer the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I do not know the exact cost or even the approximate cost at the moment.

Mr. COHEN. I should like to ask further, Mr. Speaker, whether the gentleman has any knowledge of any plan other than the broad outlines and permissive directions of the bill that the Department of Health may have to carry out this program?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I did not get the question.

Mr. COHEN. I would like to ask the gentleman if he can give us information as to whether the Department of Health has any plan other than the broad permissive outlines of this bill to carry this plan into effect.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that the Department of Health has any specific plan. After all, I don't think it would be a matter for the Department of Health to determine prior to the enactment of this piece of legislation just what their plan should be.

I might also inform the gentleman, if I may, Mr. Speaker, in reply to his first question, I believe it really does require a cost per pupil and that under the population at the present time the cost would run in the neighborhood of two to three million dollars.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us whether or not there is an appropriation called for or anticipated to be tacked on to this bill to pay for the work.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not. I believe there was no appropriation bill to take care of this, and again we are awaiting the passage of this legislation just the same as we awaited the passing of legislation, which was a bi-partisan bill, the soldier's vote bill, which carried no appropriation and yet there were many expenditures in that bill that the Commonwealth will have to pay. I believe the Appropriations Committee will still be in session when such legislation is finally passed and can dispose of the matter of appropriation.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me what section of the bill provides for a pupil unit cost?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am informed by the Chairman of the Committee of Education that in their discussion on this bill in their Committee there was considerable consideration given to the unit cost per pupil, and their recommendation in their discussion, I believe, was about two dollars per pupil. It is not carried into the bill but I certainly feel with the power and authority given under this act to the Department of Health to promulgate a program to carry out the provisions of this act, certainly we are giving it to a department which is vitally interested and charged with the health and welfare of all the people of Pennsylvania, and we have no fear of setting up a provision, as I see it, of a definite unit cost per pupil.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman, in view of the fact that the bill has not received consideration from the Appropriations Committee and the bill carries no appropriation, whether he would not agree that it would be an orderly and proper procedure at this time to have the bill sent to the Appropriations Committee for their examination and recommendation?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker. As I said before, we passed legislation, we have established a precedent where bills have gone through the House and even the Senate which involve expenditures by the Commonwealth, with reimbursement to the political subdivisions such as I have just mentioned, in the soldiers' vote bill, where we have increased the subsidies to counties from thirty to forty per cent, which carry no appropriation, which I understand will be adequately cared for by the Appropriations Committee, now that the bill is being passed and signed.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Lehigh whether he considers this program important enough not to provide in the bill that funds to be spent for this program should be earmarked specifically for this purpose and no other.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I consider this program certainly of the utmost importance, Mr. Speaker, but I have no fear whatsoever that the Appropriations Committee, the men in this House, and members of the Senate Finance Committee, will adequately care for the appropriation necessary if and when this bill is passed finally. There may be amendments to this bill as it passes through the Senate which will incur even greater expense than we find necessary at the moment.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman further whether he is acquainted with the fact that the Department of Health has up to this time refused a grant or gift of funds from the Federal Government, to be matched by state funds for the examination of school children, with the purpose in mind of rooting out and eliminating rheumatic fever in children.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am not acquainted with those facts, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman not consider it important in these matters that we take particular care of the scourge of rheumatic fever?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason for any specific portion of the bill to specify rheumatic fever. Certainly under the overall program in regard to health of our children that will be adequately cared for.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman, if he knows, tell me whether or not there is any plan either under this bill or in the Department's plan to X-ray children each year, or at what school level, the first, ninth or twelfth grades of the school level?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I understand it is the plan to X-ray all school children.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how often?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I wish to thank the gentleman.

There are many, many reasons why this House should not agree to this bill on second reading and therefore put it in position for final passage tomorrow. I trust that the entire House will consider this matter and what I am about to say in the same bi-partisan, or shall I say non-partisan manner in which the amendments offered by this side of the House were recently adopted.

There are quite a few things, Mr. Speaker, wrong with this bill as it is now. There is no doubt in my mind that the majority of the Members of this House, on both sides of the House, are wholeheartedly in favor of any plan which will for the first time recognize a duty of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to adequately examine its school children so that their health shall be guarded, or at least we shall know what the general health level of the school children might be at any given time. But, Mr. Speaker, if we are to have such a good plan, let us not get off base at the beginning, let us do the right thing at the start. If we can do it right from the start, I am willing to join the gentleman in appropriation not only the money that he thinks is necessary at this time, but an additional sum, whatever amount may be necessary to really examine the school children and to really make certain that they grow up with at least supervision that their health might be protected because we all know, I think the Governor will tell you that he was appalled, and I think the population generally was appalled at the great number of young men who were examined for induction into the armed forces who were exempted because of physical defects which might have been cured if they had been caught sooner in their school life.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I will give some information that has not yet been given on the floor of this House. There is an appropriation hanging in midair somewhere to cover this so called plan because in the Governor's budget he recommends the expenditure of three million dollars for this purpose plus an additional two hundred thousand dollars for administrative purposes. But the Governor failed to recommend that this money be earmarked for this purpose and this purpose alone. We have for the first time in history, unless I am mistaken, and if I am, I ask to be corrected, the lumping of various items into one large appropriation under a department so that the Department of Health is receiving approximately three million dollars in the biennium, which is approximately the same as in the past biennium, and they are being given an additional three million two hundred thousand dollars lumped without restrictions, without being fenced in in any way, to make certain that any department which has been accused in the press and in some tribunals as as being a very political department,—I don't know the exact facts, and am not stating them as being true, I can only repeat what I have read in the newspapers that there was macing of employes, and that money was asked of some employes to support political activities which Governor James once told them was "reprehensible", whether anyone else agrees with Governor James or not, and I still think it is whether anybody else agrees with Governor James or not, but if three million two hundred thousand dollars is going to be spent and the Governor has set it up in his budget, what plan does the department have? Are we just to take the money and dump it into the lap of the Secretary of Health and tell him you have a bill with broad outlines which prescribes certain duties, which in most instances you may but do not have to do, and say, "Go ahead and see what you can do", when we know to accomplish this plan it will require the use of many doctors, many dentists, many surgeons, nurses and laboratory assistants, and laboratory technicians, who I understand are not mentioned or provided for in this bill. And, Mr. Speaker, the Secretary of Health will tell you, if you ask him, that our tubercular sanitoriums in Pennsylvania today have empty beds and waiting lists, and the reason we have empty beds and waiting lists is because we do not have the doctors or the help available to care for more patients in our tubercular sanitoriums. Now, Mr. Speaker, if we do not have doctors for that purpose available, for which funds are allocated every two years, whom are we going to pay this money to and what are we going to spend it for? So you see the department has a plan, the plan is to let the money lie; the plan is not to do much with it except to superimpose the Secretary of Health over the local school districts and their present facilities for the examination of school children because, as the bill tells you, somewhat clearly in section 11, page 4, "when-ever an efficient system of health examination has been developed in any school district the Secretary of Health may approve the medical and the dental examinings of this district for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act." It does not say that he implements them, it merely says that he subsidizes them. He controls the pay roll and the fellow who holds the purse strings can control the school administration also. Think that over. The Secretary of Health does not know today whether there will be X-ray examinations of school children at the first, ninth or twelfth grade level. Ask him and he will tell you. When he was asked why he could not have examinations at the first grade level annually he stated that the equipment was not available, that the equipment if it were to be made available for that purpose would cost the Commonwealth eighty-seven million dollars. So you see they do not intend to have an honest-to-God X-ray examination of school children because if they wanted an honest examination they would make some effort to have equipment and say "We want eighty-seven million dollars for a real program." And I would vote for it. But one of the excuses given for not having examination at the first grade level is "we could not find out anyway; that the incident of tubercular school children at the first grade level is about one per cent, so we skip that." That is all right to say, lets skip it—it costs less money, but you are going to have some of your school children with tuberculosis associated with other school children.

I think, Mr. Speaker, that we ought to admonish ourselves not to be too hasty in tossing money into a department that has not a plain. We ought not to lay ourselves open to criticism later on that we wasted money under the guise of a decent proposition. I would say this, Mr. Speaker, that the three million two hundred thousand dollars, if there is a proper bill and the bill allocates the moneys and says what it shall be used for, with no political angles, I would vote for the money.

I say, Mr. Speaker, we ought not to agree to this bill on second reading, that it should go back to the Appropriations Committee, and further than that it ought to go back to the fellow who brought it out in the beginning.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to state this bill sets up a program that the Department of Health may inaugurate for the examination of school children in Pennsylvania, and is not legislation designed to state what they may not do in the way of examination of our school children in Pennsylvania.

The gentleman, as I understand it, has been in attendance at the meetings of the Appropriations Committee. He tells us of the amount of money which has appeared in the budget to carry out this program, and I would like to remind him that we are not appropriating money in this bill. We will have ample opportunity and the Committee has had ample opportunity to increase or decrease, to make changes, and we are not in this particular piece of legislation doing any appropriating of money,—that is entirely a matter for the Appropriations Committee.

The gentleman on the other side says he would be happy to vote for eighty-seven million dollars to purchase the equipment necessary to carry out a program such as he has in mind. I believe that the gentleman would vote probably for that type of measure because if we recall the argument on the tax program here on the floor of the House, we find that the minority side in many instances has believed in deficit financing. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I again call to his attention and to the attention of the Members of the House that we feel that this certainly is a good program. We believe that by inaugurating it into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we are going to bring about a healthier condition of the children of Pennsylvania, that we will discover at an early stage many of the diseases and ailments from which they suffer and in later life are deprived of the privileges and the happiness of well folks. Therefore, I see no reason whatsoever why this bill should be recommended or not considered for final passage tomorrow.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am in full accord with the purpose behind this bill. I have been unable however to harmonize certain inconsistencies, and so that there will be a record, unless the bill is to be amended in the Senate, I should like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader on what I consider inconsistencies in the bill which may do harm on final passage.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it the intent of this legislation that school districts of the first class shall be embraced within the provisions of this act?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Yes, it is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I direct the Majority

Floor Leader's attention to section 10 of the act which reads as follows:

"Nothing in this act shall be construed as replacing such medical services in school districts of the first, second or third class as may now exist."

I take it, Mr. Speaker, from that language if you are not replacing the health services in these districts you are not embracing the health services in the districts from the language of that act.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. In reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker, there is a discretionary power, as has been pointed out by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, in the Secretary of Health; if a school district meets the standard of requirements of the plan as set up by the Department of Health in the examination of school children, he may then give his approval to that plan and say that it is adequately covering in the same examination that the Department of Health might impose. I understand that the districts mentioned under section 10, these districts in most instances do have an examination of all of their children that covers pretty well the program outlined in this bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not discussing whether or not they have a program particularly in districts of the first class. The question I want to know is under section 10, could the first class school district get reimbursement from the state under this act if it continues its present health assistance?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that it is provided for in the appropriation and I see no reason whatsoever why they could not be reimbursed.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman, if I may further interrogate him, agree to clarify section 10, if not now, when the bill reaches the Senate, if it passes the House?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I will be most happy to cooperate with the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. BROWN. May I further interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, by asking him if he does not believe there is ambiguity that does exist in section 10 whether this act embraces school districts of the first, second and third class, and that it could be interpreted as not embracing them.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I would refer the gentleman to section 2 of the act which says "Children of school age" means every child attending or who should attend an elementary grade or high school, either public or private in the Commonwealth.

Mr. BROWN. I am familiar with section 2. I would like to refer the gentleman back to section 10. That is just the reason the ambiguity exists, because we cannot harmonize these sections, but if the gentleman will agree we can be more specific and clarify the provision, I shall conclude the interrogation.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will be most happy to cooperate with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Is it the intention that school districts of the first class would be embraced in the bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I have made it my practice to remain fairly quiet during this session. I want to say to my friends on both sides of the House, Republicans and Democrats, to stop, look and listen. This is a vital piece of legislation, and every man from the Governor down to the janitor of the school is interested, and any man, whether he be Republican or Democrat, who in the slightest degree interferes or lets politics interfere with him in the final passage of this important legislation is neither true to himself nor to his family, nor to his community.

Mr. Speaker, this is a case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania trying to cure human misery, and that such misery has existed in the past, there is no question. Why reference should be made to the past I cannot understand, for this is something for the school children of the coming generation. We must look at it like men and women, devoid of all political reasoning or political propaganda, and all I have to say, and all I want to say is, I am asking each and every man in this House to take this measure to his heart and vote for it and work for it as a man, as a human being and as a lover of the children of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and any man who changes the slightest degree through any political motive, either present or future, in his consideration on this bill, is not a fair representative in this House, nor is he a good human being or an honest-to-God Pennsylvanian.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in the very peculiar position of agreeing with the old Senator from Philadelphia. I think to the most of our minds comes inevitably the fact that House Bill 171 is the first and only war-time measure that has been asked for by the Governor in this session, and it is because it is a war time measure and because it deals with the future of the Commonwealth that I think like the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, we ought to stop and consider it very, very considerably.

House Bill 171 brings back fond memories to me; it brings back to me a debate in the session of 1943 when we also had a war time measure confronting us, and incidentally the only one of the session, when my friends on the other side of the House saw fit to pass a piece of legislation that in the opinion of everyone but themselves was inadequate for the time and for the occasion. I refer the gentleman to the famous Child Care bill. If you will recall, Mr. Speaker, we had a bill on the calendar, rather in committee, asking for an appropriation of five million dollars. The Governor of the Commonwealth in his wisdom said "That is fantastic, we can get along with $187,000." So the act was passed and the Governor signed it, and we find two years later that $2,200 has been spent and we have two child care centers in Pennsylvania, taken care of by the Commonwealth, when the Governor's own committee recommended that five hundred be opened immediately as of 1943.

You will recall that only this afternoon one of our honorable Generals in this state spoke about the lack of woman power to care of the sick and wounded. My God, what a decent child care bill would have done to alleviate the woman power shortage in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania! But like now, at that time the Governor thought differently, and like now, we also think differently. The Governor may kid you gentlemen but he is not kidding me. The Governor read about the bad help situation in the hospitals for the armed forces and he said "We've got to do something about it." So, we find House Bill 171 on the calendar.

On interrogation the Majority Floor Leader admitted that there was no plan set up, that there was no appropriation, that the bill called for X-rays every so many periods for school children, and his own Secretary of Health says that the equipment will cost $37,000,000. The truth is there is an appropriation for this bill, even though the Majority Leader doesn't want to admit it, because in the appropriations to the Department of Health the Governor has already included it in his budget out of the surplus funds to the tune of $3,200,000.

If the Republican membership of the House think like they did in 1943, that they are going to save the pennies and not enforce an act that is admirable in spirit, then I say, gentlemen, we are leaving the House this afternoon missing the cue entirely. When we pass a measure like this, even on second reading, we are telling the people of Pennsylvania that we do not intend to go thru with what we are writing into the law.

It is true that the Committee on Appropriations will be meeting shortly to discuss the money necessary for this piece of legislation, but as a member of the committee on Appropriations, I warn you now that the program and the schedule adopted as far as the monetary purpose of this piece of legislation is concerned, is already ground out by your Budget Director. So the only thing I can say here this afternoon is that the Governor may live in his false hopes, but let us as practical men see that this bill goes back, not to the Committee on Appropriations at first, but back to the Committee on Education, from whence it came. This bill requires deep study, this bill requires more than the mere uncertainties of speech given by the Majority Floor Leader, and he almost admitted it.

I ask you gentlemen in the name of decency as the first war time measure of this session, let us consider very deeply what we do here this afternoon.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for study and prompt action.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I had not anticipated that this motion would be made at this time but I would in support of the idea point out to the Members of this House, that a bill to mean something should carry maximum unit costs. It is not the practice of this House to turn over to any Department, however efficient it may be a loose or blanket permission to incur unit cost without limit.

I also suggest to you, Mr. Speaker, that it is not in line with our parliamentary practice, our legislative practice, to permit the general appointment of any considerable number of servants for the state with no suggestion from the legislature as to the maximum unit costs.

The bill, I repeat, is defective, in that it does not carry any suggestion as to maximum unit costs, that it does not carry any limitation or suggestion as to the fees to be paid to the employees that the state must necessarily hire.

We also by this bill do something that has never been done by any Legislature since this Capitol was burned. We are giving a Department unlimited power, within the scope of an eleven million dollar appropriation, an over-all appropriation, to purchase equipment. I see nothing in the bill that places any limitation on the amount to be expended for equipment. You cannot make out a plan unless you have some idea as to equipment and if you are not going to get the equipment you cannot have the examination, and your bill stands or falls upon a specific investment in equipment. Those, I say, are three contentions which I believe are sound as to why this House should not pass this bill in its present form.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit the bill. It is unfortunate that more Members of the House were able to bask in the sunshine like the gentleman from Philadelphia.

This bill was introduced in the very early days of the session and the indications are that the Committee did a great deal of work on it as indicated by the amendments that were placed in the bill in Committee. I understand there was a great deal of time consumed in discussion in Committee over the merits and demerits, and what amendments should be placed in it to make it a good bill. I cannot see any reason for further delay and therefore I oppose the motion.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I agree with everyone that this is a very vital and serious piece of legislation for the children of Pennsylvania, and were it not so I would say we were attending a vaudeville show and that this bill could give us a very hearty laugh in its present form.

I listened with a great deal of interest to the interrogation of the Majority Floor Leader and I am quite certain that he agrees that this bill should be further amended. I am also quite certain that I heard him say that he has no knowledge of any plan, he had no idea how much it would cost to carry into effect the purpose of this bill.

Now, I submit to you, Members of the House, that we certainly on this side are fully competent to properly amend this bill to carry into effect the purposes intended. We should not on the floor of this House pass legislation and hand it over to the Senate for amendment. If that is your intention then I say to you, you condemn yourselves to the people of Pennsylvania, and for that matter to the entire nation. It is really a shame to say that that legislation must be amended but we will turn it over to the Senate. Are we not competent to do that here? I say to you for that reason that this bill should be returned to the Committee for the purpose of proper amendment and to get a real plan.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 403) entitled "An act relating to the form execution revocation and interpretation of wills to nuncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to spendthrift trusts to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to the fees therefor" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That every person of sound mind and of the age of twenty-one years or upwards whether married or single and also every minor of sound mind whether married or single who is seventeen years of age or over and who is a member of or has been called for induction into the Armed Forces of the United States in time of war or of any allied or associated power so long as such minor remains in such service may dispose by will of his or her real estate whether such estate is held in fee simple or for the life or lives of any other person or persons and whether in severalty joint tenancy or common and also of his or her personal estate

Section 2 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment shall apply to the wills of all persons dying on or after the effective date of this act

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was before the House the other day and amendments were being considered there was very much controversy in relation to this act, and I am under the impression that the reason for some of that controversy was because of misunderstanding on the part of the Members of the House as to what the rights of soldiers or members of the armed forces are to dispose of their property under the present law.

Section 5 of the Wills Act of 1917 provides:

"Notwithstanding this act, any mariner being at sea or any soldier being in actual military service may dispose of his movables, wages and personal estate as he might have done before the making of this act."

In other words, a sailor or mariner while in service may dispose of his personal property by what is known as a noncupative will—that is an oral will, or he may dispose of it by written will. The oral will is oftentimes misunderstood; his wording might be misinterpreted, and therefore you were not carrying out the wishes of that person. The law does not regard very highly oral wills but does admit them in some cases. When a soldier becomes seventeen years of age, we put him in a position of peril and then say to him "You cannot will your property away or give your property to the person whom you would like to give it to." However, every person who dies, dies either with a will of his own or one which has been made for him by the Legislature of 1917 known as the Interstate Act which provides that where anyone dies leaving a spouse, that spouse gets five thousand dollars, plus five hundred dollars widow's exemption plus one-half the remainder of his estate. If these designing women we have been told about by some of the Members in relation to this bill really have designs on this young soldier, they are going to marry him, and if they marry him this soldier then if he has less than five thousand dollars, cannot take care of his parents in any way. If he could make a will he could give at least half of his property to his parents, so you are really protecting the parents if you allow this man to make a will.

We have just now passed on third reading a bill which provided that a minor might make a contract, a valid contract. I believe that was an act authorizing and empowering a minor seventeen years of age or older to contract for and make loans in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944" and saving and relieving the parents, guardians and trustees of such minors from any liability therefor unless joining therein.

If this person wants to make a loan, we allow him to do that and allow him to enter into a contract. If we can do that with that minor we certainly owe him the right to execute a will. I say, Mr. Speaker, when we put that member of the armed forces into a position of peril we certainly owe him the duty of allowing him to dispose of his property in the way that he would like to dispose of it instead of putting the wishes of the Legislature of 1917 into his place and disposing of it according to the Intestate Laws, where a great part of his property might not go to his spouse but might even go to his collateral heirs, as far removed as cousins.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I think that in line with war legislation and good legislation we ought to pass this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last evening the Minority Floor Leader under unanimous consent addressed the House and condemned the management of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board in not taking advantage of discounts that the Board could take for the benefit of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Under interrogation I asked the gentleman as to what date, in what year this took place. The gentleman informed me that the bills which he read which were not discounted were for purchases in December or bills due in December, 1944. I want to say to the membership of this House that in December 1944 there were bills which were not discounted by the Liquor Control Board to the extent of $11,811.54.

The Minority Floor Leader painted a picture to us that the Liquor Control Board was lax in the management of its affairs, and that it was a common practice for the Board not to take advantage of the discounts which are allowed them by the various distilleries with whom they do business. I would like to state to the membership of this House that the amount of discounts which have not been earned by the Board since the regular discounting has been in effect is very small in proportion to the amount of discount earned. The total amount of discount earned by the Board during the period from June 1, 1943 to December 31, 1944 was $2,306,480.63.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, it has been the practice of this Board at all times, and we were told it was a big corporation, a one hundred sixty-five million dollar corporation, and I think we all admit that in any corporation of that size the Board of Directors and the President and the other officials of the company must depend upon subordinates to carry out certain duties and functions of the office. The Board has on numerous occasions told the controller of the Liquor Control Board that it was their wish and desire to take advantage of every discount possible. Now, the controller of the Liquor Control Board, it is my understanding, is frozen into his job by Civil Service and has been there through Democratic and Republican administrations, and at some time or other has somehow become a little lax in his duties.

Also I would like to inform the membership of this House that during the period of December, 1944, when some discounts in the amount I have enumerated were not taken advantage of, the Board held up payment of certain bills because of the quality of liquor under test that they had received, and they were to negotiate with the distillers at that time before the payment of these bills in December, 1944. So I think that it is with poor grace, and I certainly think it would be no reflection on the Liquor Control Board of Pennsylvania in trying to spread a rumor that the Liquor Control Board has been lax in the management of affairs of the Commonwealth pertaining to this particular work in not taking advantage of discounts allowed to them by distilleries.

I might also say, Mr. Speaker, that during the period I just enumerated in which there was $529,000,000 approximately of liquors bought, there was not over $25,000 lost in the matter of discounts.

The $5,000,000 which was referred to last night, which had been loaned to the Board, I would say that the amount I have just mentioned does not include the loss which was sustained during the period from May 31, 1941 to August 1, 1941, when after the Board had transferred all its profits made up to that time to the general fund, as well as the $5,000,000 working capital allowed to the Board, this working capital was not returned to the Board, due to the opposition, as I mentioned last night, of the then Majority Party of the House in its failure to pass and its opposition to the bill to issue tax anticipation notes. The amount of cash discounts lost during that period was approximately $114,000.

Now, Mr. Speaker, since we are on the subject, I think it might be as well to go further into the history of discounts in the Liquor Control Board. The cash discounts earned during the period of December 31, 1943 to the end of 1944, or January 1, 1945, was $1,784,299.07. The purchases made during the period were $245,000,000 and during this same period a quantity discount was not in effect, as we found in effect some few years ago. I would like to state that during the Democratic administration in Pennsylvania, in all fairness, that the discount procedure of doing business was not in effect in the last two years of that administration, but during that time they allowed what they called wholesale discounts, and arbitrarily, I understand, dealt with distilleries, and said, "We purchase certain amounts of liquors, and we are taking an additional four per cent discount." After that board had been retired and a Republican board installed, we find that the wholesale discounts taken in the Earle administration which had to be refunded when the Auditor General and the State Treasurer sat as a Board of Claims, amounted to $316,109.94, to just four distilleries. I have the names of the distilleries and the amounts that were refunded under wholesale discounts, during the Earle administration which had been taken and then had to be refunded to those distilleries from the treasury of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Therefore, I say that the Liquor Control Board in this period of 1944, in which we had one month referred to last night has taken advantage of discounts amounting to better than $2,000,000 for the benefit of the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the statement of the Majority Leader reminds me of the lady that was before the judge on a morality charge, and receiving the usual sentence, the lady pleaded in her own defense "But, Judge, it was such a little baby."

I say, Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader pleads guilty but he says in his defense, gentlemen of the House, "After all it was such a little baby." Now, there isn't any particular reason in a business concern of throwing eleven thousand dollars out of the window and then looking around for a scapegoat to place the blame upon. I accept the gentleman's plea of guilty and I recommend both the gentleman and the Liquor Control Board to the mercy of the people who have been talking about investigating the Board.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I infer by the gentleman's remarks, that we are pleading guilty to a charge made by the gentleman last night. Of course, we on this side of the House like to rear our children but we like to get them at least when they are small, because we understand that that is the time when you can mould character and wisdom and common sense into their being.

I think the figures will reveal that there is no baby as far as the Liquor Control Board members are concerned. When the Minority Party was in power it was a grown child when they put it into being and I again say, as the gentleman described last night, this is a sixty-five million dollar corporation and they must be dependent upon employes to carry out their wishes, just as I would imagine in any large corporation, and there have been periods when discounts have been lost because of the laxness of an employee carrying out his job.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FREED asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, due to the lateness of the hour I will be brief and make it as short as possible. This afternoon we listened to one of the most beautiful ceremonies I think we have ever had in this House. Within the last few weeks we have enacted some laws, some amendments were made, some of them were sent back to committee and some we have lost in the shuffle. For that reason I would like very much, if I may have your attention for just a few minutes, because as I said it will be brief.

Mr. Speaker, owing to the times which I feel should not have more time wasted than must be to get the best results, but I have certain comments for the purpose of assisting, I hope, in taking care of that American who is trying to do his bit by, in many cases, giving his all when some of us are here putting in time and trusting to God that we can keep ourselves out of the real hardships that our boys and girls are going through. But at the same time we are not willing to make laws that they can step into the picture of life and make a living for themselves even though we look and read the signs every day "Join the Army, Navy" or whatever branch of service they may be in. And learn a trade, the least we could do would be to make it possible that some of them was not wasted if they have put in the time and can pass the department and their inspectors' questions in oral and practical experience, then they should have the benefit and if they are not qualified, certainly they should be turned down regardless, because our health of the future is at stake. But we should remember what we saw and heard this afternoon that their war is not over when the guns stop firing.

No one can see very far ahead at a time like this. No one knows what responsibilities may fall upon this Commonwealth and Nation in the coming years, but I for one, know that it is our responsibility to take care of the boys and girls who are taking care of my home and your home while you and I are enjoying all the comforts of home and so many cases shouting "hurray", saying well done, stealing their girls and making it almost impossible for them to reestablish themselves. In looking around, I wonder how many of us when we look at that fellow in the mirror can ask himself, "Am I doing my bit or am I doing all I can to save my fellow-man, or am I the fellow who is hanging back, taking all I can get and the H--- with the other fellow," and crying to ourselves what he is seeing, that you are not seeing and saying how lucky he is and what a wonderful experience, and then saying this is why I could not, but OK. Then I think we should look in the mirror again and put ourselves on the mat of a test to see if we stand the acid test to say that to anyone who is or was in the service or their mothers and fathers.

In closing, Mr. Speaker, it is true that all of us have the responsibility of what ever acts of Legislature get amended or are enacted into law and that many of our acts or actions are caused by the result of some pressure from various groups. Certainly the Legislature must carry its own full share of the responsibility of our men and women of this great nation of ours and protect them wherever it is possible. I have at all times tried to remember this when the one Great Scorer comes to write against your name. Let him write not if you won or lost, but how you played the game.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON ELECTRIC ROLL CALL SYSTEM

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, JR. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to Resolution, Serial No. 13, a Committee was appointed to study the feasibility of an electric roll call system and was instructed to file its report on or before March 1, 1945. We find that to be an impossibility and would ask leave for an extension of time to or before March 15, 1945.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for an extension of time to this Committee to prepare its report to the House? The Chair hears no objection and permission is granted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I only wanted to say after listening to the discussion between the two floor leaders that I think it is the sense of this House that the legislative baby of both the leaders be given to the tender mercy of Doctor Stewart under House Bill No. 171.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests unanimous consent to add four names to the Committee on St. Patrick's Day celebration. Will the House give its unanimous consent? The Chair hears none.

The Chair names Messrs. Corrigan, Brice, Munley and Cullen. These names are added to the Committee.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is also informed that a former Member, William Shaw, of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh is in the House. We are pleased to have the gentleman with us.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 28, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:01 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Let the words of our mouth be acceptable unto Thee. O God, guard our lips from the profanity of vain repetition of Thy Holy Name. Let our "Walk and conversation be as becometh the Gospel of Christ." By so doing we can live on the highest plane, and have the inward peace and outward poise of those who walk with God.

We are called to special service in our state. Give us the will and the power to serve, not because we have some day to give account, but because we are conscious of our responsibilities as the servants of God and the state.

From all that is inimical to the material and spiritual interest of our state and people, Good Lord deliver us. For all that will be helpful to nation, state and individual, Good Lord inspire us.

We pray for guidance in the conduct of the war, divine guidance for the men who plan and the men and women who carry out the plans. Working with Thee may the day of defeat of all our enemies be hastened, and the day of the return of "Peace on earth to men of good will."

To Thy Name be all the praise. Amen.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

COMMUNICATION FROM LOCUST COAL COMPANY

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I am in receipt of a letter from the Locust Coal Company, Bethlehem, Pa., in which the writer of the letter, Mr. Elmer L. Mack, reviews conditions concerning the occupational disease law and its administration in the state of Pennsylvania, together with suggestions made by Mr. Mack for further amendment to the occupation disease law.

I ask leave, Mr. President, to have Mr. Mack's letter spread upon the Journal.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the request of the gentleman from Northampton is granted.

LOCUST COAL COMPANY

528 North New Street, Bethlehem, Penna.,

February 20, 1945.

Honorable Carleton T. Woodring,
Pennsylvania Senate,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
Dear Senator Woodring:

We have noticed that bills have been introduced at this session relating in various ways to Occupational Disease. We have no way of knowing what the attitude of the Senate and House will be but, as I said to you some time ago, the claims for occupational disability or death have not reached a peak or leveled off and will become increasingly serious in our judgment. In the last paragraph of this letter we offer a suggestion.

The Act as it now stands provides for maximum O.D. compensation of $3600 and payments apportioned between the State and the employer as follows:

Between	Paid by Employer	Paid by State
Oct. 1, 1939-Sept. 30, 1941	50%	50%
Oct. 1, 1941-Sept. 30, 1943	60	40
Oct. 1, 1943-Sept. 30, 1943	70	30
Oct. 1, 1945-Sept. 30, 1947	80	20
Oct. 1, 1947-Sept. 30, 1949	90	10
After Oct. 1, 1949	100	..

I do not know what the statistical trend for all industry is, but I have it as tabulated by the State Coal Mine Rating Bureau, Harrisburg, which shows for anthracite that the trend is distinctly upward.

For the 3 years 1938-40 there were 33 claims, whereas for the 3 years 1941-43 there were 94 claims. This seems comparatively few in number, but this is explained by the fact that nearly all of the anthracite producers have rejected the Act. In the Southern Field, Schuylkill County, where we operate, only three or four companies, including ourselves, have accepted the Act, our largest principal competitor—Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co.—having rejected it. This is, perhaps, an unfortunate situation but we have tried to play ball.

The insurance premium rate for Occupational Disease has risen 33⅓%, i.e., from 75c per C to $1 per C, notwithstanding increased wage rates and payrolls.

We are not permitted by United Mine Workers practice to make a physical examination of new employees, although we believe it would be in the best interests of the men themselves not to be placed on an inside job at mining if they have an occupational disease. The consequence is that our company, having accepted the Act, unfairly may become the haven for men who shift their employment from a company that has rejected it—an undue burden.

We have only been engaged in mining at Weston Colliery since the latter part of 1939 and yet 21 claims have been made on us for O.D. compensation. We watch general inside conditions carefully, and it is fairly obvious that not all of the claimants could possibly have contracted their occupational disease while in our employ. Some of the claims we believe are without merit, but it is difficult to refute them.

In the opinion of the Chief Mining Engineer of one of the casualty companies insuring Occupational Disease, the peak of claims has not as yet been reached.

Our suggestion under these circumstances is that in all fairness the State should assume a larger share of Occupational Disease Compensation. Their share at present is 40% and it will drop to 20% next October. At least until claims have leveled off, the original 50%—or even 60%—participation by the State would appear more equitable if the State is to assume any part of the claims. If something of this sort is not done, then the natural impulse will be to reject the Act, but we would prefer not to do this if it can be avoided.

Very truly yours,

ELMER L. MACK,
Secretary.

SENATE BILL NO. 59 CALLED UP

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 59, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" by providing rest periods sick leave hospital and medical expenses and extra compensation in certain cases for police in counties of the second class go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. What is the use of coming here if there is nothing to do.

Mr. BARR. I do not know.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, we have passed five or six bills this morning. A great many of the other bills have not been printed as yet; the printers could not get the work done, as they are short handed. It is a manpower problem.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, why can we not consider Senator Geltz's bill?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that the gentleman interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, who requested that the bill go over in order.

Mr. WOODWARD. May I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, his reason for requesting that Senate Bill No. 59 go over in order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there was some controversy about this bill. I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, has removed the cause of that, when I explained to him where most of the controversy was, but I ask the courtesy of having this bill go over in order so that I may talk to the County Commissioners at home, so that they may have a chance to look at the bill, which is why I asked that the bill go over in order until Monday.

Mr. WOODWARD. Thank you Senator.

The PRESIDENT. The bill will go over in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I agree with a remark made earlier this morning by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, that we have come here this morning and have done nothing so far. I realize that we can not pass upon these bills unless we have them before us but at the same time we are passing up bills we have had on the Calendar for some time.

I am referring now to Senate Bill No. 183, the Dent-Thomas bill. It has been on this Calendar for a number of weeks and there is no better time, Mr. President, than now to discuss the measure and send it back to committee or pass the bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, if I am in order I now call up Senate Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 101, appearing on Page 6 of today's Calendar, for consideration.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Senate Bill No. 183 went over in order by request. If the gentleman from Cambria desires to have that bill called up for action he will have to make such a motion.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL NO. 183 BE CALLED UP FOR CONSIDERATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 101, appearing on page six of today's Calendar, be brought up for consideration at this time.

Mr. MCGINNIS. I second the motion, Mr. President. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, it is not my purpose to break loose at this time. However, there was a distinct understanding—and I believe that the opposite side of the Senate agreed to it—if they did not it is just too bad—that this bill in final consideration was to go over until Monday. And not only that, Mr. President, there was no objection or any explanation of any of the questions gone into upon second reading, by special arrangement, because of so much debate yesterday, to get the figures on record for those who are so interested in financial problems of the state of Pennsylvania, so that they could be printed into the legislative record. By reason of all of these things that have taken place, which caused us to work until the wee hours, as we might say, yesterday, now, in spite of the arrangement that has been made, and without any talk or without any consideration, they move to have this bill acted upon at this time.

I merely want to say to you that the Republican Party committed itself to me personally, and I allowed it to go by as an arrangement and an agreement, that this bill could be passed on second reading without a breaking out on my part, and it would go over in order and whatever there is to be said would be said on third reading, after we have been home over Saturday and Sunday.

I am asking the Republican Party, even if the other people will not consent to extend this courtesy to me, to keep their agreement. I will not say any more at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria extend that privilege?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the reason I made that motion is that, being sincere, I tried to earn my salary today by doing something. As the good Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, said, we have come up here for nothing. If there is an agreement I have no knowledge of it—unfortunately I am not in on that and am not most of the time—so if my friend from Indiana tells us there has been some sort of an arrangement I certainly will extend him the courtesy of withdrawing my motion at this time and I trust my colleague from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, will withdraw his seconding of the motion.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion calling up Senate Bill No. 183 for action at this time.

Mr. MCGINNIS. I withdraw my seconding of the motion, Mr. President.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, twice on the floor of this Senate within the last five minutes there have been remarks made that I do not think are right or quite fair to Members of the Senate, that is, that we are not doing anything today and why are we here and somebody would like to earn his salary.

I would like to point out for the information of the Senate that a lot of Senators worked up here all day long. I attended a committee meeting here at nine o'clock this morning, and have not ceased in my Senatorial duties and I know a lot of members of this Senate, both Democrats and Republicans, have been so engaged since this session started, technically at 11:01 this morning; we have gone through a lot of business of the Senate, including a meeting of the Committee on Executive Nominations, and we have considered the Calendar very carefully.

I do not think it is quite fair—and I say this to the gentlemen who have so indicated by their remarks on this floor—to suggest to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the medium of the press, that we are loafing up here on the job, because that is not the situation.

In fact, one of the gentlemen who made such a remark attended the committee meeting this morning of which I spoke and contributed to the discussion and consideration of proposed legislation, and I think the impression created by making statements like that is not fair to men who have been here since nine o'clock this morning, attending to their senatorial duties.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it is always a great pleasure to hear the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and I feel entirely rewarded after hearing his remark and do not think I have to apologize to anybody.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am certainly sorry if I have offended anybody. I am not quite so sensitive, although I have heard things said on the floor that could have raised my temper and I sat back and took them with a smile. Unfortunately some people are very sensitive and the remarks I made seemed to hurt, and so I make my apology and hope they will accept my apology. I agree if the gentleman has been up here since nine o'clock he has earned his salary but I have not earned mine.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. I have received, as have all the other members of the Senate, a copy of the proposed legislative program of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania for the improvement of education in the Commonwealth. The Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania is composed of the heads of the independent colleges and universities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Judging from the figures released by Governor Martin in his budget message showing appropriations in millions to some of the institutions, which their heads list as independent, I would question their independency.

Their proposed program consists of three recommendations—

1—Enlarge the membership of the State Council of Education from 9 to 12 and largely transfer the powers and duties of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the enlarged Council.

2—Reduce the number of the State Teachers Colleges from 14 to 6.

3—Establish over a period of four years 6,000 four-year under-graduate State Scholarships, 1,500 per year, each scholarship to have a value of not more than $500 for a college year or its equivalent, with certain limitations as to the use of scholarships.

I shall discuss these proposals in the following order—

1—The enlargement of the State Council of Education.

2—The reduction of the State Teachers Colleges from 14 to 6.

3—The establishment of the 6,000 four-year under-graduate scholarships.

Although the pamphlet issued by this Association states, "These proposals are based entirely upon disinterested grounds and they aim solely at the welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," I shall show, that the ultimate aim of the proposals is to take control of Public Education in the Commonwealth from the hands of the elected representatives of the people, the Governor of the Commonwealth, and the members of the legislature and place such control in the hands of the State Council of Education, which body, the Association of College Presidents, hopes to see become self-perpetuating.

Proposal 1—Enlarge the membership of the State Council of Education from 9 to 12 members, and a—The Council shall be made superior to and responsible for the State Superintendent of Public Instruction

b—The membership of the State Council of Education shall be appointed by the Governor with terms of six years and in annual classes of two a year

c—The State Council of Education shall have the power and its duties shall be to recommend to the Governor the names of persons the Council feels are eligible by experience and qualification for appointment to the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction

d—The State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not be a member of the State Council of Education

e—The Chairman of the State Council of Education shall be elected by the State Council

f—The State Council of Education shall have the power and its duty shall be to submit to the Governor reasons for the removal of the Superintendent of Public Instruction upon a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the Council.

If these powers and duties are conferred by legislative action upon the State Council of Education, as stated by the pamphlet issued by this Association, it will result in a—Eliminating all possibility of a majority change of the personnel of the State Council of Education during the term of any Governor and a resultant reduction of political influence and pressure in education

b—Promoting a greater stability in personnel

c—Providing better machinery for the implementing of educational plans and procedures

d—Providing for State Council of Education with greater responsibility in determining policy

e—Making the State Council of Education a Board of reference before which the Superintendent of Public Instruction will lay his plans and proposals for approval f—Making the Superintendent of Public Instruction responsible to the State Council.

In my opinion, the Constitution of the Commonwealth confers upon the Governor and State Superintendent of Public Instruction certain powers and duties which the Legislature, if not the Association of College Presidents, must respect. These powers and duties of the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction cannot be nullified by legislative action, but only through amending the Constitution by the majority vote of the people.

However, we shall examine the proposed changes relative to the functions of the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the State Council of Education.

The Governor, as a candidate of one of the two major political parties, is elected for four years by the people of the Commonwealth. During his campaign he has outlined his own and his party's platform and policies. As the elected representative of the people it is his duty to carry out the will of the people as expressed by the platform and policies on which he was elected. The educational policies of the Governor become effective through enactment by the Legislature, and are administered by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the appointed representative of the Governor. Certainly, the Governor, if he is to carry through his policies on Public Education, should have the privilege and responsibility of selecting and appointing his Superintendent of Public Instruction. He should not have to make his selection of Superintendent from a list of names presented by the State Council of Education, a body which may not be responsive to the policies of the Governor. The Association of College Presidents, under their plan for enlarging the membership and functions of the State Council of Education propose, I quote, "the possibility of a majority change of the personnel of the State Council of Education during the term of any Governor will be eliminated." It is my belief that all governmental policies, achieved through enacted legislation, represent the will of the majority of the people, and if the will of the majority of the people is respected, such policies must be administered by officers who are directly responsible to the people.

If this proposal of this Association is accepted and enacted into law by the Legislature and signature of the Governor, should not the Association of Road Contractors present a similar proposal for the selection of the Secretary of Highways and the functioning of the Department of Highways? The Bankers Association for the Department of Banking, the Underwriters Association for the Insurance Department, etc., etc.?

As to a reduction of political influence and pressure in education and a resulting stability in personnel of the Department of Public Instruction by the acceptance of the proposals of this Association, I detect an intimation that our system of two party government, under which our nation has developed and prospered, is a failure and that we, the elected representatives of the people, including the Governor, are not to be trusted, and that government should be removed from the people and placed in the hands of a few "eminent citizens and educators." It is my opinion that the members of the Association of College Presidents feel they are fully qualified, and possibly should have the privilege, of naming such "eminent citizens and educators," probably from their own group. Each member of this body, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is here as the elected representative of a great political party, as is the Governor of the Commonwealth and each member of the House of Representatives. We believe in party government, in party discipline, and in party influence. As to stability of personnel in the Department of Public Instruction, I believe the records of the Department will show just as much stability of service in the professional personnel as is shown for the faculties of the member institutions of this Association. Of course, whether tenure for the personnel of the Department of Public Instruction and other departments of the State Government will promote efficiency is questionable.

It is and should continue to be the function of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to provide and continue to improve his machinery for the implementing of educational plans and procedures. The State Council of Education is not and should not become a policy making body. As previously stated, policy for Public Education is vested in the hands of the Governor and the Legislature, the direct representatives of the people, and should remain the function of the Governor and the Legislature. Policy should be administered by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is and should remain solely responsible to the Governor, and to the people of the Commonwealth.

Before discussing in detail the proposals of this Association relative to the reduction in the number of the State Teachers Colleges and the establishing of 6,000 four-year under-graduate scholarships, by the creation of a special scholarship fund and the management thereof by the State Council of Education, I am prompted to present the matter of government by Boards and Commissions through the creation of special funds. At the present time, from a report of the State Treasurer, the Commonwealth is now operating 39 special funds. All of these funds, and the Boards and Commissions which administer them, have been created by legislative action. In other words, over a period of years the trend has been to take control of government from the Executive, and the Executive Departments, and place it in the hands of Boards and Commissions. If we are to maintain our democracy, this trend must be checked and government returned to the people through their direct representatives, the Governor and the Legislature. From time to time, all of us have had some sorry experiences in dealing with the employees and representatives of these special funds, Boards, and Commissions. Usually Mr. John Q. Public receives the official brush off in no uncertain terms. Possibly, during this session, we should review the functions, controls, and management of all special funds, and their Board and/or Commissions with a view toward placing them under the control of the several executive departments. The creation of special funds and the resulting Boards and Commissions means government by Bureaucracy, and thence to totalitarian government.

Also, before a further discussion of the proposals for the improvement of education in Pennsylvania through a group of "eminent citizens and educators," as advanced by this Association, and keeping in mind the objectives of the Association, I quote, "These proposals are based entirely upon disinterested grounds, and they aim solely at the welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." it might be well to examine the backgrounds of vested control and management of the independent colleges and universities, represented by the Association of College Presidents.

A check of the 56 member institutions show 44 of them having a sectarian background of control management,—26 Protestant, 17 Catholic, and 1 Jewish. Of the 12 non-sectarian, independent colleges and universities, I find by reference to the Governor's 1945-47 budget, 5 of them receive substantial appropriations from the Commonwealth during the current biennium and are recommended for further appropriations with substantial increases for 1945-47. For our information I shall name these so-called independent institutions and give the amount of the State appropriation made to them for 1943-45 and the recommended appropriation for 1945-47 as follows—

Institution	Recommended Per-
	Appropriation 1943-1945	Appropriation 1945-1947	centage of Increase
Pennsylvania State College	$5,290,000	$5,819,000	10%
University of Pennsylvania	1,650,000	2,330,000	41.2%
University of Pittsburgh ..	1,376,000	1,651,200	20%
Lincoln University	100,000	110,000	10%
Temple University	1,250,000	1,500,000	20%
Totals	$9,666,000	$11,410,200	18.4%

These institutions list themselves as independent. Does this mean the Commonwealth exercises no control in their management and that appropriations are spent at the discretion of their managements without accountability to the Commonwealth? If so, should we continue further appropriations on this basis? Should not the same fiscal and operational controls be exercised on the appropriations to these institutions as is exercised on appropriations to our State owned institutions? That is, the purchase of all services, materials, supplies, and equipment, and the drawing of all plans and specifications and the execution of contracts for repair and construction work against these appropriations should be cleared through the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of Property and Supplies. It is the duty of the Legislature to set up proper controls and see that they are enforced.

Now to the consideration of the proposals of the Association of College Presidents for establishing a total of 6,000 four-year under-graduate scholarships.

The scholarships are to be awarded at the rate of 1,500 per year and are to be at the under-graduate level and for four years each with a value not to exceed $500 for a college year or equivalent, and not to exceed $2,000 for a full college course of under-graduate work, and are to cover charges for tuition and fees regularly charged to students, but not to include charges for board and room, social activities, and intercollegiate athletics. All regulations concerning the granting, retention, and termination of the scholarships and general standards are to be determined by the State Council of Education. The scholarships are to be awarded to candidates from each county and the number of scholarships assigned to the respective counties to be based upon their proportionate population. The population figures shall be those of the last Federal census. There is to be no discrimination as to race, color, or creed, but the winners of the scholarships must be acceptable to the college. The present county scholarships having a value of $100 each per year, and one to each county, as provided under Article XLIII of the School Laws of Pennsylvania, are to be discontinued, and the said Article repealed. A wonderful plan—for this Association, and according to their own statement, "It is based entirely upon disinterested grounds, and the sole aim is for the welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

These four-year under-graduate scholarships, at the rate of 1,500 per year with a yearly value of $500 each, by the fourth year would cost $3,000,000 per year, or $6,000,000 per biennium. This would be in addition to the $11,410,200 biennial appropriation for the previously referenced state-aided colleges and universities. A total of roughly 17½ million.

The purpose of the scholarships, according to the College Presidents, is to provide equalization of educational opportunity at the college level by making it possible for worthy high school graduates of limited financial means to obtain a college education, and will correct the situation where opportunity for a college education is dependent upon the financial standing of parents.

Governor Martin in his message of January 2, 1945 to the General Assembly has accepted, at least in part, the thesis that higher education is the function of the State, for he recommends, I quote—

"For the strengthening of our Commonwealth and the future of the Nation, we should take steps to assure higher education to a greater proportion of our qualified youth. To that end, we suggest legislation creating a large number of four-year scholarships allocated in proportion to county population, to be distributed, to those applicants who qualify through competitive examinations, and to be awarded without discrimination as to sex, race, color, or creed.

"The paramount duty of government in education is to give a sound basic education; yet there is also an obligation on government to furnish laboratory and research opportunities. At the close of the war and as a result of the war it will be necessary for our universities, colleges, and private laboratories to make studies and undertake research in medicine, surgery, hygiene, preventive medicine, technology, pure science, agriculture, legistics, and the great field of public relations. We will need such training, whether we are among our friends or our enemies in the world of the future. This is no time for us to stand still." (Close quote.)

To make these scholarships effective the Governor's budget carries a recommended appropriation for 1945-47 of $1,675,000. However, his program in regard to the scholarships, as stated above, differs from the program of the Association of College Presidents. The College Presidents want the scholarships at an under-graduate level, whereas, the Governor's recommendation, I quote, "to make studies and undertake research in medicine, surgery, hygiene, preventive medicine, technology, pure science, agriculture, legistics, and in the great field of public relations," is at the graduate level. If the State is to assume the functions of higher education, I am in favor of the Governor's plan. It would make it possible for young people of limited financial means to enter the professions and I would suggest that the Governor's program be extended to include the graduate fields of engineering, law, and education. Later I shall offer a program for higher education at the under-graduate level.

The Association of College Presidents recognizes that under the constitution of the Commonwealth it would be unlawful to grant the scholarships directly to the member colleges and universities of the Association, but to protect their own selfish interests, they propose to place a limitation upon the use of the scholarships. I quote, "to cover charges for tuition and for fees regularly charged to students, but not to include board or room, social activity, and intercollegiate athletics." As the sole objective of the scholarship system, so say the College Presidents, is the equalization of education opportunity at the college level by giving worthy high school graduates of limited financial means the opportunity of obtaining a college education, should not these worthy high school graduates have the privilege of using the scholarship award, which is made directly to them, to defray any of the expenses incident to their college attendance, including board or room, social activities, and intercollegiate athletics? Certainly, these worthy high school graduates will have to eat and sleep. Also it is recognized by educators, if not by College Presidents, that the extra-curricular program, including social activities, health education, and intercollegiate athletics is just as important as the academic program.

The award of scholarships, without a limitation as to need, will not accomplish the stated aim of the College Presidents—the equalization of educational opportunity at the college level. Reports to the Department of Public Instruction show that as of October 1, 1938, a normal pre-war year, 52,694 full time students were enrolled in 54 of the 56 member colleges and universities of the Association. (Enrollment figures are not available for two of the member institutions.) I am confident that if the proposed scholarship system, without a limitation as to need, had been in effect for a period of four years or more as of October 1, 1938, at least 85% of the 6,000 current scholarships would have been awarded to full time students included in the total enrollment of 52,694. In other words, 85% of the competitive scholarships, without a limitation as to need qualification, would go to students who normally would be able to meet their own college expenses. When a qualification of need is included, the scholarship system becomes "class" legislation, and is unconstitutional.

As proposed by this Association, the scholarships are to be awarded without discrimination as to race, color, or creed, but the winners of the scholarships must be acceptable to the college. Please note the limitation, I quote, "the winners of the scholarships must be acceptable to the college." Look over the list of member institutions, and name the ones in which a colored boy or girl would be acceptable.

In regard to the proposal by the College Presidents—all regulations concerning the granting, retention and termination of the scholarships and general standards are to be determined by the State Council of Education. I am opposed. More Bureaucracy. Again, I say, the power of government must be retained by the direct representatives of the people—the Governor, his Executive Departments, and the Legislature.

Let us now consider the proposal of this Association that the fourteen State Teachers Colleges be consolidated into six and that these six "be made pre-eminent among the teacher training institutions in the country," and the statement by the Association, I quote, "This part of the program of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania is definitely an economy measure."

The College Presidents assume that six Teachers Colleges "pre-eminent among teacher training institutions in the country," can be operated at one half the cost to the State of the present fourteen colleges; thereby effecting a saving to the State of $1,000,000 per year or $2,000,000 per biennium, and in the same breath they propose to use these savings of $1,000,000 per year or $2,000,000 per biennium and take from State funds $3,000,000 per year or $6,000,000 per biennium to establish a system of scholarships to be limited to use at their member institutions. The assumption that six Teachers Colleges can be operated and maintained at one-half the cost to the State as the present fourteen is incorrect. What about necessary capital expenditures for the six which are to be retained for additional buildings, grounds, and equipment to provide for increased enrollments? Also, keep in mind, the proposal of the College Presidents, that the other eight colleges, not used for teacher training, are to be used for vocational, welfare, and other public needs. The necessary capital expenditures entailed in such conversions would amount to millions and the maintenance and operating costs of such institutions would be more than double similar costs for teacher training institutions. What an economy measure!

While speaking of consolidation and economy, I would suggest that some of the independent colleges with sectarian backgrounds of control and management give consideration to such matters. Possibly, the General Synod of the Reformed Church would consider a recommendation that Cedar Crest College, Franklin and Marshall College, and Ursinus College, with enrollments in 1943 of 333, 144, and 324 respectively be consolidated into one college, which would be pre-eminent among the Church's colleges in the country, and at the same time effect a considerable reduction by the Synod in educational apportionments to the member congregations and that such savings be applied as salary increases for the ministers. I could, of course, cite other opportunities for consolidation and economy among the other independent colleges of Pennsylvania with sectarian backgrounds of control and management.

However, let us analyze the terrific expense imposed upon the Commonwealth through the maintenance and operation of the fourteen State Teachers Colleges. Of the 4,140,000 of State funds used by the fourteen Teachers Colleges during 1941-1943, $2,012,000 was used during 1941-42, the first year of the biennium. This represents an annual per capita expenditure for every man, woman, and child in the Commonwealth of $.203. Will an annual per capita tax expenditure of $.203 upon each citizen by the Commonwealth for the support of her teacher training institutions bring the grand, old Keystone State to bankruptcy? Certainly not, and I am not the one who is being ridiculous in advancing such an assumption. Also, statistics compiled by the U. S. Office of Education for 1942-43 show that Pennsylvania ranks 36th among the 48 states as to the number of teachers colleges per unit of population. This does not indicate that we have too many Teachers Colleges. Furthermore, reports furnished the Department of Public Instruction show that the drop in enrollments in the independent colleges from 1938 to 1943 have been greater than in the Teachers Colleges—49.5% compared to 42.80%.

Funds for the operation and maintenance of the independent colleges, not including the five State-aided colleges and universities, come from these sources—student fees, gifts, and returns from endowment funds. Funds for the operation and maintenance of the State Teachers Colleges come from students fees and State appropriations. State appropriations represent taxes taken from the people and returned to them in the way of free education. Likewise, gifts and endowments used by the independent colleges for their operation and maintenance represent excess profits or earnings which are returned to the people as free education through the colleges, but upon restrictions and limitations imposed by the colleges. All money comes from the people, whether through taxes, gifts, or endowments. Excess profits or earnings represented by gifts and endowments come from the people just as directly as do taxes. Therefore, I do not agree with the statement of this Association that their member institutions render certain services to the Commonwealth without any cost whatsoever to the taxpayer.

I do agree with the college presidents that in normal times, the colleges of the State, including both the Independent and State-owned institutions, are producing more young people certified to teach than are needed by the public schools of the Commonwealth. I also agree that our need is for better teachers and not more teachers. However, I believe, in fairness to our boys and girls and their parents, that the training of teachers for our Public Schools should be restricted to our State-owned institutions and those independent colleges without a background of sectarian control and management. In this connection, I quote from an address by one of America's outstanding educators—

"If the public schools are to belong to the people and to reflect their will, the source of supply for teachers must be free from the contamination of special interests, whether of religious creed, social stratum, economic opinion, or class prejudice. The State must be free, through institutions wholly State-owned and State controlled, to set patterns for the preparation of its teachers."

Let us examine the present situation and future prospects of the 44 independent colleges and universities in Pennsylvania having backgrounds of sectarian control and management. Under our present system of taxation all excess profits and earnings are taken at their source by the Federal government. Therefore, these institutions do not have very bright prospects of increasing their endowment funds or of receiving substantial gifts for operating and maintenance expenses, to say nothing of new buildings and campus extensions. Furthermore, the return on invested funds is now in a diminishing cycle, which means that the current endowment funds of these 44 institutions will not produce as much income as they have in the past. In other words, if these institutions are to continue, it will be necessary for them to increase their enrollments and charges to students or receive subsidies directly from government—either Federal or State, or in the form of State or Federal scholarships. To attain these objectives, The Association proposes the system of four year scholarships, and the closing of eight of the fourteen Teachers Colleges, hoping for an increase in their own enrollments. If these proposals are not attained, the colleges may, over the next ten years, receive some relief from their financial pressures through the educational section of the Federal G. I. Bill of Rights.

If we have decided that education at the college level, like elementary and secondary education, is the function of the State, we, the direct representatives of the people, must decide how education at the college level is to be administered. Toward this end, I propose that the functions of the State Teachers College be extended to include, not only teacher training, but all college work at the under-graduate level.

Certainly nothing has been more conclusive to us in the past four trying years than the actual demonstration and experience that our boys need training to do things—vocational training of the most practical sort. When the shadows of war appeared in 1939 our whole scheme of education had to be discarded over night and the practical purposes of vocational training had to be quickly and universally adopted in order for us to save our individual and national way of life. Might I suggest that it was only through the versatility and ingenuity of American youth that the change could be bought about so quickly, and yet clearly demonstrated on the field of battle is the fact that the better physically and vocationally trained, the fewer casualties.

I also propose that the contingent or tuition fee of approximately $100 per year now charged against each student in the State Teachers Colleges be abolished, leaving only the charges for board and room, necessary textbooks and instructional supplies to be paid by the student, and that the present system of opportunities for part-time employment of the students by the colleges be extended. I further propose that the system of scholarships as recommended by the Governor to cover work in the graduate schools of the Commonwealth be instituted effective with the college year 1945-46. These proposals would assure every boy and girl, or man and woman, irrespective of race, color, creed, or economic status the opportunity to secure a college education at both the under-graduate and graduate levels, without any acceptance limitations by the colleges, except as to moral character and graduation from a State accredited high school or equivalent training and experience.

My proposal will extend the public school system to include education at the undergraduate level, for the Teachers Colleges, as per Article XX, Section 2002, are a part of the public school system of the Commonwealth. Through their geographical locations, plants, equipment, and professional personnel, these institutions are fully qualified and hold the proper accreditments to assume these added responsibilities with the opening of the 1945-46 college year.

It is not generally known that during the past decade through the General State Authority and the Department of Property and Supplies, the Commonwealth has invested over $10,000,000 on the campuses of the State Teachers Colleges for new buildings and equipment. Furthermore, the professional personnel of the colleges are outstanding men and women in their special fields. Salaries for this personnel are determined by the Executive Board of the Commonwealth and they are at such levels as to attract the best.

These colleges are the peoples colleges as they are entirely State owned, operated, and controlled. Their perpetuation and extension of responsibilities in the field of higher education will be an assurance to the people of the Commonwealth that public education is to continue in the hands of their direct representatives, the Governor and the members of the General Assembly. The perils of our times are just as great as those of Lincoln's. Through our system of public education, we must prepare—"GOVERNMENT OF, BY, AND FOR THE PEOPLE."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, back in the city of Pittsburgh, the capital of the Great State of Allegheny, we have emanating over the air waves each Sunday night a very interesting and instructive program. When the orator wants to have an assent from his audience he says "may I have an Amen"?

Senator Wade, you have my Amen. I think that was one of the most scholarly presentations of one of the great problems of this Commonwealth I have ever heard in this Senate since I have been a members. You have given me so much material for thought, that the remarks I make will be very brief, but I certainly would like the privilege at some later date to discuss them.

This communication, which was sent by the president of the colleges, to all the members of the legislature, was received by me. I presented a resolution in the Senate which would have authorized a legislative education commission to make a study of the state teachers' colleges and present the true facts as to their necessity or lack of necessity in our educational system to the members of the Legislature. Unfortunately, at that time the news services labeled their stories "Cox from Allegheny County attacks state teachers' colleges." Since then I have been deluged with letters, and I have had many visits from representatives from the various state teachers' colleges, from all over the state, because they thought I was their enemy instead of their friend. I want to at this time rectify that misunderstanding.

On the basis of experience, I believe that the state teachers' college is one of the most important of our state institutions. They are psychologically sound; they are practical; they train people to do a specific job, and that job is teaching; they take advantage of all the increase in our psychological knowledge or methods of teaching; they properly equip the people they teach; and our public schools in Pennsylvania today are much better because of the fine training these boys and girls have received.

Senator Wade, in his remarks, indicated that legislatively he was going to try to do something about the ideas which he proposed relative to this fundamental proposition, that we, as a great state, should afford to every boy and girl living in this state an opportunity for a secondary education if the boy or girl has the ability. I have always felt that was one of the obligations of a state, the obligation to use the intelligence of its youth, to properly train it so that it could take part in the obligations which every citizen bears to society.

The matter of scholarships to me is an interesting one. Senator Wade has pointed out that the cost of scholarships as requested by the state colleges in one year would more than exceed the entire cost of operating the entire system of state colleges. In his scholarly study he went to the trouble of indicating certain denominational groups which had a series of colleges in the state; he indicated the smallness of its membership, and made the pertinent suggestion it would be a good thing if that denomination would consolidate its position by taking all the schools and having one big school.

This has always been the principle of our government. We have always believed that there must be a separation of church and the state. I do not think that there is a man in this room who would not agree to that fundamental proposition. It would seem an innocuous thing for the state in the form of scholarships to subsidize the various demonational schools of this Commonwealth.

Senator Wade pointed out another pertinent fact. We have an obligation, when we spend public moneys, to ascertain the manner in which it is being spent and to direct that manner, and if we are going to set up a fund of $6,000,000 a year to endow the colleges of this state, certainly we must have some direction over the manner in which that money is spent. The minute that happens, of course, you run into difficulties in this matter of the separation of the church and the state.

I have an eighteen-year-old daughter, and this year it was my duty to try to find a proper school to which to send her. For the period of a year and a half we wrote to many schools all over this country and we got catalogs and sat down and tried to find a place we thought this youngster might fit in. To me it was an amazing thing for the colleges of this country to be as far behind the times as they are today. Their limited courses of study, their impracticability, the inability on the part of the universities, which certainly affects the future course and the trends of this country, is indicated in their courses of study.

In education we can not think of today alone; we must think of the future. It is not sufficient to give a person a fine cultural education, to finish a girl so that she has charm, poise and grace; it is necessary that we teach people how to live and that we give them an education, and with the increasing complexity of life, the colleges of this country are more important than they have ever been in its history.

Senator Wade, I personally feel indebted to you for the fine job you did, and I say that with all sincerity. I agree with you one million per cent. It is our obligation as a great state to afford secondary educational opportunities to the boys and girls of this state. Senator Wade, I am sorry, although I can understand the reason, you did not go into the proposition which confronts us, with our own public school system.

We set up an educational commission, and as I have indicated on the floor of this Senate many times, they have done an able and excellent job, but that educational commission is handicapped because of the fact that appointments to the commission were so late and the period of time which they have had to study the problem of education in Pennsylvania has been too small to be complete, so that a proper report and survey of the entire educational system in Pennsylvania could be presented to us.

This is only the beginning of this study, and I certainly hope that the members of this Legislature realize the fine job they have done and give them a sufficient appropriation so that they can continue, because the study of education is not a thing to be terminated in 1945, but must go on.

One of the things that we have faced since I have been in the Senate, and you men who have had longer tenure have had also to face, is this question as to what to do with the school teachers of this Commonwealth.

When we sit down and compare the remuneration they receive with the remuneration received by people in other vocations or other professions, we can readily understand that we can not attract to the teaching profession the best brains of our state, and those that we do attract, we can understand why they leave.

In the Education Committee in the House repose certain bills which would set up a salary schedule for teachers. One of the matters that we have talked so much about is this question of equalization of salaries. I have not introduced a bill to do this because, frankly, I do not know how to do it, but I can tell you this: there is no reason in the world that a teacher from Pittsburgh should have an average salary as I understand this is the average salary—of $3,000 and by a mandated salary enacted by this Legislature we say that the top for teachers in fourth-class districts is $1,200. To me the proposition just does not make sense.

When we consider this proposition of equalization of teachers' salaries and increasing them, we also have to face and consider this problem, that with real estate so heavily burdened by taxation today, if we mandate increases in salary we have got to find the money to pay for it out of the funds of this Commonwealth. We can propose no more added burden on the real estate owner.

When this war is over we are going to face something. What it is I do not know. Frankly, I am fearful. You can not upset the social institutions of the world, the economic theory of the world, you can not uproot people from conditions and ideals, and then have people return to their homes and have them live as they once did. There is going to be a change, and that change has to be directed, and that is one of the obligations of a legislative body.

I certainly hope that within the next two weeks, Senator Homsher, your committee can offer this Senate a legislative program that will function and which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can afford to pay for, and I hope you give serious consideration to the suggestion of Senator Wade from Cumberland, that we go farther than simply having a public school system of twelve grades and fourteen normal schools, and that we make it possible that we have great state universities, so that every boy and girl of this Commonwealth will have an opportunity for an education if he or she has the ability or is desirous.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. I desire to extend my congratulations to the two gentlemen who have just preceded me, at this time, and say amen to what they have said concerning the entire matter of education in the state of Pennsylvania. I know nothing in all my experience in this Commonwealth that has raised so much of a spirit of antagonism as the proposals of the liberal arts college presidents of this state. I have accumulated a mass of information and data, which I do not propose to use at this time, but I wish to reserve same for some future time, if necessary, to speak on this subject. Therefore I yield the floor at the present time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. I would like to make just a few remarks in connection with the subject of the liberal arts colleges, or to one part of the statement of my colleague, Senator Cox, in which he again evidenced today in this Session, as he has in former Sessions, an intense interest in connection with the salaries of school teachers and trying to make better our educational scheme in the Commonwealth, but of course he finished up by stating, as is usually the case, that while we are very much interested in this subject, in order to do the proper kind of a job, money must be found by the Commonwealth with which to do it.

I think I have the answer to his problem and at this time I want to make a suggestion to him, and if possible get his cooperation, in solving this most serious problem. I find that in 1944 the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or the citizens and corporations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will have paid to the federal government $2,731,000,000 in income taxes.

We have had a good many statements made, principally by our colleagues on the other side of this Chamber, that the Commonwealth should return a greater part of the motor license tax, the liquor tax and things of that kind, back to the communities, to the people who have actually paid the taxes.

I am proposing that the Federal Government return to the states of this country just five per cent, not a big proportion, five per cent of the money which they collect from the various individuals and companies in those states.

What would that mean? In Pennsylvania, if the Federal Government returned five per cent of the income tax which it collects, we would receive $136,550,000 in a year.

According to the report of this school commission which the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, spoke of, during the biennium of 1941-43—which I understand are the last available figures to that commission—the entire cost of education in Pennsylvania, public costs, taking in school districts, cities, counties, townships, as well as the Commonwealth, was $452,841,000, making the cost per year $226,420,500.

If, in addition to the return of this five per cent from the Federal Government, we were to impose in this state a sales tax at the rate of three per cent, for the specific purpose of paying the cost of education, we would receive from that three per cent sales tax $90,000,000 per year.

$90,000,000, added to the $136,550,000 from the Federal Government, gives us $226,550,000. The total cost of education in this state is $226,420,500.

That means simply this: we hear talk here about the terrific burden on the home owner and those who pay real estate taxes, and I agree with that; I think the home owner—I am particularly concerned about the small home owner—is entitled to some relief, and I think for years and years he has been paying a much greater share of the burden and cost of education, as well as other sections of government, than that to which he is entitled, but all of the proposals we have heard, such as some return of the gross receipts tax, some part of the gasoline tax or the liquor tax, would only be, to put it in common words, a drop in the bucket, in so far as relief of the real estate tax payer is concerned.

If my colleague, Senator Cox, would join with me in a resolution and co-sponsor, with me a resolution memorializing Congress to make this return, and would also co-sponsor with me a bill for a sales tax at three per cent, just think what it would do. It could entirely eliminate all of the school taxes now imposed on real estate and that, Mr. President, is exclusive of the approximately $140,000,000 to $145,000,000 which the Commonwealth is now paying for educational purposes.

In other words, Mr. President, we could have entire relief to the home owners from the school tax, we could have the entire cost of public education paid, and we would have left that which the Commonwealth is now paying, some $140,000,000 to $145,000,000, with which we could make those adjustments which many of us think are necessary to be made and should be made so that our school teachers could receive proper remuneration for the services which they render.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, it is very gratifying to me to see the interest of the members of the Senate in this matter. It seems to me that this session today has been very much worth while. The ideas of the Senator are important and certainly will receive very careful consideration from me.

There are many tax ideas which have been tried in this Commonwealth. For instance, since I have been her, each session a bill is introduced in the Senate to terminate the graduated income tax in Pennsylvania. I personally think that is a good idea.

I do not know whether the government of the United States is in a position to return five per cent of the income received from the citizens of this state in the form of income tax or not; five percent is rather a large figure. It would be rather an unusual thing for a governmental body to have an excess of five per cent. The theory of government is only to levy sufficient taxes to supply funds for the purpose for which we need them. Perhaps that is the case as far as the Federal Government is concerned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, when my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox, says he does not know whether the Federal Government is in a position to make a return of the five per cent or not, five per cent of course, in so far as Pennsylvania is concerned is $136,000,000.

I noticed in the paper within the last couple of days an article by Peter Edson, who, I understand, is one of the Washington columnists for the newspapers, in which he speaks of the interests of Henry Kaiser, Andrew Jackson Higgins, and R. S. Reynolds—as he terms them, the big three of New Deal businessmen, and who have, by the way, come out openly for Henry Wallace as Secretary of Commerce—and he states that those three individuals have received from the government loans aggregating $400,000,000. He says that Mr. Kaiser received $141,000,000 for two plants, on which he has paid back to the government the magnificent sum of $5,000,000.

He also says that Mr. Kaiser, in addition, received $130,000,000 through the Maritime Commission and then, in so far as Mr. Higgins is concerned, just one little item he received was $39,000,000 for the Higgins dream of an assembly line to produce liberty ships. The contract was canceled after these expenditures were made and not a single Liberty ship was launched from this yard.

It seems to me when you have figures of that kind, and a situation existing as we have now in Washington, that in order to completely pay for the cost of public education in the United States of America, all that you need would be a little less favoritism on the part of the New Deal at Washington to their favored friends, in the amount of millions, these hundreds of millions of dollars, and a little more careful management, so that instead of lining the pockets of New Deal favorites we could properly and entirely pay for the cost of education of the children of this nation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. I want to draw to the attention of the Senate, and also to the very able gentleman from Allegheny, that in the Congress of the United States, where I happened to be honored to be a member of the Education Committee, a bill is now in there to do exactly what the gentleman wants to do with the educational system of Pennsylvania. His party has always opposed any aid from the Federal Government for education.

In the letters that I received from people while a member of this committee, I took the trouble of looking up who they were, and I found in practically all cases those who opposed Federal aid for education in Pennsylvania were members very active in the party to which the gentleman from Allegheny belongs.

I would like also to point out to the gentleman from Allegheny county that there is a war on right now. In fact, all the money being used to pay income taxes was made from munitions. I would like also to point out that the Navy and Army have a lot to say about how they are going to produce those things. If the gentleman read further in the Edson column—I too read it—he said there were bound to be a lot of errors in war production because we did a miraculous job in this war, we produced hundreds of thousands of planes in a year, and I think the leader of the Republican party, who ran for president, professed that we could at the most produce only fifty thousand planes a year.

Our ships are carrying munitions of war to all the ports of the world. We are firing guns this time, Mr. Geltz; American artillery is firing guns made in America, and on the Russian front and the China front, and all the countries of the world on our side, fire guns made in America. Compare this result with World War One record and you will find it is an absolute miracle what we have done.

I do hope and would be very glad to join with the gentleman from Allegheny county in a resolution memorializing the Federal Government to give us Federal aid to schools which he speaks about, and I know it will be forthcoming if his party stops making objections to the Congress of the United States.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, in his speech, forgot to mention that these loans were secured through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and through Mr. Jesse Jones, who is allied with the anti-administration Southern Democrats and the Northern Republicans, and since the administration has taken over, in January, the RFC has been separated from the Department of Commerce, of which I think he is well aware, and Mr. Jones has been sitting on the side lines for his antics such as he just described.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Just so we keep the record straight, Mr. President, my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Holland, said that Peter Edson said something about a miraculous job which has been performed in this war. I will suggest to the gentleman that he read the article again and he will find nowhere in that article the word miraculous, but he will find these concluding words. "Without belittling their actual accomplishments in the least it will be possible for the historians to record that they made mistakes just like everybody else, (but here is the catch) and the taxpayers of the future will foot the bill."

Now, Mr. President, in answer to that part of Senator Holland's statement that the New Deal is in favor of doing what I said and that the Republicans have been holding it back, that, of course, is another misstatement, but we are used to these misstatements now. If Mr. Holland had told the real truth of the situation in so far as that federal bill on education is concerned, he would have told that tied up with the proposed appropriation is a federal superintendent of education and he knows, just as I know, that the thing that the people of this country are resenting is that the federal government wants to try to get control of our educational system, just as they have of practically everything else in this great country of ours. and that, Mr. President, I would not go along with and would fight as long as there was any fight left in me.

What I am suggesting is that the federal government would be in reality a mere tax collector for the amount I suggest be returned to the various states of this country, but that those amounts be given to the state without the usual red tape and strings which have been attached to every appropriation that the New Deal has made to any of the states of this country or any of its subdivision.

We are fed up with centralization, we are fed up with bureaucracy, and certainly my proposition would not include any further centralization. I am suggesting, and I am asking any one on the other side to co-sponsor with me, a resolution to the New Deal Government to return only five per cent of what is rightfully ours without any strings attached to it whatsoever.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. The gentleman from Allegheny County is in error when he says that the federal government is going to dictate what will be taught in the schools. The Federal government only asks that the standard of schools shall be the same in every state and that regardless of race, creed or color, those people shall have the same opportunity of education.

I think the best place to start making these examples is at home. Here is the best place in the world to give an example to the federal government on how government should be run.

I would like to join with him on the fee office that has cost the taxpayers of Allegheny County half a million dollars. In addition to that we pay for the rent and the heat and the light and so forth.

This, Mr. Geltz, is an example we should give. In other words, we are taking from local taxpayers gasoline money, and money from the poor little real estate owner to pay for maintaining streets.

While on the floor today I have just heard that there has been an agreement made between the railroads and the big truckers so that they will agree on the weight of trucks and I say I will vote for a bill on the weight of trucks, provided before this bill passes the state returns back to the cities, and boroughs and townships, their fair proportion of this gasoline tax to fix the streets.

Here is a fine place, Mr. Geltz, to show an example to the federal government. You yesterday opposed the return of the gross receipts tax to the local municipalities which give service to the utilities. Let us use that as an example to the federal government on how the federal government should be run.

I will go along with you on all of these improvements, if we first start in Pennsylvania to build up a perfect government because, Mr. Geltz, you will have to agree with me that real estate back home is paying many bills that the state government is receiving income on—gasoline tax, drivers' licenses, owners' licenses, all the fee offices of Allegheny County. Why should anyone who has a home pay $1,500,000 for Juvenile Courts, like in Pennsylvania? Why pay for hospitalization because a man owns a home? Are you going to penalize a good American citizen who builds a home? Regardless of what anyone says, what made America was the man who built a home, and I can cite to you the old people—your grandfather and my grandfather came here and they built homes and became permanent citizens, but we are doing everything we can, Mr. Geltz, to discourage them. I will join with you to put in Pennsylvania an example of the kind of government that should be had, where people locally shall receive benefits of taxation and after you have put out such examples then, Mr. Geltz, I will be glad to go with you and lobby at my own expense in Washington to sell the same idea to the federal government.

In conclusion I want to point out just one thing to you. On Monday of this week the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh passed a resolution asking that this Assembly would not oppose the Ohio River Valley Compact. You talk about state rights—let us talk about states rights—you and I know the Ohio River Valley Compact is the first responsibility of one state to another.

These are the issues. We must accept state responsibility first and then let us talk about state rights, but if it were not for the federal government we would never have had flood control in Pennsylvania.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 5, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord and to praise Thy name, O Most High." So sang the long-ago worshippers of the same God to whom we offer our thanks today. May our thanks be as sincere as theirs and as gratefully expressed. They should be, for greater have been the gifts of God to us than to any nation that has preceded us; therefore greater should be our gratitude, not to be expressed in words only, but in deeds of kindness to the less favored.

We pray now for the unfortunate poor of our state, for the handicapped in body and mind, for the helpless aged, and for the needy children, especially for the victims of war.

Grant us, O God, the vision of a world at peace and the character and courage as a nation to make the vision a reality. To be given the opportunity to advance to kingdom of God among men and to refuse it will place a stigma on our national escutcheon and impose a heavy penalty on our children.

Open our ears to the demands of God for righteousness. Neither regrets nor failures will follow that obedience.

For the President, the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, and for all in authority we pray. In the name of Christ the Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. WALKER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX, Mr. President, last week a thing happened in this Senate which has happened ever since I have been in the Senate, concerning the question of amendment of bills. Last week we attempted to amend a bill on second reading. Twelve members of this Senate had to vote "Present" because they did not understand the amendments.

In order to try to prevent that happening in the future, I am going to make a motion to amend Rule 17 of the Senate rules.

After the amendment, the rule would provide as follows:

"Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in open Senate. No amendment shall be considered unless a printed, typed, or mimeographed copy of such amendment is placed on the desk of each member of the Senate, one day prior to the day on which such amendment is considered, provided, however, that this provision may be waived, if unanimous consent is secured."

This is the section of Rule 17 which I seek to amend.

MOTION THAT RULE 17 BE AMENDED

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I move at this time that Rule 17 be amended to read as follows:

"17. Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in open Senate. (All amendments thereto shall be printed and laid on the desks of Senators before the final vote is taken on the bill.) No amendment shall be considered unless a printed, typed or mimeographed copy of such amendment is placed on the desk of each member of the Senate, one day prior to the day on which such amendment is considered, provided, however, that this provision may be waived, if unanimous consent is secured. No amendments shall be permitted to a bill on third reading except by unanimous consent. The final vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and the names of the persons voting for and against the same shall be entered on the Journal. No bill shall be declared passed, or signed by the President unless a majority of all the Senators elected to the Senate shall be recorded as voting for the same."

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, in seconding the motion made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, I do not think it is necessary, hardly, to call the attention of the members of the Senate to the fact that only last week, on one of our bills which was sought to be amended, there were at least twelve members of the Senate who were compelled to vote "Present" and not vote "Nay" because they could not intelligently vote on the amendments.

The matter of passing upon amendments is in many respects more difficult than passing upon the bill itself, because of amendments being drawn in such fashion that they require considerable study.

I therefore think this is a very meritorious motion and I am eager to second it.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE ON RULES

Mr. HEYBURN. In order that the members of the Senate may properly consider this motion to amend Rule 17, I move that it be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. TALLYOR. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Can the gentleman from Delaware assure me that we will have an opportunity of voting on this particular rule, as amended, if this matter is referred to the Committee on Rules?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I cannot answer for a committee—I do not think that would be proper—but I can assure the gentleman that the matter will be considered by the committee.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COX. Mr. President, in view of the Majority Leader's answer, I raise the point of order that his motion is out of order. My motion, of course, takes precedence. This is not a resolution but simply a motion to amend a rule, which has been seconded, and I ask for immediate consideration of the motion and request a roll call. This is not a new matter before the Senate, as it has been presented before.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules against the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, on the point of order. Senate Rule No. 9 gives the order of priority of motions, and if the gentleman from Allegheny will look at Rule 9, pages 8 and 9 of the Pennsylvania Legislative Directory, Senate Rules, he will find that a motion to commit takes precedence by one over a motion to amend.

Mr. COX. What rule is that, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. Rule No. 9, page 8 of the Pennsylvania Legislative Directory.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the Chair is ruling on a motion. I do not think any motion can be sent to a committee, if the Chair will again read that rule.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the point I want to make is that the rules of the Senate can not be amended except by resolution; it seems to me the Senate must resolve that a rule shall be amended.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a few minutes until we make certain on this point?

(The Senate was at ease.)

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw my objection to this motion being referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion that the amendment to Rule 17 be referred to the Committee on Rules?

It was agreed to.

REPORT ON GENERAL ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT
RESOLUTION NUMBER 14, SESSION OF 1943

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have here a report from Mr. John U. Shroyer, Secretary of Highways, dated March 5, 1945, which I shall read for the information of the members of the Senate, and then I shall request that it be spread upon the Legislative Record.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the gentleman from Cumberland is granted.

"March 5, 1945

"Members of The Senate and
House of Representatives,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg.

"Gentlemen:

"Pursuant to Concurrent Resolution No. 14, passed by the 1943 General Assembly, I wish to submit the following report:

"Upon receipt of this Resolution I immediately made a survey of all toll bridges within the Commonwealth, and upon completion of a personal visit to the various bridges, I engaged the services of a competent engineer to make valuation studies. This engineer gave me a detailed report dealing with the physical value, depreciation, and cost of reproduction of the various toll bridges. A survey has been made also of the capacity of each bridge to carry the traffic that is normally expected after the close of the war.

"I have also made a study of the financial features which would be involved in handling the acquisition of existing toll bridges for the reason that under existing legislation the bridges would not be free bridges when the State took them over. Should I have followed existing legislation it would have been necessary to issue bonds, payable from tolls collected over a long term of years. Under normal expectations it would have required the collection of tolls on all the bridges for approximately twenty-one years.

"Under my direction a plan has been developed by which toll bridges within the Commonwealth can be acquired without any undue hardship on the taxpayers, and they will be freed immediately upon acquisition. A bill has been prepared that will meet all requirements to carry out the desires of the citizens of the Commonwealth. This bill, when introduced in the Legislature, provides my answer to Concurrent Resolution No. 14.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN U. SHROYER,
Secretary of Highways."

EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

A motion was made by Mr. EALY and Mr. GELTZ,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of considering the nomination of His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which was laid on the table last week.

The motion was agreed to.

The Clerk read the nomination as follows:

JUDGE OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF THE FIFTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 28, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate William A. Challener, Sr., 455 South Graham Street, Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, for appointment as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the Fifth Judicial District, composed of the County of Allegheny, until the first Monday of January, 1946, vice W. Heber Dithrich, resigned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. EALY and Mr. GELTZ,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nomination.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not rise in order to oppose this nomination. I am well acquainted with Mr. Challener, and he is a splendid gentleman, but I think the members of the Senate and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should know just what is happening. Mr. Challener, who has been nominated to be a Judge, is 78 years of age. As part of a political deal that is being made in Allegheny County Mr. Challener will not run for re-election.

Several months ago the supposedly independent district attorney of Allegheny County, I understand, was offered this judgeship. He at that time issued a public statement in which he said that he was elected for a four-year term as district attorney and would serve out his time.

Several weeks later he was called to the Capitol and, with the Republican Leader from Allegheny County and the Governor of the State, he was given orders—in other words, the independent district attorney is taking orders: he had said that he will be a candidate for judge but will not resign his job as district attorney. In other words, he wants to run for judge, using the powers of the office of district attorney, and then, if the electorate of Allegheny County turns him down, he will pull another Arthur James and have a job to go to.

I rise to make this statement because I think when there is a political deal made in regard to judges in the Commonwealth, not only the members of the Senate should know but also the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. I will.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, does my colleague, Senator Barr, have any objection to or criticism of the ability of either Mr. Challener or District Attorney Adams?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think Judge Challener—he will be a Judge—will make a very able Judge, although he has always been a defense attorney. I do not know how he will be as a Judge but we all know the people he represented, and as a defense attorney his ability was rated second to none in Allegheny County.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, will my colleague from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. BARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, will Judge Challener serve an equally long term as any other person who would have been appointed to that position, providing he lives?

Mr. BARR. He will serve until next January, but he is not a candidate for re-election.

Mr. GELTZ. Could any other person serve longer than next January, Mr. President?

Mr. BARR. Mr. Adams would, if he ran and was elected—but he is afraid to take a chance to take the appointment and resign the district attorneyship.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the question I am asking is whether any other person, appointed to this vacancy, would serve a longer term than Judge Challener will serve.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that is a ridiculous question. The appointment is only until January, as was read by the clerk, because that is when the term expires.

Mr. GELTZ. Then, Mr. President, may I ask what is the objection to the appointment of Judge Challener to the vacancy?

Mr. BARR. When I arose, Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, was listening, I said I did not rise to voice any protest against the appointment of Judge Challener, whom I know as a very able and very fine citizen, and a member of my Senatorial District, but I did want to tell the people of Allegheny County, and I want to tell the electorate of Pennsylvania and members of the Senate, of the political deal that was made with regard to this judgeship.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to very briefly comment on a couple of statements made by my colleague from Allegheny County, Senator Barr. First, he pointed out very carefully that our District Attorney, Mr. Adams, made a statement he would not run for office, and that, of course, is a peculiar phrase. I remember one time when a very distinguished citizen of the United States, who occupies the highest office that the people of this great Republic can bestow, made the same statement, in 1941, that he would not run. I think we have become accustomed to that.

May I say this, too, Mr. President, they are talking about deals in judgeships and back in Allegheny County a statement like that amuses us because those who control appointments to Federal Judgeships have been having a terrific time trying to find a place in which they can drop the present Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, so that they will not be obliged to have him as a Democratic nominee this year.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not quite get the connection about Federal Judgeships and the mayor of Pittsburgh. Would the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, kindly repeat his statement?

Mr. WALKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, want it read from the record or will he take my recollection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I will take the recollection of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as nearly as I can rephrase it, I said the expression made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, to the effect that we were dealing in judgeships, was viewed with some amusement, because back in Allegheny County we have been deeply interested in those who have appointing power on Federal Judgeships scrambling around with the few judgeships that are due us in Pennsylvania, so that they can find a place to drop the present mayor of the City of Pittsburgh and make a Federal Judge out of him, so that they will not be obliged to run him as a Democratic nominee for mayor this year.

That is as close as I can requote what I said—I think it sounded a lot better the first time, but I am not a judge of that.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, said there was a great deal of amusement; I say there is a great deal of chagrin.

Secondly, Mr. President, to fill the only Federal Judgeship vacant in the western end of the State, as I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, well knows, the name of John O'Connell, County Solicitor of Allegheny County, has been presented, and if the gentleman from Allegheny County reads the newspapers he would know that.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Klein,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Ealy	Leader,	Tallman,

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I feel so strongly that this is unwise legislation that I am constrained to make a statement about it.

Two years ago, when this resolution was first before us, I expressed my views on the same. I have not changed my opinion.

I am willing to submit to the better judgment of others on matters when I know them to have more knowledge or information on the subject, or where fundamental principles are not involved, but I can not vote one way today and another tomorrow, unless sound arguments are given to cause me to change my attitude. A provision of our Constitution, which was first adopted with good reason and which has proved beneficial for 170 years, should not be changed merely for the reason that a selfish group wishes it to be changed. The only persons who are lobbying for this resolution are the sheriffs themselves.

If this resolution is passed by this Legislature and approved by the people who vote thereon, we may then expect county treasurers to seek to succeed themselves. Later a similar resolution will be tried with respect to the Executive of the Commonwealth. This will result in the Legislative branch becoming more dependent on the Executive than it is at present.

It is true that other states permit governors to succeed themselves, but in those states many safeguards are provided to prevent complete domination by them.

When a nation begins to depart from the sound principles of government upon which it was founded, the disintegration does not take place all at once, but here and there a group, considering their own self-interests, knock away the bulwarks of freedom and order and good government until finally the whole structure collapses. The last prop could not be pulled away had not the others been removed previously.

I have no hope of defeating this resolution. But when, perhaps, some future inquiring person will seek to find why such a salutary provision of our Constitution was changed, I should like him to read that it was only due to the selfish desires of an office-holding group who are willing to put their personal ambitions above the larger welfare of the state. I am hoping that my views may defer to some extent other and more violent assaults on our form of government.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Such drift locations shall be described in the completion report and designated on the map attached thereto. Section 15 If the operator fails or refuses to comply with the requirements of the act in any respect for which liability has been charged on the bond the Secretary of Mines shall declare such portion of the bond forfeited and shall certify the same to the Department of Justice which shall proceed to sue out and collect the amount of liability forfeited thereon and where the operator had deposited cash or securities in lieu of bond the Secretary of Mines shall declare such portion of said deposit forfeited and shall direct the State Treasurer to pay said funds into the Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Reclamation Fund or to proceed to sell said securities to the extent forfeited and pay the proceeds thereof into the Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Reclamation Fund money in said fund to be spent at the discretion of the Secretary of Forests and Waters for back-filling or planting.

The fine shall be payable to the county in which the violation occurs.

Section 17 The provisions of this act shall not apply to any person partnership or corporation who does not mine in excess of two hundred and fifty (250) tons of coal in any period of twelve successive calendar months.

Section 19 All acts or provisions thereof inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed Provided however That the act of Assembly approved the eighteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 133) entitled "An act relating to coal stripping operations providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein and for the inspection and regulations of such operations by the Department of Mines requiring certain information and reports and prescribing penalties" and the act of Assembly approved on the twenty-fifth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2275) entitled "An act to promote safety for the traveling public on State highways to extend the responsibility for subsidence of such highways by the failure of vertical and lateral support and declaring said subsidence a public nuisance to provide for inspection of mine maps by the Department of Highways and the furnishing to said department of copies of such mine maps in certain cases to authorize entry by the Department of Highways into mines in certain cases and to provide for notices to the Department of Highways of certain mining operations under or adjacent to highways and providing penalties" and all other acts and provisions thereof which regulate the mining of bituminous coal shall not be repealed or nullified by this act but shall remain in full force and effect Nothing in this act shall be construed to abrogate or modify the power and jurisdiction of the Department of Mines to make rules and regulations and to administer the laws of the Commonwealth applicable to open pit mining.

Section 20 This act shall become effective six (6) months after final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, with full knowledge that this bill is on the program to be passed, but in spite of that I wish to rise and call your attention to a few things, because personally I am not able to vote for this bill. I will state briefly why.

The next thing is I am afraid that this is an inopportune time to pass such a bill as this. When the plans were made they did not know the conditions that would exist at the time we were to vote on it and once having expressed their opinions and their desires and making plans, they thought it necessary to go on, I suppose.

It is with deep regret that I can not show my appreciation of the many words of kindness and the idea in trying to amend to satisfy some of the people opposed to this bill.

Let us go back just a little while and take into consideration the fact that it has been investigated not only in Pennsylvania but in other states and it is believed that this system of taking coal from the ground is injurious to such an extent that we ought to regulate it. I wonder, however, if other states should be taken into consideration when we begin to legislate for Pennsylvania. Having lived in a section where a particular kind of coal veins are found plentifully and being familiar somewhat with the size of those veins, the quality of the coal, and what has been done, I feel I ought to make it a matter of record that my people are not pleased with the idea that in the face of a coal strike, which is likely to come April 1, and in face of the fact that there is likelihood of a great shortage, whether there is a coal strike or not, in the production of coal within the next few months, and taking into consideration that we need bituminous coal or the grave work that is being done by our sons in Germany and other places might be hampered and their lives might pay the penalty. I say I can not hope but feel we ought not pass this bill at this time.

It is true there should be regulation in some way but it is not true that it should be regulated in accordance with Bill No. 86, which was introduced by the gentleman from Somerset, I believe, and it is not true that the bill to take its place, Senate Bill No. 183, has covered the plan perfectly. I believe it will allow many people who are engaged in this business to go ahead, perhaps with a profit, but I do say that in my inspection district which includes portions of Clarion county, portions of Jefferson county, portions of Clearfield county, portions of Elk county and up as far as Cumberland county, that it will greatly reduce production if it is passed now. During this war time I wonder whether we ought to do it.

Here is what happens in our district. This thing has been handed to me to acquaint me with it because I happen to be Senator from my particular county in that district. It will only take just a few minutes to get this before you.

"Coal production in the Fourth Bituminous Inspection District for the year ending December 21 last, revealed a decrease in production of 32,981 tons. Strip mining again exceeds deep mine tonnage by 396,996 tons.

The total production in the district comprising Cameron and Elk and parts of Clearfield, Jefferson and Clarion counties was 4,823,096 tons, with Jefferson accounting for 701,250 tons, 322,880 tons by strip mining and 378,470 by deep mining. Clearfield County production increased 377,156 tons and Clarion county decreased 259,571 tons as compared with 1943."

The biggest producer in the district was the Shawmut Mining Company, with 466,920 tons. Of 138 mines on which Inspector S. E. Schroyer, of DuBois, reported, eleven produced more than 100,000 tons, indicating the number of small operations in the district.

I want to make it a matter of record that today it came to my attention by a Senator from the district over there that the Shawmut Mining Company is in favor of this bill, Senate Bill No. 183, as the lesser of evils.

I ask permission to make a matter of record those who are engaged at this time in the district known as the Fourth Inspector's District. There are 126 of them and they are not large operations. In so far as word has been carried to me, most of the people think they can not operate, most of these people think they are going to quit, and I have to make that a matter of record.

I have represented, as attorney, as all of you know, deep mining companies for a period of nearly thirty years. I have never represented one of those engaged in the strip mining business. I do not believe I know one of them personally. They are all operators that are named there and I ask permission to have this list included in the Journal so that they will know their names have been at least read. I ask permission to have it put on the record showing the number of tons each one of these operators mined last year.

I want to say that with the exception of Shawmut Mining Company, word concerning which came to me today, I have not heard of one that feels he could operate even under this modified bill.

I also wish to say that I read in the paper yesterday, the Sunday paper, that there is a Senator upon the floor of this Senate who is not satisfied with this bill because it is too weak and that he proposes to introduce a bill which is stronger. I do not know whether that is the thing to do at this time, if we were to make it much stronger here. Here they have to file a bond for $100, less than anybody else ever thought of—$100 per acre if you wish to operate.

Most of this land in the Allegheny County region is scattered out and the veins are so small that the assessments are about $10 an acre, and to offer them for forestry purposes, the most you can get in those instances is about $3. I am asking, is it fair to plant back trees to such an extent that it prevents operation?

Now I come down to the personal end of it. The people who own these lands have paid taxes on them for years and years and many times they were unable to pay the taxes and they went at tax sale.

The whole district that was mentioned here, covered in these words that I have uttered, has great difficulty in paying taxes on this so called wild land. Just now while a war is on—and it is for an indefinite time—if there is a coal shortage, and they have operated to such an extent that these acreages are being mined and did mine more in this district than the deep mines last year, and they have been able in various places to open other places, it seems to me ill-advised to pass a bill for beautifying these lands. I want to say, if you want to beautify the land, do you think you have to come out to tell us how to draw contracts and how it shall be provided and when it shall be filed, or we would have to have this kind of an engineer or that kind of an engineer; do you feel that we who have been there for half a century or more, having these agreements go across our desks, can not protect our interests if we were to sell some of these coal lands.

I want to say personally, because I will not be able to vote for this bill, but just now, as trustee I missed the sale of 625 acres at $50 an acre because they are afraid of this legislation. I am wondering if it is right to do it just now. Not for me—it does not make any difference so far as I am concerned; the people for whom I am trustee are the ones who have lost that, but in this section there is this kind of land, and this kind of land has paid taxes, and I wonder if it is right to run the risk of what is going to happen with a coal shortage, if the gentleman at Washington know what they are about.

Somebody will immediately say arrangements have been made to give you more per ton, they have investigated it, these other type of veins are under handicaps because they have to pay more, and that this work may go on, but I do not feel that I am beyond the bounds of reasoning when I say I would rather have my judgment than the judgment of those that went into my county, without any training or experience particularly, to look and see what was going on.

The greatest damage that was done to this district was the prevention of the opening of new mines, because they are scared. Why are they scared? Because now you are passing this modified bill, but certain Senators are not satisfied with it. Even in other states there are plans of trying to make you file a bond for a thousand dollars, and there was a plan in this state to make it $500 an acre.

Is it too much for one who has had some experience, at least, to say that there might be some other reason than just beautifying the Commonwealth, where we take out these things? Why are you so interested, people from Allegheny County and Somerset County and various other places and even down to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in beautifying this central district that I am telling you about, just all of a sudden, while a war is on and we are faced with the possibility of a strike April 1? What is the big idea? I do not ask anybody to tell me the reason, but surely anybody knows when you mine by strip mining you can mine with fewer people. The Act of 1941 told you how to mine it, you helped vote for it, and the Act of 1941 regulates mining and tells how to do it, for certain purposes, and they went ahead so very successfully they did more than other people and the consequence is the other people did not hire so many folks.

That is one reason maybe. There are other reasons, too.

If this field is not likely to come in to make up a shortage maybe you can make better bargains with other fields. I do not know what the reason is. No one has taken me into confidence. Some one will immediately follow me and say it is selfishness upon my part and I am not familiar with what they are going to do, and the deep mines maybe can not operate, but if they do it is perfectly proper and right that above all things, they will say, sure you can do those things, that is not unreasonable.

I have a lot of clippings and I have a lot of letters from some of the finest people in the whole vicinity, who explained the thing to me in detail but I am not going to go into that.

I even went to visit one of our leading companies, the Humphrey Brick and Tile Company, last Saturday, and we talked this matter over and there just for an example, I saw the father and three sons doing the most important work, and they have had that brick and tile plant located there in the valley, and they had beautified things very nicely. They have 1,500 acres. They are opposed to this. They say they can not see how they can possibly do it. They say that it is unreasonable to ask it.

Do you know, then they got just a little bitter. They say the Commonwealth has a lot of money and if we happen to overstep during this war time why do we not take a little of that money and beautify along the road for these city people passing by. That is just a thought.

They are among our very finest citizens and they are wondering whether they can go ahead. In any event, not a single one of them planned to open a new mine, whether you are short of coal or not, in this particular district. It does not include the district of Indiana County. I have a list of mines in Indiana County and what they did last year. Not far out of Punxsutawney there are people who have sent me letters and waited upon me and did all sorts of things to get before me. What could I do other than place this before you like this?

There are at least 4,000 acres of land in this district, for which I am personally responsible, for other people other than myself.

I know nearly every one of you are going to vote for this bill but I just want to know why. I just want you to ask yourselves the question, is there any danger of being any coal shortage and will these things that Senator Wilson has said to you take any part in it.

I am sorry to have transgressed upon your time but I have always made it my business when I thought it was my duty to do something about it.

I want to pay my respects to this splendid Governor that we have and to these splendid Senators that we have who are going to get up and criticize me for what I am doing, and there will be no trouble about that part of it, but I can claim on this particular subject, that my particular district will be injured by this bill passing now and that is all I wish to say. I say it should not be passed now. It should be deferred to a later time.

I thank you for your very kind attention.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the gentleman from Jefferson was fearful that the person who would follow him in this discussion would be critical of the position he has taken.

I want to say this to the gentleman from Jefferson, and also to the members of this Senate, that I always appreciate the learned manner in which he presents his feelings on various pieces of legislation when he is addressing the Senate. I listened to him attentively and I think he ably presented the position of his constituency. The sponsors of this bill—and by sponsors, of course, I mean Senator Dent and Senator Thomas—have declined any intention of offering to Pennsylvania a bill which would fill in all the voids occasioned by strip mining. They have publicly stated that this bill is a conservation bill and the purpose of it is to conserve the coal which has an open face by making sufficient fill so that the proper type of trees can be planted.

I agree with them in what they are trying to do but I disagree with them in that I do not think they go far enough.

The beautiful rolling farm land of western Pennsylvania today is dotted with ugly gaps in its surface and by grotesque mounds. The people of western Pennsylvania feel that this legislature has a duty to do something about this matter. I propose in the very near future to present a bill to this Legislature which will clearly present to the legislature a solution of the problem. When that bill is presented I hope the committee to which it is referred will have an open hearing so that we can have presented at that hearing all the facts which we must have in order to properly do the job that we think should be done.

I have in my hand a carefully written article by Dave T. Jones, of the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, who went down in the coal fields of West Virginia and studied this problem of strip mining. I have many copies of this article and if any members of the Senate would like to have a copy of it for his edification I will be glad to give it to him.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I want to correct a misapprehension the Senator from Jefferson seems to have. I did not introduce any bill on this subject.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, the operators in my section of the state, Clearfield and Center counties are affected as much probably as the operators in any section of Pennsylvania by this proposed legislation. We have very thin seams of coal in Clearfield and Center counties and we have a very heavy overburden, which makes the cost per ton mined very high.

They realize however, that, as Senator Wilson I think so ably said, that it is necessary that something be done to remedy the damage that is being caused by the ground that is turned up by these operators. Much of the land in our section is quite valueless.

I had a man come in and tell me the other day he had just sold a hundred acres for $4 an acre, a total of $400 for the hundred acres. He said it is not worthwhile to replace this land, plant trees on it, at a cost of even $20 per acre, because the land is not worth that much.

Our operators, I think, in this matter have been very thoughtful. They have considered the need very carefully for legislation of this type and they have agreed they will accept the additional burden that might be involved in this bill.

I am, therefore, happy to be privileged at this time to vote in favor of the bill. I feel that the state as a whole is much in need of this type of legislation, because as we travel along the roads we find that there are great mounds of dirt thrown up which are very unsightly. I believe it is our duty to correct that condition.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am sincerely of the belief that there should be some regulation of strip mining in the Commonwealth.

However, when we consider legislation I think we ought to first make a positive decision in our mind that any act that we pass will have teeth of sufficient strength to make possible the working of the terms and provisions of that bill.

I personally believe, from what limited investigation that I have made, that a bond in the amount of $100 which under this bill it is provided shall be filed, is not sufficient in amount to make possible the carrying out of the terms and provisions of this bill.

You men know what it costs to hire a bulldozer by the day. Section 10 of the bill provides that within one year after the operation is completed, the operators will place sufficient overburden in the open cut to cover the exposed face of the unmined coal, if that condition exists.

The bill provides, in section 11, that within three years after the open pit mining operations on the premises are terminated the operator shall plant trees, shrubs or grasses or greens.

You men know that it costs $15 to $25 a day to hire a bulldozer with an operator. Whether it would take three or four days for a bulldozer to go around an acre of ground and fill in the overburden, I do not know, but it is my opinion it would cost at least $100 to have a bulldozer go in there.

Personally I think this bill will do us more harm than good. We are going to be back here in 1947 and we are going to have conclusively proved to us that this bill will not work. I think it is a subterfuge to get away from our responsibility as representatives of the people. The bond is not enough.

In addition to my personal belief, the Board of County Commissioners of our County presented to me today a resolution in which they requested me to vote against this bill and I therefore desire to give my reasons prior to casting my vote.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think the bill under consideration now is an extremely weak bill. I, too, favor an increased bond and more stringent regulations in connection with open pit mining.

However, I am going to vote for this bill because, I think, it is in the nature of a compromise bill and, because I do believe that some regulation is necessary, I think this is a start in the right direction.

It might be well, in considering whether or not we should vote for this bill, to bear in mind that we have, in so far as open pit mining is concerned, three distinct fields in this Commonwealth. We have the anthracite, or eastern field; we have the central field or region, that, which has been referred to by the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, as having heavy overburden and not very heavy seams or veins of coal, so that the cost is somewhat higher, possibly, there, than in other places; and then we have the western fields.

It would be pretty hard, we can all understand, to get a bill the first time that would suit everybody. Therefore, even if this bill is not as stringent as some of us would like, or, if possibly it is a little more so than some others would like, I want to ask my colleagues to vote for this bill and some time later if there are corrections or amendments to be made, they can be attended to.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, you know, the persons who first start out to create and pass some reform are oftentimes ridiculed in the beginning and then, later on, when the move becomes a popular move in the newspapers then, of course, they are condemned because they do not go quite far enough.

There is an old Chinese proverb which says "A man once bitten by a snake fears every rope."

In 1943 I presented a bill somewhat similar to this bill. I fortunately had the foresight to see, with the war coming on and a shortage of bituminous coal for war industries, that there would be an extended and an expanded program of strip mining, and I asked the Legislature at that time to pass a bill, purely a conservative bill, one interested in conservation, one which would replace not the coal that you take out of the ground—you can not do that—but which would place upon the top of the soil something that in future years would bring to our Commonwealth as great a wealth above the ground as we take from beneath the ground.

That bill passed the Senate almost unanimously, went over to the House, and was defeated in committee because the operators at that time thought it was too stringent.

This bill was not introduced as a punitive piece of legislation. Those of you who desire punitive legislation can introduce it under your own signature. I feel that there are many questions involved. When you start to step into a man's property—do you mean that if I have a piece of land that is underlaid with sandstone or limestone I am permitted to destroy the surface to get at the wealth that is in my land, but my neighbor who has a wealth of mineral in coal underneath his land is not permitted to destroy his surface in order to take out the wealth that belongs to his land? These are questions that have to be determined when you start to put in punitive legislation.

I have in mind one purpose, and one purpose only. We are in the midst of a war. Anything that we do now that may endanger the coal stripping industry to my mind would be set aside because of the fact that we need coal and must have it.

However, there is nothing to stop us from getting some measure of comfort and some measure of relief from the lands that may be destroyed by strip mining.

Those of you who know anything about strip mining must realize that out in our end of the state the greater portion of the coal lands have sub-standard soil, most of the coal is an outgrowth of the main veins, and the land that is being destroyed in most instances, in a great majority of cases, is not land that lends itself for agricultural purposes, and this bill will place upon these lands trees and grasses and legumes, and the Department of Forest and Waters will name the type that must be planted.

Some of you may think this is an experiment. It is not an experiment. It has been proved right in my own county. That is where I first conceived the idea of presenting such legislation. We have in my county certain operators who, in 1937 to 1939, planted trees upon lands that they stripped, and we have out there now a beautiful stand of lumber, we have timber land coming back there because they planted trees at their own expense.

Then some say to me the bond is too low. The bond will cover all I ask to be done. If someone wants to do other than what is done in this bill, it is his privilege to introduce legislation. This bond will pay at present for the work that is described in this bill. It does not call for bulldozers, it does not call for any of that; it calls for the planting of trees grasses and legumes; it calls for covering the face of the coal in order to prevent any danger from fire any any danger from acids created by air hitting the coal and the danger of oxidation causing poison which might flow into the streams.

We tried to do what we can today under present conditions. If we would have passed a bill two years ago we would now be in a position through experience to amend or strengthen, if you so desire, or weaken it if it were so ordered, but at this time I beg of you to remember that this bill is not placed in this hopper at the suggestion of persons who do not realize the seriousness of the whole problem.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, called attention to the fact that we have three distinct coal fields. One piece of legislation could not possibly rehabilitate all three sections of our state under the same provisions. That is something that must be done by specific legislation, covering specific areas, but there is nothing in this legislation that will prevent at least the rehabilitation of the lands that we are stripping to such an extent that we will get something for the future, something that I am sure that all members of this Senate need not be ashamed of when they vote for this legislation.

Mr. MCGINNIS. I realize that there are divergent opinions upon this piece of legislation. This question is being considered now in Ohio and I read yesterday where some Legislators there feel that strip mining should be stopped. Others say that the strip miners ought to get a bonus in this time of war, when we are in great need of coal, and that these strip miners have added to the production of coal as much as twenty per cent. and it is a great war effort. While I am not satisfied with this bill—I wish it was stronger—I do think it is more or less a compromise, but it is a beginning and I shall vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred):

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, for the reasons I have stated, and feeling I have a personal interest in the bill, in opposition to the bill, which I expressed, I wish to refrain from voting.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I wonder if the Chairman on the Committee of State Government would mind having this bill printed, with these amendments, and then put it on the postponed calendar so that we may have a public hearing. There has been quite a bit of objection to this bill, by the real estate board in our county, by the Board of County Commissioners, the office building industry and other gentlemen I have talked to in the City of Pittsburgh. These amendments may remove some of their objections—I do not know—but I do think they want to be heard and I would therefore like the Committee on State Government to give them a hearing and allow them to be heard.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I would like to make the suggestion, if I may, that since the amendments have been offered this afternoon, that the bill be printed, as amended, so that we all have an opportunity to study the bill as it now appears as amended and then, after that, we can make determination as to whether it should go over to the postponed Calendar or remain on the Calendar.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, Mr. Tallman, very much.

Mr. HOLLAND. Does this mean Mr. President, that this bill will be held on second reading; it will not pass second reading; is that right?

The PRESIDENT. It was the understanding of the Chair that the bill would pass second reading and appear on the Calendar in its amended form.

Mr. HOLLAND. In view of the fact that we have not read the amendments and are not acquainted with them, I think it is very unfair to ask us to vote on the amendments, when we have not read them, and I therefore ask that it be held on second reading, so that we have a chance to study the amendments.

Mr. BECKER. It is quite satisfactory to leave the bill on second reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 115, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

O God, in whose providence our lives are set down in this tragic era of history, grant that the experiences of these times may not breed hardness and cynicism in the hearts of men. But may there be wisdom and insight to read the meaning of events in the light of the blunders and mistakes and all of the complexity of evil from whence they came. May there be humility to learn from suffering the things that belong to our peace. And may there be the will and the spirit among us to strive for those better things, now and in the days to come. And so may the future redeem the past, and a new world be born, worthy of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. Amen.

COMMUNICATIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House communications which were read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Department of Highways, Harrisburg, March 5, 1945.

Members of the Senate and
House of Representatives
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg
Gentlemen:

Pursuant to Concurrent Resolution No. 14, passed by the 1943 General Assembly, I wish to submit the following report:

Upon receipt of this Resolution I immediately made a survey of all toll bridges within the Commonwealth, and upon completion of a personal visit to the various bridges, I engaged the services of a competent engineer to make valuation studies. This engineer gave me a detailed report dealing with the physical value, depreciation, and cost of reproduction of the various toll bridges. A survey has been made also of the capacity of each bridge to carry the traffic that is normally expected after the close of the war.

I have also made a study of the financial features which would be involved in handling the acquisition of existing toll bridges for the reason that under existing legislation the bridges would not be free bridges when the State took them over. Should I have followed existing legislation it would have been necessary to issue bonds, payable from tolls collected over a long term of years. Under normal expectations it would have required the collection of tolls on all the bridges for approximately twenty-one years.

Under my direction a plan has been developed by which toll bridges within the Commonwealth can be acquired without any undue hardship on the taxpayers, and they will be freed immediately upon acquisition. A bill has been prepared that will meet all requirements to carry out the desires of the citizens of the Commonwealth. This bill, when introduced in the Legislature, provides my answer to Concurrent Resolution No. 14.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) JOHN U. SHROYER,
Secretary of Highways.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. STONIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration. The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 5, 1945.

A deep sorrow and a grief that can not be assuaged entered the life of a Member of this House yesterday.

A telegram from the War Department to the Honorable Charles L. Robertson and his wife, announced the death of his only son, on February 23th, somewhere on the European battle front.

That son, John Robertson, was a graduate of the University of Delaware, was only 33 years of age, and at the time of his death was attached to the 9th Army Corps.

With boundless opportunities available and a future that promised every success, he made the supreme sacrifice for us before the forenoon of his life had ebbed away. He was young America paying the price for our failures of yesteryear; therefore be it

Resolved, By this House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that, recognizing the great loss that has come to our fellow Member and his wife, and the terrible anguish of heart and mind that is theirs, it extends to them its deep and genuine sympathy. Knowing full well that there is nothing we can say to take from that loss or ease that anguish, we recall to them the words of that martyred President, Abraham Lincoln, used in a letter to the mother who had lost five sons in the war between the States:

"I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of Freedom;"

and be it further

Resolved, That as a lasting evidence of the sympathy that is ours for our bereaved member and his wife, the Chief Clerk of the House is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the parents of that son who is no more.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 334, as follows:

An Act to provide for the appointment of election officers to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of terms of election officers imposing duties on County Board of Elections and conferring powers on courts of quarter sessions

Whereas section 14 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the Commonwealth provides that judges and inspectors of election shall be chosen annually and under the election system of the State such officers should be elected at the municipal election conducted only every second year in the odd-numbered year and

Whereas the Court of Quarter Sessions of the County of Dauphin has decided that the provisions of said section 14 are still effective and that the legal term of election officers is one year and was not lengthened to two years by the schedule to the Constitution adopted by the electors in 1909 when the system of elections was changed and

Whereas election officers are elected in odd-numbered years and their legal terms of office commence on the first Monday of January in each even-numbered year and expire on the first Monday of January of the succeeding odd-numbered year and the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County has held such officers serve during the second year only as de facto officers and

Whereas pending the adoption of a suitable amendment to the Constitution to provide for the lengthening of the terms of election officers it is important that legal terms of office be provided for election officers during odd-numbered years therefore

Section 1 Until such time as the Constitution of the Commonwealth has been amended to provide for the lengthening of the term of election officers it shall be the duty of the County Board of Elections of each county on the first Monday of December of each even-numbered year to petition the Court of Quarter Sessions to appoint election officers for the various election districts in the county to fill the vacancies which will be caused by the expiration of the legal terms of the duly elected election officers on the first Monday of January next ensuing such appointees to hold office for one year

Section 2 The County Board of Elections may file only one such petition covering all election districts in the county or may file separate petitions for the election districts of particular municipalities townships and wards

In such petition or petitions the County Board of Elections shall petition the court to appoint the election officers who served as such during the year in which the petition is presented except in the case of election officers who have died resigned or become disqualified or who refuse to serve in which cases the County Board of Elections shall suggest the name of some other person or persons for appointment who shall be members of the same political party as the election officer or officers who has died resigned become disqualified or refuse to serve copies of such petitions shall be furnished by the County Board of Elections to the county chairmen of the political parties of the persons named in the petition for appointment not later than the day on which such petitions are presented to the court

Section 3 It shall be the duty of the Court of Quarter Sessions on a day fixed by it to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of office of election officers in all election districts of the county by appointing the persons named in said petition or petitions or in its discretion such other person or persons as it deems proper after consideration of all matters presented to it to hold office until the first Monday of January of the next even-numbered year but in all cases those appointed in each district shall be members of the same political party as the election officers whose terms have expired

Section 4 This act shall expire when and if the Constitution has been amended to authorize the election of election officers for a longer term than one year and legislation shall have been enacted to carry said constitutional amendment into effect

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 31.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

RESOLUTION TO AMEND HOUSE RULE NO. 40

In the House of Representatives, February 26, 1945.

I move that House Rule No. 40 which reads as follows

That when a bill or resolution has been ten calendar days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of a majority of the members elected to the House be amended to read as follows

That when a bill or resolution has been ten calendar days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of eighty five of the members elected to the House

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, last week I heard a lot of talk about whose baby it was. This seems to be my baby, but nevertheless, I think it belongs to all the Members of the House. This Resolution that we have before us is possibly not new to a lot of Members over on the other side, because back in 1937 we changed this rule in the House of Representatives to give to the minority the right to bring their legislation on the floor of this House. Now, we were in the majority at that time and you were in the minority.

I am not seeking the taking away of any right from the majority in this Resolution; you still have the majority, and legislation that is brought upon the floor of this House you have sufficient votes to defeat. I am informed by very reliable sources that there are a number of states in these United States of ours in which all legislation that is introduced into the House of Representatives must be acted upon on the floor of the House. In other words, there is no legislation which remains in committee. I might say to you that that to me is real democracy; that is what the boys over on the other side are fighting for. We are fighting for the right in this country to make our state as liberal as all the rest of the states, and we feel that it is only fair that we come to you and ask that you change this rule and allow legislation that is in committee to come before this body so that the people of the state may feel that there is sufficient desire by the people to have this legislation acted upon, either favorably or unfavorably, by the membership of this House. I do not want to take up any more of your time; I only want to ask you to be fair, because we in 1937 gave that same opportunity to you men on that side of the House, and we ask you to be fair and give it to us at this time.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman how many minority bills were passed in the session of 1937.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question, but I do not feel that that question is pertinent to the question here at all.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be in position to state whether I am correct or not when I say that no minority bills were passed in the session of 1937?

Mr. LOVETT. That I could not answer; I do not know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state for the Members of the House the number provided for the discharge of a committee in the rule which was amended at that time.

Mr. LOVETT. Did the gentleman say the number, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. That is right.

Mr. LOVETT. Eighty-five, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Will the gentleman state the number of Members in the minority party during that session?

Mr. LOVETT. Eighty-nine, if I am correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Does the gentleman wish to correct his statement?

Mr. LOVETT. I am just stating as far as I know it was eighty-nine, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Would the gentleman be in a position to state whether I am correct or not when I say that in that session there were fifty-four Members in the minority party?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman a Member at that time?

Mr. SORG. I was not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman wish to say that that at no time while that rule was in force the minority party had over eighty-five Members?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker, I would not care to make that statement. I am reliably informed by Members who were present on the minority side during that session that there were fifty-four Members of the minority party at that time. I desire to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland whether if this motion is adopted and a motion for the discharge of a committee is made on the floor of this House, and one hundred twenty-three Members should vote against the motion and eighty-five Members should vote in favor of the motion, which side would prevail?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I just do not follow the gentleman's question. May I ask the gentleman to repeat?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, is it correct or is it not correct that the proposed resolution intends to amend the rule which requires a constitutional majority to discharge a committee, so that less than a constitutional majority, specifically the number of eighty-five can discharge a committee?

Mr. LOVETT. I would say that the gentleman is correct, Mr. Speaker. Eighty-five would be sufficient to discharge the committee.

Mr. SORG. It is the true, Mr. Speaker, that if one hundred twenty-three Members voted against such a motion and eighty-five voted in favor of such a motion, that the motion would prevail?

Mr. LOVETT. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Is it not then the effect of this resolution that thirty-eight less Members of the House could control the movements of the House when thirty-eight more do not so desire?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might in answer to the gentleman state that while the eighty-five Members would be able to bring legislation before the body, then it would take one hundred five votes to pass the legislation in the House of Representatives. I might add also and state to the gentleman that we have progressive states that bring up all legislation before the body. Does the gentleman think that that is unfair?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Westmoreland. I should like to say in opposing this motion, Mr. Speaker, first of all that the purposes that the gentleman intends to accomplish can be accomplished in other ways. As a matter of order and as a matter of good parliamentary procedure I ask the Members on both sides of this House to vote against this resolution as a dangerous departure from the generally accepted good rules of parliamentary procedure, in that the resolution would have the effect of vitiating and going to the very roots of our system of administering business here under the rule of the majority.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the membership on the other side to be misled. When I say to you that during the time the rule requiring eighty-five Members to discharge committees was in force, at some period the minority had sufficient numbers to discharge committees. Although they never took advantage of that, they still had that opportunity.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, this looks like a good resolution to me for this reason: I think it would be well if we could get all of the bills out on the floor of the House. Let us clean our linen in public and have the public look at it. You all know how committees work in the House of Representatives. They have probably thirty or forty Members on the big committees, and a majority of those can keep the bill in committee. There might come a time when I could get eighty-five Members of this House to agree with a little bill that I have in there, and yet by that same token there may be one or two Members of the committee by our parliamentary procedure today, who could keep that bill in the committee.

Now, I contend, Mr. Speaker, that any bill that is good enough to introduce certainly is good enough to be out here in the open where the sunshine can reflect on it and your constituents can mark you down as to how you vote on it or how you didn't vote. For that reason I think that every Member of the legislature was sent here to represent the people, and not individual pressure groups who might not like the bill to come out of committee. Any bill that comes out of the committee then comes out on the floor where we can see it and act on it as representatives, and for that particular reason I think that that is a good opportunity to let us who have a bill held up by two or three members of a committee, to get it out here and let us all be counted.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I should just like to say in reply to the previous speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cullen, that it is certainly not our intention to prevent the discharge of a committee when they have not done their job. It is only our intention to insist that in order to discharge a committee that does not do its job, that it shall be done at the instance of a majority of the Members of this House and not by a minority.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it might be a strong argument to make that when this side of the House was in the majority we set a figure of eighty-five when we well knew that the other side had but fifty-four votes. I suppose that the sins of the fathers must be visited upon us and we must be licked. But, Mr. Speaker, I think that what we overlook here is this, that in the 1937 session to which the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, made reference, if you will remember, first of all where Republican bills passed in this House—I do not know what happened to the House of Lords—but, Mr. Speaker, in that session, if you will remember, in order to get some real free and frank discussion on an important measure, the gentleman might ask his colleagues who were there at that time when this House resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the discussion of the Education bill and the Teachers Tenure bill, the question was whether or not such an important bill should be handled in committee or whether all the Members of the House might have their say, including the Republicans.

The purpose of getting a bill out of committee is directed possibly to the work of a few wilful Members who may desire to defeat the desires of a greater number of Members who might desire the legislation out in the sun.

We know what happens from now on in. Next Monday will be the last day to introduce bills, and we ought to adjourn in possibly six or seven weeks after that. The Members are going to be awfully busy with a lot of personal matters, with their bills coming over from the Senate, when the Senate is sending their bills over, and we are not going to have too much time to hunt up the chairmen of the committees to urge them to get bills out, and I for one on this side would not propose to vote for the discharge of a committee on a bill that is of no importance. This resolution is directed to getting some important bills out on the floor. For instance, if some wilful persons might not be inclined to let a Fair Employment Practice bill out of committee merely because they on the committee do not like it, there is no reason why the Members of the House should not have an opportunity to express their opinion and vote on it. Of course we on this side might make political capital; we could get up on the floor of the House with a motion to discharge a committee and make speeches, and the newspapers might carry the speeches in which we could accuse you of failing to do what you should do, namely, bring out on the floor of the House good legislation and give us a chance to vote on it.

You might find on the other hand that if five are required to discharge a committee, five is close to one hundred nine, and perhaps some Member on the other side might say in getting a bill out of committee, and this side, being more allergic to democratic impulses, might go along, but if you are not going to refuse to give us a fair rule, to give us a vote within our means to bring out a bill on the floor, a bill that we consider important enough to be discussed, and not pigeonholed, then, Mr. Speaker, you are going to give us this resolution.

Now, Mr. Speaker, pickling brine is scarce, all war commodities are scarce, and I think there isn't enough storage space in this building, or pickling vats for the bills that we would like to have come out, and even the majority Members would like to have come out on the floor.

I say if you want to be fair, as the gentleman from Westmoreland asks us to be at all times, I ask you to give us a fair margin on which to work, not a margin which will guarantee the discharge of a committee; you do not have to give us eighty-five, because you always have the votes to kill a bill, and we need your votes to pass a bill, but if you are afraid, if you are hiding some good legislation that your conscience says ought to be passed but that the dictates of others say you must have pickled, then you will defeat this resolution.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I have followed the discussion on this resolution quite closely. I think the Members on our side have presented a very fair proposition when they stated what we did in 1935 by reducing the number required to discharge a committee to eighty-five. Now, the committee work on all legislation is a very, very important matter. We have committees in this House composed of from twenty to forty Members of the House. We will assume that a committee has twenty-five Members on it, and they are all present at a committee meeting; thirteen of those Members if they are so disposed can kill a bill, and it might so happen that these thirteen Members on that committee are personally interested in not having that particular piece of legislation enacted into law. They will prohibit it from coming on the floor of this House, when on the other hand if that bill were released to the floor of the House, there might be a possibility that it would pass by an overwhelming majority.

I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, and to the men and women in this House who are representing the people of this great Commonwealth, is it a democratic form of government when twelve or thirteen men or women on a committee can hold a bill and prevent its consideration by this House? I think this resolution is one that is only fair. Let us not forget that the releasing of a bill from committee is not passing the legislation; it is putting it on the floor of this House where all of the Members have the right and privilege of discussing the matter, and finally voting for or against the measure. And that is the way we get good laws.

It would appear to me that a committee that is hiding a bill, is pickling a bill that has merit, a bill on which we have had many letters from our constituents not want it to be passed, that they are committing a sin to ask you to pass it in our government. I say let us vote for opportunity. Let bills of merit be brought out into the open. Eighty-five Members of this House will vote against a bill that is injurious to the Commonwealth.

Let us get these bills out on the floor of the House that have merit, and stand up and be counted.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I was very much interested in the remarks made by the gentleman from Elk in which he related ancient history, but I submit to him, as I submit to the membership of this House, that we seem to be upon what might be the dawn of a different order. I doubt whether the gentleman can remember back to the days to which he refers, whether any Republican or Democratic Governor conducted a series of non-partisan conferences over a period of weeks, desiring to create a unanimity of opinion, to break down the partisan spirit upon that legislation which should not be partisan.

Now, I say very frankly, Mr. Speaker, that there either has been too much non-partisanship in the office of the Executive or there is too little in this House, one way or the other. It is very nice to eat the Governor's cherry ice cream and then come here and get our noses regularly twisted. The Governor of this Commonwealth treats us as legislators, as part of the opinion in Pennsylvania. Your attitude, gentlemen, has been that we are Members of a minority and that all minorities are pestiferous, that you will be nice to us, that you will let us talk but you hope to goodness we won't talk too much, and then you will line up the old machine and proceed in the pre-Martin method.

The gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Nagle, talked about thirteen Members killing a bill. I know a very distinguished member of this House that was on tenterhooks lest far less than thirteen members kill a bill.

Now, gentlemen, we can try to discharge committees, whether we can discharge them or not. You are not going to save your time; it is getting about time that we began the process of trying to find out what you have in the secret recesses of your minds, and what you have in your committee program. We are going to want to know what your program is about schools. You have kept it a secret long enough. We are going to want to know what your program is on labor; you have kept that secret long enough. The school bills, the labor bills, and these other bills are bills that it should be possible to bring out on this floor, but they are still in committee.

Gentlemen, you cannot prevent us from trying to discharge committees, and I think it would be a very graceful gesture if you tried to emulate the example of your distinguished Chief, who persists in treating Democrats as if they were Members of this House.

Mr. SORG. Just briefly to summarize, Mr. Speaker, I am going to admit that I cannot quote history with the gentleman on the other side; all I say is that I can refer to the most recent history of which I know because I was here. In 1941 we had some research, and at that time this very thing could have been done. It was not. I merely want to refer to the fact also that this is a legislative program, a matter of procedure and parliamentary rules and not the subject of administrative practice or anything of the kind. I ask the Members to vote down this motion.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in order to clear up one thing in my mind, in order to make it clear in your minds, I would like to interrogate the Floor Leader on the majority side.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the Majority Leader remember at any time during his sessions of the Legislature that the minority party had sufficient votes to discharge committees?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker, and the gentleman, if he had been alert might have heard the explanation of the gentleman from Elk, who has said that he could not go back into the past history that was related here in 1935 and 1937, but in 1941, when he was a Member of this House, and the now minority was in the majority, there was no change made in the rules for the discharge of committees.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I make myself clear to the gentleman? He does remember a time when the minority party had more than eighty-five votes when the rule was eighty-five to discharge committees?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I could not answer the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask any Member of the House on the other side, Mr. Speaker, if he will verify the statement that at no time in this House of Representatives did the minority have over eighty-five members when the rule was eighty-five to discharge committees?

Unless my memory fails me, I stated on the floor of this House that in the last session of the Legislature you fellows had the opportunity to discharge committees, but you never took advantage of it. Now, if my memory fails me, all well and good, but I would like you to look up the record, and I think you will find in the record that there was a time in the House of Representatives that the minority had a sufficient membership to discharge committees, and I am only asking that you be fair and give that same opportunity to us.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I am reliably informed, although this was prior to my time in the House, that when the rule, I believe, was eighty-five in the 1935 Session, the minority at that time was eighty-two, and as he has been informed, prior to this interrogation, in 1937 it was fifty-four. I think rather than clear up one point in his mind and the minds of the other Members, that they will become more confused.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I still say there isn't anyone who has said that there was no time it this House that was not true, and I ask for a roll call on this Resolution.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Andrews.

Messrs. Lovett, Weiss and Skale asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JAMES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the General Assembly in the regular session of 1935 passed the "Municipal Authorities Act," approved June 8, 1935, Act No. 191.

The term "Authority" in that Act was defined to mean—"A body Politic and Corporate, created for the purpose of constructing, improving maintaining and operating certain public facilities, conveniences and services, all of which being referred to as 'project.'"

The Act of 1935 was amended and clarified in the Regular Session of 1937 (Act No. 200, approved May 20, 1937); and again in the Regular Session of 1939, (Act No. 85 of May 17, 1939).

In the Regular Session of 1943, a resolution was introduced in the Senate calling for the appointment of a Committee to investigate certain actions of certain Municipal Authorities in the acquisition of Water Companies, that were alleged to have been contrary to the public interests.

The resolution was adopted in the Senate on March 10, 1943—and a Committee was accordingly appointed consisting of six Senators. After conducting a thorough investigation by Public Hearings, the Committee presented its report to the Senate March 31, 1943, which report is printed in the "Legislative Journal" of that date.

As a result of the Resolution, investigation and Report, a further amendment to the Act of 1935, and its supplements, was introduced and passed by the General Assembly (Act No. 292 of May 26, 1943).

However, it appeared that the amendments so enacted were inadequate and inconclusive, so that in the last hours of the Session I introduced House Resolution No. 101, which charged the Joint State Government Commission with an investigation and study of Municipal Authorities and the law under which they are created to ascertain—

- a. Number created.
- b. Costs of acquisitions.
- c. Operation and maintenance.
- d. Rates paid by consumers.
- e. Benefits derived.
- f. Defects in the law.
- g. Amendments deemed necessary to improve the operation of the law.
- h. Any other pertinent facts considered as important to this investigation.

and then to report its findings to the General Assembly at the first Special or Regular Session thereafter.

The Joint State Government Commission, at its meeting on June 16, 1943, ordered that such a Committee be created, and the Chairman of the Commission, on July 2, 1943, appointed the following Committee:

Honorable Clarence D. Becker, Chairman
 Honorable John Fremont Cox
 Honorable Paul M. Crider
 Honorable John H. Dent
 Honorable John G. Snowden
 Honorable G. Harold Watkins
 Honorable W. Stuart Helm
 Honorable Benjamin F. James, Vice Chairman
 Honorable G. Edgar Kline
 Honorable Albert L. O'Connor
 Honorable David H. Weiss
 Honorable Lloyd H. Wood

The Committee met for organization on August 18, 1943.

This Committee directed the promulgation of a questionnaire to all incorporated Municipal Authorities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which questionnaire received uniform response, and proved to be a fruitful source of information from which the Committee was able to conduct its investigation and conclude its work.

At the conclusion of its fact-finding program, the Committee concluded to epitomize its Report in the form of a new enactment containing the gist and valuable part of the Act of 1935, and its supplements, and the introduction of about 20 proposals suggested by the Committee for refining the law and protecting the rate payer and general public in a manner not inconsistent with workable legislation for the formation of such Authorities and the acquisition and operation of projects. In this connection, the Committee had the close cooperation of the Governor of the Commonwealth; the scrutinizing assistance of the Attorney General and his Deputies; and the advice of well known investment counselors and brokerage houses, as well as the experienced representatives of a number of Municipal Authorities and the officers of the Association of Municipal Authorities.

A detailed, final report of the investigation and findings of the Committee, in accordance with the House Resolution under which it was appointed, will be made to the Joint State Government Commission in due course.

But in the meantime, a new enactment which is truly the substance of the Committee's report was introduced in the Senate last week by Senators Becker, and Dent, the Committee Chairman, and will appear as Senate Bill No. 423.

This new enactment is presented not as a new law, but as a re-statement of existing law, with certain changes, and in order to avoid the confusion of putting further patches on the original Act and its three supplements.

It should be recalled at this point that the Governor stated in his message to the General Assembly as follows:

"Whatever additional legislation is necessary should be passed to insure such a program of conservation and the freeing of our streams from pollution, including enabling legislation whereby municipalities may create Special Sewage Disposal Authorities to finance sewage disposal plants and facilities on a commercial and self-sustaining basis."

Sewage disposal, water service, and other projects set up under the Municipal Authorities Act will undoubtedly become adjuncts of prime importance to the measures to be adopted in the general program of stream purification, conservation and post-war work and employment plans.

Our Committee has sought to provide in our report, which will be submitted to you soon, and in the legislation just introduced in the Senate, sound regulations under which these highly useful and economical public enterprises called Municipal Authorities may be created and operated, without concern about possible misuse—or abuse of the public confidence in them—and with the certainty that the best interests of the municipalities, the public, the rate-payers and the investors will be fully protected.

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 6, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock. p m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

PRAYER

May our standing reverently before Thee, O God, be our acknowledgment of Thy sovereignty and our confession of faith in Thee as the God and Father of all.

We bear Thy image. May we not mar that image by thought or word or deed lest we dishonor Thy name, injure ourselves and hurt our fellow-men.

Thou has been generous to us as a nation, and "the earth hath yielded her increase." Now we are being called to be like Thee in generosity, and to share our abundance with the needy and unfortunate—victims of war and calamity. So we pray, O God, that the people of God-favored America be responsive to the call now being made throughout the land for the Christly work of the Red Cross. Even as "Christ went about doing good" so is this great organization doing.

Put in into the hearts of all of us to give all we can to the Red Cross branch of the Lord's service that it may be equipped to feed the hungry and to minister to the sick and wounded. By so doing we will learn, if we do not already know, how "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

In the name of the Great Giver who gave His all for us. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. WADE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 365

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, March 5, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That House Bill No. 365, Printer's No. 111, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am about to present to the Chair two bills which have to do with some recommendations made by the Joint State Government Commission, as a result of its study over the last biennium of the penal institutions and correctional institutions in Pennsylvania.

I would like to say, Mr. President, that these bills represent only a part of the recommended legislation. It alters and changes some of the departments on Capitol Hill, Mr. President, and I would suggest to the Chair and through the Chair, to the very efficient Chairman of the Senate Committee on State Government, that these bills be very carefully considered, and that he hold them until the rest of the program catches up with these two bills.

The reason I am offering these bills now is that it is very difficult to draft this particular type of legislation, because it takes jurisdiction away from some departments and places it in other departments, and we are attempting to consolidate departments on Capitol Hill, and, Mr. President, when you start to consolidate departments on Capitol Hill you cut yourself out quite a piece of work.

I also would like to present to the Chair a bill which has slight amendments to the License Weighmasters Act. This bill has been recommended to the Department of Internal Affairs by the Federal Fuel Administrator and I am advised that they are very anxious to have this bill enacted into law so that it will assist them in the administration of the fuel problem in Pennsylvania. To the lucky Chairman who get that one I would like to urge prompt action.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 465, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1356), entitled "An act to regulate the sale and delivery of solid fuel, as herein defined; providing for appointment of licensed weighmasters; prescribing their powers and duties; authorizing substitute licensed weighmasters; imposing certain duties on the Department of Internal Affairs; and providing penalties," by defining the word "vehicle."

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 466, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act, approved the sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 861), entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole'; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment; removal and discharge of its officers, clerks, and employees; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employees thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor; and for other cognate purposes, and making an appropriation," by increasing the membership of said board, and designating it as an administrative board in the Department of Corrections and Parole.

Which was committee to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 467, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. ministrative board, making certain changes in its membership, transferring certain powers and duties of the Department of Welfare to the Department of Corrections and Parole; and repealing inconsistent acts or parts of acts.

ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the committee arranging for a St. Patrick's Day Dinner announces that the dinner will be held Tuesday, March 20, 1945, at the Penn-Harris Hotel. The committee has just gotten required permission from the commission in Washington to hold this dinner. The number has been reduced from five hundred to three hundred, so that anyone who wishes to attend this function should get his tickets immediately, because, as I say, the number has been reduced from five hundred to three hundred.

Our Secretary is in the Chamber next to the barber shop and will receive applications from now on.

I wish to repeat the date, Tuesday, March 20, 1945. Tickets will be $6.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JONES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I desire to present a resolution requiring the Department of Public Assistance to furnish information as to the work of the department relating to assistance to the old and aged in order to determine the amount of money paid out for such assistance, and the amount of money recovered through the rule of the department that a bond or other security shall be given.

Heretofore I presented Senate Bill No. 178, together with the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska. This bill provided that no bond or security should be required to provide necessary assistance. I pointed out at that time that this requirement of the Department of Public Assistance effected a discrimination against the man or woman who owned property and who required, in their old age, assistance because the judgment bond is entered of record and becomes a lien upon their property and remains such a lien until their death, unless earlier the lien is reduced to judgment or a judgment is confessed and execution is issued on that judgment for the recovery of the amount of the debt, or, by some other sale, either a tax sale or a judicial sale, the property is sold and there may be some recovery.

I pointed out to the department that this was discrimination against the ones who were saving and economical and who worked all of their lives to own a home and placed an additional and unusual burden upon them. That this is true is evidenced by a case that came to my attention just last Saturday. Mr. Baltzer Brill, of West Hazelton, bought the property in which he resides. He is a man seventy-four years of age, and when he purchased that property he paid $4600 for it. He borrowed some money at the time he purchased it, and there is a balance of $750 due on a mortgage. In 1940 he made application for public assistance, which was granted to him. He has been paid since that time $37.90 per month, aggregating today approximately $2,000 in assistance that he has received, but from this money he paid the interest on his loan in the bank and sustained himself, but was unable to pay his taxes, which aggregate $120 a year, and since 1940 the taxes aggregate approximately $700.

Now the county of Luzerne undertakes to sell his property at the next sale and he tries to raise the money with which to pay these taxes and he has no equity in the property because there is a $2,000 bond in favor of the Department of Public Assistance, a mortgage of $750 in favor of the First National Bank, and in addition to that he owes taxes aggregating $700, leaving no equity.

He received from the First National Bank this letter:

"The First National Bank
Hazleton, Pa.
March 1, 1945

"Mr. Baltzer Brill
409 Winters Ave.
West Hazleton, Penna.

"Dear Mr. Brill:

"This is to inform you that we must demand payment of your note on or before March 10, 1945.

"If payment is not made we will have take lawful steps to collect, which will mean foreclosure and sheriff sale.

"Your prompt attention to this matter will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE WALSER, Cashier."

I desire to point out at this time that it is not only discrimination, but it is not good business, to require a bond of this character. The assistance money, as I have shown, is not sufficient to provide support and pay taxes and pay interest on the money usually, and therefore the property is liable to be sold.

When he made application for public assistance he was informed by agents of the Department of Public Assistance that the department would take care of everything, that he need not worry any more, but now, is faced with the loss of his home, he is in a great dilemma, and he goes to his friends and they advise him to go to the agents of the department, which he does, and informs them that he needs help to save his property.

They say they are without authority to assist him, his property will need be sold, and so it becomes the duty of the Legislature to provide a law which will protect this old man and his property.

The example I cite raises a question of the advisability of requiring the bond.

I state, as a business proposition, that I have studied the reports of the department and I have learned the amounts they pay out in public assistance and the amounts that they collect from the individuals who are assisted, and the total that I have here as the amount paid out for the last year is $29,318,442, and they collected $1,100,000, or approximately three per cent of all of the assistance rendered—recovery for old age assistance is about one per cent less—to discover whether these figures are true, I am requesting that the Department of Public Assistance furnish the Committee on Welfare with the necessary information so that they can themselves see from the records precisely what the situation is.

I say to you, Mr. President, that this business of collecting this three per cent by the Commonwealth is not a money maker, even for the Commonwealth; it is a money loser. It is a business which not only deprives the old man and the old lady of their property, which, as I said, they earned and saved from very small wages, frequently over many years, after raising a large family and in the exercise of the strictest economy, and yet the loss of their property to them, representing their life savings, is a catastrophe.

When they reach the period of life requiring assistance, particularly where they have reached that period when they are going down the western slope of life's steep hillside, soon to rest at the foot thereof, unable longer to earn, and apply for public assistance, they are informed that in order to obtain this assistance they must sign a judgment bond.

There are some who decline to do so and continue to live in want. There are others who are hopeful and who rely on representations of the agents of the department, who give them assurance that the department will protect them, that they will be permitted to live in the home all the days of their life, and the few helpless remaining years they have left, without hunger and in warmth and comfort, and they are prevailed upon to sign, in order to comply with this regulation of the board, in order to obtain relief, and when the agent comes in the home and makes those representations and induces the old lady or old man to sign, he walks nervously across the room and picks up with nervous fingers and with shaking hands a pen and puts his name on the dotted line, relying on every word of it and having confidence that everything will be well.

But, as the years pass, the gilded air castles built by the enthusiastic department agent too soon dissolve into unfulfilled promises and shattered hopes, and he learns that the instrument he has signed, which he believed would entitle him to the Holy Grail and a kind haven for a good old age, was a burdensome and destructive device of his happiness and comfort and, as a matter of fact, that it is a treacherous document, simply in order to obtain for this Commonwealth recovery of three per cent of the money advanced. It is a poor business deal indeed, a money loser, as I have said, and it tightens their heart strings until they ache with pain as they watch the dissipation of their homes, which they have longed for all their lives, worked for and saved for, with the fond hope that in their last remaining years, even as they were entering the deepening dusk of the last of many a happy day in their home, they would retain it.

I ask you Senators in all sincerity, why should the Commonwealth permit its department to invoke a regulation under the guise of charity, which can only work a great injustice to the aged, the helpless and the needy, those who tried to be home owners and good Americans and who are, through this rule, punished in their late years because they dare to own an American home.

And so, Mr. President, I present to the Chair a resolution so that when the committee considers this bill it shall have full information and will be able to act with complete knowledge on this subject.

RESOLUTIONS

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE REQUESTED TO FURNISH INFORMATION RELATING TO ASSISTANCE TO THE AGED

Mr. JONES offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions:

In the Senate, March 6, 1945.

Requesting the Department of Public Assistance to furnish information as to the work of the Department relating to assistance to the aged.

Whereas, the Public Assistance Law of 1937 provides for public assistance to aged persons;

And Whereas, the said law provides in Section 2, Clause (h) of the Act of June 26, 1939, P. L. 1091 that the Department of Public Assistance shall cause to be published, for the information of the public, information as to the work of the department;

And Whereas, Such information has been published in monthly reports, which reports give lump sums or amounts of money paid out for Old Age Assistance; and further, contain recitals of lump sums received in repayment of such Old Age Assistance and of assistance to other indigent persons, but does not separate the amount received in repayment of Old Age Assistance from that of repayments by indigent persons and others;

Now Therefore, in order that the information required as to the work of the department, relating to Old Age Assistance, and that such information may contain the amounts paid out monthly for such Old Age Assistance, as well as the specific amounts repaid or collected from Old Age Assistance, it is hereby resolved that the Department of Public Assistance shall furnish to each member of the Committee of Public Welfare and Assistance an itemized statement of the amounts paid out during the year 1944 for Old Age Assistance, together with the amounts received in repayment of Old Age Assistance and collected from the aged from the ones owning real estate and those not owning real estate; and the cost and expenses of collection thereof by the Department.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, if I may, I would like to add a few words to the statement just made by the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Jones. I fully realize that the bill is not before the Senate at this time and probably I am out of order, but I would like to make a brief statement.

For the last ten years, Mr. President, I have fought that same battle, practically lone-handed. In later years many of my colleagues on this side of the Senate thought that I was fighting a good battle and they agreed with me, so I am sure I may state that the members on this side of the Senate are fully in accord with what has been said by the Senator from Luzerne, and I believe the time has arrived when we must sit down and realize just what is taking place.

I have heard so much during the last ten years on the floor of the Senate and the House, men speaking of Americanism, Communism, Naziism, Bolshevism and oftentimes, Mr. President, I wonder whether we ourselves are not helping to create the same condition we spoke of.

Certainly then it is unfair to a man or women who is in the sunset of life and who has but a few years to live, and through no fault of his own, must apply for aid, and just because he has been conservative, because he has a home and he is compelled to ask for aid from this great Commonwealth, we tell him that first he must sign on the dotted line.

I wonder what the youngsters are thinking of, the coming generation, whether or not they might be somewhat fearful of trying to acquire property. They may say to themselves: "Let us not take part in civic affairs and social affairs and, about all else, let us forget about a home, because some day we might suffer the same fate that Dad and Mother are suffering today."

It is discriminating entirely, gentleman, because the man who has a property, the man who has been conservative, the man who helped make America, is being penalized, while on the other hand the public drone, the man who cares not for society, the man who cares not for civic affairs, he has nothing, he signs nothing, it just does not make sense to me because you are penalizing the man who has been conservative and who definitely is opening the gate for the man who cared not for what you do.

I think the time has arrived when we must amend the public assistance law and get away from discriminatory legislation, and that is what this bill is, discriminatory against people who have something and opening up an avenue for those who have nothing.

I do hope the resolution as presented by the gentleman from Luzerne will be helpful to the committee, and I trust the committee will consider the resolution and consider a number of bills in that committee and bring out the bills from committee to the floor of this Senate and give the balance of the members an opportunity to discuss them and then finally dispose of them by defeating them or passing them over to the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. I wonder whether the 10,000,000 utility users in Pennsylvania have involuntarily surrendered their rights, I am inclined to think they have been sacrificed by all branches of our State Government. Judging from the records since 1939, there is one inescapable conclusion—little or nothing has been done for the rate-payer or consumer. However, much has been done for private utilities. I wonder why? We all know the answer.

The utility users have, time and again, raised their voices in protest against poor utility service and exorbitant rates, but their pleas have fallen upon deaf ears. Regulation of service and fixing of rates by the Public Utility Commission, our agent—the people's agent—is fast becoming a myth. Today it amounts to regulation of public utility service by the public utilities themselves, not by a governmental agency concerned with the public interest. The public interest has become solely the corporate interest. Yes, today we face a governmental rubber stamping of corporate policy that is destructive of government itself. Private gain at public expense is the byword today. May I invite close inspection of the records of the Public Utility Commission for the past 6 years, and for 24 years prior to 1937. There was one brief interlude and a welcome one for the consumers for only two years—1937 and 1938.

Let us now pass on to the judicial branch of the Government (State) and determine their attitude respecting matters affecting private utilities and rate payers. It can best be learned from their decisions, and I have in mind the Superior Court. I invite close inspection of their records. After having examined them, I believe you will agree with me that they lean heavily toward the private utility. Is it possible that the majority of the members of the Superior Court entertain economic and political views that they cannot rid themselves of when they hear these cases? I should like to know. Further, when they extend themselves to the point of substituting their will for that of the Legislature—setting themselves up as a fact finding body, it leaves room for considerable thought and speculation. The matter is fraught with special significance. This is what concerns me most at the present time.

I direct the attention of the Senate to the arbitrary action of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in the rate case of the Philadelphia Transportation Co. vs. Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (City of Philadelphia, Intervenor) whereby all bus, trolley, subway and elevated fares in the Philadelphia area will inevitably be increased.

The Superior Court on September 18, 1944, set aside the unanimous decision of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission which denied the proposed fare increase and made findings of facts the effect of which will be to increase the fares.

The Commission fixed the valuation of the Company's property at $77,000,000. The Superior Court added $16,000,000 to that figure making a new valuation of $93,000,000. It then ordered that the Company be allowed to earn 6½ per cent on that valuation, the highest rate of return permitted to any public utility in Pennsylvania. As fares are fixed by valuation and rate of return, the people of Philadelphia area are now sentenced by the Superior Court to pay increased fares when the war emergency shall have passed.

By this action, the Superior Court has arrogated to itself the function of a Super-Utility Commission. It has overstepped the boundaries of its legal powers and has invaded not only the duties and rights of the Public Utility Commission, but has also seized powers that belong to the legislative arm of the Government. Fundamentally, the investigation and fact-finding responsibilities in rate cases reside with the General Assembly, but for the sake of efficiency and thoroughness, the Legislature has delegated its power to the Public Utility Commission.

The only function of the Superior Court when rate cases are appealed is to decide points of law and to remand issues of fact back to the Commission for further study or classification. What the Superior Court has attempted to do in this case, in my judgment, calls for a thorough investigation by the Senate.

A previous fare increase by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. predecessor of the Philadelphia Transportation Co. investigated by this body disclosed grave scandals and exposure of certain members of the former Public Service Commission.

It is high time for another investigation. Recently, the country was shocked by revelations of outlawry in a certain section of Brooklyn. Murder Incorporated was the name given to the appalling condition. In Philadelphia, we have had another criminal conspiracy. For generations, it has centered in our street car system. The fit and proper name for it is Larceny, Inc.

The history of this company goes back to the organization of a number of small horse car companies serving separate communities in the Philadelphia areas. After charters were granted these companies were plentifully watered and preparations made for a killing in which thousands of investors were to be swindled. The scheme was accomplished through a Syndicate headed by Widener, Elkin S. Yerkes and others. Capital structures were pyramided and then merged into a bewildering mass of financial legerdemain, the feature of which was the invention of leases for 999 years through which the heavily watered neighborhood companies were guaranteed extravagantly high rentals for 999 years.

John G. Johnson, the noted corporation lawyer, devised this scheme through which the underlying companies milked car riders and investors of extorted millions of dollars for generations. But stock-watering and pyramiding were not the only crimes against the public in the development of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit System. Graft on a grand scale appeared in the Larceny picture. A troupe of gang politicians through their tools in office applied for a Street Transportation charter. They owned no cars, no rails, no property of any kind. Of course, the charter was granted, and was immediately sold to the Syndicate for stock and cash with the nominal value of millions. That graft stock was promptly incorporated in the capital structure of the company and since that time has remained there, having the same value as the stock for which honest investors paid good hard cash.

Naturally, all this financial hocus-pocus brought chaos. The drain of dividends by the underliers and the Syndicate made it impossible to pay decent wages. Disastrous strikes were the result. A Public Service Commission that was over friendly to the company granted a temporary increase in fares. The Supreme Court found the valuation of the Company's property to be in excess of $200,000,000, and the increase was made permanent. Public indignation in the Philadelphia area reached earthquake proportions. Investigation by this body followed and certain members of the Commission were disgraced by the revelations. The Commission attempted to whitewash itself by hiring Hon. Charles C. McChord, former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission to make a survey of the Company's capital structure. His report was an indictment of the financial jugglers and grafters. The report was immediately suppressed. I assert that it is the duty of this Senate to make public this suppressed document.

The latest phase of the transit swindle came when E. T. Stotesbury, acting for the Drexel Morgan crowd, imported Thomas E. Mitten from Chicago to handle the situation. Yerkes of the Philadelphia Syndicate had gone to Chicago where he developed new flim flam angles in the Chicago transit situation. Mitten was his pupil and he brought new ideas with him. One of his new ideas was the strike proof Company Union. His scheme was to issue annual wage increases in the form of common stock. He told the workers these increases would make them partners in the Company and that ultimately they would own the Company outright. The catch was that the stock was parcelled out to at $34 a share, when, in fact, it had little or no market value. Like the previous firm flam, it was plain larceny. The workers instead of getting any wage increases, were left holding a bag of hot air.

The situation today is this: After several years of investigation by engineers and accountants the Commission found the total value of the Company's property to be $77,000,000. Some members of the Commission held at least that some of the graft and water should be purged from the capital structure and that the valuation should not be more than $48,000,000, but they concurred in the order refusing the petition to increase fares. The Superior Court, however, without hearing any further testimony, without the aid or advice of any experts, calmly set aside and ignored the evidence of engineers, accountants and other experts and added $16,000,000 to the valuation. To cap its findings for the company, it ordered that the Company be permitted to earn 6½ per cent on the $93,000,000 figure. That, of course, means increased fares for every man, woman and child in the Philadelphia area when transportation conditions become normal.

I maintain that the Superior Court acted illegally, arbitrarily and against the public interest in the matter, I charge that it violated the Constitutional provisions defining the governmental boundaries between legislative and judicial functions. In short, it has usurped the powers and functions of the legislature and has established itself as a fact-finding body.

I charge further that the Superior Court in this matter violated Section 1107 of Public Utility Law which became effective June 1, 1937, and provides: "Any appeal to the Superior Court shall be determined upon the record certified by the Commission to the Court. The order of the Commission shall not be vacated or set aside either in whole or in part except for error of law or lack of evidence to support the finding, determination or order of the Commission, or violation of constitutional rights.

I assert that no error of law has been found by the Court and that there is no lack of evidence to support the Commission's order. The Company does not claim any violation of any Constitutional right.

In brief, this action by the Superior Court is so flagrantly defiant of law and common justice that it calls for a thorough investigation.

Let us not forget that the Superior Court is our creature, and as such their activities can be investigated.

URGING INVESTIGATION OF THE PHILADELPHIA TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Utilities:

In the Senate, March 6, 1945.

The importance of transportation grows with the years and today it has become most vital as a necessity of life itself.

Shortly after transportation became mechanized, it was discovered that the operation thereof and the fares charged for such transportation could not be left in the hands of private enterprise. Accordingly the State was obliged to intervene and the State did so by having the Legislature enact laws under which businesses of this type was regulated.

Today the regulation by legislation of Public Utilities is taken for granted. However, the Legislature still has the burden of seeing to it that transportation is sufficient and adequate, and that the rates therefor are not excessive.

Utility Commissions created by the Legislature can handle much of the fact finding activities relating to transportation and its costs among other activities. However, as stated the burden is still with the General Assembly to determine what services shall be rendered and at what cost.

All of this is elementary, and yet occasionally we must state our position so that when it is to be observed that complaints made to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in relation to the inadequate and insufficient service and to excessive fares for such service go unanswered the General Assembly must take a hand; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to make a searching investigation of the financial structure of the Philadelphia Transportation Company to determine to what extent there are physical assets belonging to the company and the value thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee investigate the prevailing rate of fares to determine if they are not more than sufficient to pay all reasonable charges on all cash honestly invested in the company; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall investigate the present service of the company to determine to what degree the said service is both inadequate and insufficient; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall carefully examine all unanswered complaints filed with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission whether such complaints be formally filed or not, so that if such complaints warrant investigation for the purpose of obtaining relief, such investigation shall be made; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall dedicate itself to perform the burden of the legislature, that is to exercise its legislative powers in such a manner as to be responsive to and mindful of the powers inherent in the people of this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall make a report to the Senate at the earliest possible date, and if not to the Senate, then, to the Governor, in no event later than October 1, 1945.

URGING INVESTIGATION OF THE DECISION OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General:

In the Senate, March 6, 1945.

Some years ago the Philadelphia Transportation Company made application to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission for an increase in rates.

To this proposal, there was such violent public reaction, which continued to grow, until the company itself admitted during the course of the hearings that as there had been a substantial increase in the number of riders using its services, no advance would be required in its rates.

At the conclusion of the hearings, the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission fixed the valuation of the Philadelphia Transportation Company at seventy-seven million dollars ($77,000,000).

From this valuation, the transportation company appealed to the Superior Court and to the amazement of everyone, the Superior Court arbitrarily raised the valuation of said Company from seventy-seven million dollars ($77,000,000) to ninety-three million dollars ($93,- 000,000), an increase of sixteen million ($16,000,000) above the value as fixed by the commission.

The Superior Court in thus increasing the valuation by sixteen million dollars ($16,000,000), usurped the powers of the Legislature and more particularly, the powers of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission which is the arm of the Legislature in determining the facts on which public utility rates are to be fixed.

Such valuation as increased by the Superior Court was made without any investigation of its own, the Court having accepted and rejected figures as submitted on the record.

The Superior Court accordingly controverted the provisions of the Public Utility Law of May 28, 1937 (P. L. 1053), more particularly part of section 1107 thereof which provides as follows:

"The order of the commission shall not be vacated or set aside, either in whole or in part, except for error of law or lack of evidence to support the finding, determination, or order of the commission or violation of constitutional rights."

The Superior Court assumed the function of a fact finding body, disregarding the provisions of law which specifically place that function, power and duty in the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission; to which commission it should have sent the case for a re-examination of the facts or a redetermination of the valuation if the Superior Court desired any such re-consideration.

The Superior Court went further, and provided for a return of 6½%, the highest ever permitted in the State of Pennsylvania, not on the valuation as fixed by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, but on a valuation of $16,000,000 above that figure as determined by said commission, the inevitable result of which must be an increase in fares upon a return to normal economic conditions; Now therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of five members of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to make a searching and impartial investigation of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania with respect to the decision of "Philadelphia Transportation Company, Appellant v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, 155 Pennsylvania Superior Court 9," and as the circumstances leading to that decision; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall make a report to the Senate now in session as early as possible or at the latest, to the Governor by July 1, 1945, if the Senate shall have adjourned prior thereto.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I will try to be brief because I know the hour is growing late, and I also want to say that you will hear more about this from the floor of the United States Senate on Thursday of this week.

I want to get into the record of expenditures of the various units of the Republican organization of the State of Pennsylvania for the general election of 1944. We all know there is a federal law which says each party shall spend $3,000,000 in a national contest and I want, for the information of the Senate, to let them know that the Republican organization in Pennsylvania collected alone $3,242,747.74, and they have on hand—which you gentlemen probably will be glad to hear—in the various committees $875,208.64, to try to buy the next election.

Breaking these expenditures down this way, they show Republican State Committee expenditures in amount $379,480.51, they show Republican Finance Committee expenditures in amount $934,698.06, and they show expenditures of various Republican committees in Pennsylvania in amount $684,895.70, making a total of $1,999,074.27.

Republican county expenditures—and eight of them have not filed as yet—but of the ones that have filed, Mr. President, they spent $901,125.74.

We then subtract from that the money given these committees by the various finance committees, and that amounts to $573,298.48, leaving total county expenditures—less what they did not get from the State Finance Committee and the State Committee—$327,827.26.

Then there were thirty-three congressional districts which filed and they spent $40,647.57. In other words they spent $2,367,539.10.

I think they ought to change the name of the party to the "Do-Re-Mi Party."

Here is what the Republican State Committee had left in its treasury thirty days after last November 8, $137,082.79. The Finance Committee had $313,648.16, the various county committees had a balance of $147,574.46, and various state organizations had $276,906.23 or a total of $875,208.64.

In fact, they were so wealthy they even reached out to New Mexico, South Dakota and Wyoming and sent them some money from here to help those poor states.

As I say, Mr. President, you will hear more about this from the floor of the United States Senate on Thursday of this week, but this is a matter that does concern the Senate of Pennsylvania and the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and for that reason, Mr. President, I present to the Chair the following resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

URGING THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY REPUBLICAN FINANCE COMMITTEE TO FURNISH SOURCE OF CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVED

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 6, 1945.

Whereas, In the general election held in November of 1944 there was formed a committee known as the "Republican Finance Committee of Allegheny County," and

Whereas, The official records of said committee filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, indicates receipts of $505,698.67, and further indicates expenditures of $262,894.85, leaving a balance of $242,803.82, and

Whereas, Said official record, either in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth or the Election Department of Allegheny County, fails to reveal the source of the contributions made to said committee, and

Whereas, Under the Election Code as amended, the Treasurer of any such finance committee is required to file a full, true and detailed account, sworn to by him, setting forth each and every sum of money received, the date of such receipt and the name of the person from whom received, and

Whereas, No effort has been made by the Treasurer of said committee to comply with the Election Code in this respect, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of Pennsylvania, that the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and is hereby ordered to direct the Treasurer of the Allegheny County Republican Finance Committee to comply with the Election Code, as amended, and to furnish to the said Secretary of the Commonwealth within ten days hereof, the source by name of each and every contribution received by him and the date of such receipt, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth do notify the Senate of Pennsylvania in writing, of the receipt of said information.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, to begin with, it seems a shame that the Republicans spent all that money last fall.

This resolution, Mr. President, is rather lengthy and I think it ought to be given proper consideration and so I object to immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the resolution is very simple. All it asks is that the Secretary of the Commonwealth comply with the election code and that the Republican Finance Committee of Allegheny County furnish the names of those who contributed $505,698.67, which by law should have been in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth by last December 8.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny intimated by his speech that Senator Guffey was going to report on this thing on the floor of the United States Senate. Maybe it would be better to hear what he has to say.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, Mr. Guffey is not a member of the Republican State Committee or of the Allegheny County Committee. I do not know whether this matter will be presented on the floor of the United States Senate by Senator Guffey or Senator Green, or somebody else but I do know I received word that the matter would be taken up.

There were some people who were down there last fall and I know they are going to look into expense accounts in Pennsylvania and that will be done on Thursday, but that has nothing to do with this resolution, which merely requests that the Secretary of the Commonwealth comply with the provisions of the election code and furnish to the Secretary of the Commonwealth the names of the people who contributed $505,698.67 to the Republican Finance Committee of Allegheny County.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I still would like to know what Mr. Guffey has to say about this thing and for that reason I object to immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT. There has been objection and the Chair has no alternative other than refer the resolution to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I will not debate the decision of the Chair but I do wish to state that if the resolution is not out by next Monday, I shall try to see that they comply with the law and that anyone elected from Allegheny county last year not be paid for any state job he is now holding, as is provided in the election code.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, was elected last fall; does he include himself in that.

Mr. BARR. Not for the "Do Re Mi," Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Allegheny will have to call a witness. How do we know he did not get some of that money?

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Elections.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am about to request that this bill go over in its order. Before doing so, however, I should like to make a very brief address on this matter concerning this bill.

I think every member of this Chamber is in sympathy with this bill. Some of my colleagues feel I probably weakened the structure of the bill. I have tried to make it a sensible bill because it affects life itself. These amendments I have today introduced were given to me by members of the medical profession of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I am not sure they are right. However, I am trying to be decent about it and I do think the bill will serve its purpose. I am trusting that each member of the Senate will read the amendments and keep the bill on the Calendar at least until Monday, and if any one has any objection I would then like to have a public hearing.

I have found no objections to this bill, despite the fact that I have received 311 letters from people throughout not only the Commonwealth but from 18 states, who were interested in this piece of legislation.

I am told that, quietly, some of the medical men are trying to offer their opposition but they will not come out to a public hearing, they have no desire to come out where some one might learn who they might be.

I trust the members of this Chamber will give this bill a fair hearing and if any person in the Commonwealth wishes to appear before the committee and offer his objection, certainly he has a right to do so, but I will file serious objection if you try to smother this bill by quiet work and not let it be known to the people of the Commonwealth.

Up to this moment the Chairman of the Committee on Public Health has been very fair and very courteous. He brought the bill out at my request, he placed it on the Calendar at my request, it went over a number of days so we might get in touch with all of those who might have amendments to offer or who might find some objections.

I am told that the Hospital Association of the Commonwealth is not in favor of the bill but they will not oppose the bill. They would like to leave the word "hospital" out. On the other hand, the doctors say "put the hospitals in but leave us out."

Each and every doctor to whom I have talked definitely gave him approval of this bill. These amendments, I believe, will not weaken the bill much and it will serve its purpose.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 307, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Almighty God, our Father, we bow humbly before Thy power and providence.

We thank Thee for the many blessings which come from Thee; for our nation, the justice, liberty and equality it preserves, and for the many benefits it provides for us. We are grateful for Thy protection of our state.

Guide us as the leaders of the people in accepting our sacred trust and in fulfilling our responsibilities to Thee and to our fellowmen. May we labor to apply Thy will to our personal lives and effect it among men.

As we look into the future and lay our plans for it may we be led to do those things which will benefit all Thy people. O God, use us in making this nation a better nation, its people happier, its opportunities bigger and better, and its achievements nobler and finer. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TURNER.

RESOLUTION No. 34.

In the House of Representatives, March 5, 1945.

There are hundreds of young men of this Commonwealth fighting today in France and Belgium and Germany and on the islands of the Pacific who have been awarded their law degrees, but have not had the time and have been deprived of the opportunity to take the examination that must be successfully passed before they can be admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court because of their enlistment or induction into the service.

They are learning more about life and more about justice, and fairness, and equity than they could absorb in a score of years at home, and they are doing it in order to preserve our courts and our system of government by law.

While they are doing these things, they are losing the years that are important in the practice of the law, they are forgetting many of the minor things that one must remember in order to pass a bar examination, and when they return many will be required to spend months in preparing for the taking of the required examination. Their sacrifices and their injuries and the long days spent in active service will have no value in any examination—those sacrifices, and that time will only make an examination more difficult and what they did for us will prove a handicap; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that this House respectfully calls the attention of the members of the Supreme Court to the situation in which these boys have placed themselves, to the loss to them and to the great gain their sacrifice has meant to us, and suggests that it would be most fitting and appropriate to waive the taking of an examination to all those who have been in the armed service of the Nation for one year or more and who, before entering that service, had graduated from an accredited law school, and had no opportunity to take the State Bar Examinations; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Prothonotary of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, with the request that they be handed by him to the members of that Court.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MODELL offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1 (title), page 3, lines 19 and 20, by striking out the words "requiring the approval of the Attorney General for prosecutions thereunder".

Amend sec. 1 (title), page 3, line 23, by striking out the words "the acquisition by".

Amend sec. 1 (title), page 3, lines 24, 25 and 26, by striking out the word "the" in line 24, all of line 25, and the word "tunnels" in line 26.

Amend sec. 1 (title), page 3, line 28, by striking out the words "authorizing the Sanitary Water Board".

Amend sec. 1 (title), page 4, lines 1 to 5, by striking out all the words in said lines, both inclusive.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I had these amendments sent to my desk by the sponsor, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, a few moments ago. It is very easy to recognize the purpose of the amendments. They strike out every amendment which was inserted in the original bill by the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation prior to its being reported to the House from committee.

I do not intend to make any protracted speech with regard to them. I think the bill as amended now represents the serious thought of the Attorney General, the Secretary of Mines, industry as a whole, the coal industry and myself as the sponsor. I sincerely urge that the bill be retained in its present form except for what possible amendments may be offered during the progress of this bill on second reading. I think that the bill as amended now is most desirable and that the amendments now in the bill in no way weaken it. I urge that the membership vote these amendments down.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner, the original sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, before I begin, I trust you will bear with me as my voice has fog horn qualities as I have a touch of laryngitis, and I will try to make it as short as possible.

I desire to know from the gentleman if the bill as it amends the Pure Streams Act of 1937 takes away the exemption as set forth in Section 310 of the original bill, which permitted filthy water and acid mine drainage to be discharged into the streams of the Commonwealth.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, it is designed to remove the silt infiltration.

Mr. MODELL. Am I correct in my understanding, Mr. Speaker, that under the old Act of 1937 the Sanitary Water Board had the discretion of prosecution, or instituting a prosecution in that they could determine whether there were practical means of eliminating the silt.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Am I further correct, Mr. Speaker, in my understanding that there were practical means found since the date of 1937 for removing the silt?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, may I reply to the gentleman by saying, if it were not for that I would not have introduced the 1943 silt bill. There were then, as there are now, practical means for elimination of the silt from the wash waters of the mines.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, may I further ask the gentleman whether the Sanitary Water Board has ever used that discretion which was granted to them under the original act?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. May I reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia by stating that it is my belief that during the year 1944 the Attorney General rendered his opinion to the Sanitary Water Board, pursuant to which the Sanitary Water Board made a ruling that practical means in its opinion were available for the elimination of silt, and under the discretion power in that section so ruled.

Mr. MODELL. Am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, that the Sanitary Water Board ever moved in the use of its discretion?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, it did.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, as a result of that action on the part of the Sanitary Water Board were there ever any prosecutions, to the gentleman's knowledge?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to answer that fully except that certain actions were brought in equity against coal operators who were violating the law, in an effort to have them comply with the ruling of the Sanitary Water Board.

Mr. MODELL. I thank the gentleman and I further desire to interrogate him as to whether by his original House Bill No. 1 discretion was taken from the Sanitary Water Board and that then it would become a crime to discharge silt and filthy water into the streams of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, before I reply to the gentleman may I state that I too have been suffering from laryngitis and I would ask the indulgence of the House, although I will be as brief as possible because I anticipate I may have a great deal of talking to do before this bill passes on second reading.

However, my reply to the gentleman is that he is correct, but that the amendment which is in here now is not detrimental, in my opinion, because the Sanitary Water Board and the Attorney General are appointed by the Governor and reflect his attitude. I believe that in the past public opinion has demonstrated that it is the public's desire in the state of Pennsylvania to have pure streams and that any candidate running for the office of Governor will be forced to pledge to the people of Pennsylvania that he means to enforce the Pure Streams Act; that any board such as the Sanitary Water Board or any Attorney General appointed by the Governor will have to fulfill that Governor's promises to the people of Pennsylvania, and I have personal confidence that the act will be administered as faithfully and as strictly as it would be without that amendment in it.

Mr. MODELL. That was a very long answer, Mr. Speaker, which included a response to my question and more besides. However, it is my understanding, Mr. Speaker, from the gentleman that under the amendment to this bill at the present time the Sanitary Water Board is to set up standards or a yardstick of policy for every river in the state?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, this is a discretionary power of the Sanitary Water Board, I take it?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. May I further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether the Sanitary Water Board today is composed of the same members that it was composed of in 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940 and up to the present time.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I believe substantially so. They reflect a different attitude as of today, however.

Mr. MODELL. Then I desire to ask the gentleman whether in effect his bill today as amended would take the discretion away from the Sanitary Water Board as to whether practical means have been found to eliminate the silt and give that same Sanitary Water Board the discretion as to whether or not certain mines or industries are polluting in sufficient quantities to be injurious to the health of the people who are affected thereby.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I think, Mr. Speaker, that the Members of the House can benefit by referring to the definition of "pollution" which has been amended, and in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, I would like to read the amendment.

"The Sanitary Water Board shall determine when the discharge of any industrial waste or effluent at therefrom after treatment or sedimentation constitutes pollution as herein defined and shall establish standards whereby and whereupon so far as reasonably practicable and possible it can be ascertained and determined whether any such discharge does or does not constitute pollution as herein defined."

I think, Mr. Speaker, that that is a fair amendment. I think it is necessary to have a yardstick of different lengths with regard to different streams and I think the degree of pollution is also variable in that respect.

Mr. MODEL. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, without talking at length upon this particular amendment, as the gentleman explained before, the purpose of my amendment is to delete from the bill on the calendar the amendments which were put into this bill and give to this body the original bill as it was introduced by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

I have tried to show through my questioning of the sponsor that what these amendments will do will be to give the Sanitary Water Board a certain amount of discretion which discretion is something that this body or board already has. All we are doing is taking the type of discretion and changing it, so that as a result of passing the bill now before this body we will have happen this, that the Sanitary Water Board will be the same board that we have always had, one that has not acted when it did have the discretion to act. We will have the same type and power of discretion given to that board and we will have the same result in this State, which will be dirty water.

It occurs to me that the Sponsor and other gentlemen in the House, such as the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and many others whom I could mention are most sincere in their efforts and have been for many years along this particular line, but it also occurs to me that those gentlemen in their desire to pass such a bill as House Bill No. 1 are willing to make compromises, compromises which I do not think the people of this Commonwealth want to stand for. If we are going to give the people that which they have sought for many years then we must give them House Bill No. 1, not House Bill No. 1 as amended. If we really intend to do a job then I say to you if you insist upon these amendments, then formulate a new board, which is not controlled, one which is not under the guidance of the Secretary of Health, and I ask the Members of this House to vote for these amendments which I have introduced, so that we can then vote for House Bill No. 1 as it was originally introduced.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire whether or not there is any provision in this bill whereby the State demands or compels a borough or other political subdivision to construct a sewage disposal plant.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, may I reply by saying that while this question does not deal with the amendments before the House, that it will afford me an opportunity to say no to the interrogation. House Bill No. 1 in no way deals with the installing of a sewage system in any borough or municipally in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would not have taken the time of the House in asking this question if I had not heard a number of Legislators inquire whether the boroughs were affected by this bill in this manner.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the Majority Floor Leader as to whether or not the Brunner Bill as originally introduced was not the Administration bill for pure streams in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I desire further to inquire of the gentleman as to whether or not the bill as amended is not the Administration bill for pure streams in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I should like to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether he as the Majority Leader of his party believes that the bill now as amended after a conference with the coal operators and mining industries of Pennsylvania is as strong and as good a bill as it was when it was introduced originally by Mr. Brunner.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, not being an engineer and knowing all these problems as to what would make this a most desirable bill, it is rather difficult for me to answer. I believe that the amendments allow standards of pure water to be set up by the group of men who are qualified and trained in this field. But I would like to qualify the statement of the gentleman by saying that the conferences were held prior to the drawing of these amendments and were not wholly with the coal operators and manufacturers but wish many of the other interested conservation groups in Pennsylvania who have been fighting for a program of this kind for many, many years.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not the belief of the gentleman from Lehigh that the meeting with the coal operators and mining and industrial leaders of Pennsylvania was a shadow-boxing affair with the Governor and Attorney General, because it is an obvious fact in the Commonwealth that the coal operators and the mining and industrial leaders of Pennsylvania were the prime polluters of the streams of Pennsylvania, have been and are today.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Will the gentleman please rephrase or restate that question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please make his question as short as possible?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not an obvious fact to the Majority Leader that we have compromised this piece of legislation, not with people who are impartial on the subject matter but with the very prime polluters of the streams of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I must disagree with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, and say that I do not believe the people called into the conference to consider amendments to this bill are the most flagrant violators in polluting the streams of Pennsylvania. He has talked only of the coal operators. Certainly silt is a problem in the overall program. The gentleman fails to recognize that this bill is to govern the polluting of streams, not only in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, the central part and the western part, but every stream in Pennsylvania, and I hate to mention it, Mr. Speaker, but probably the city from which the gentleman comes might be qualified today as one of the most flagrant violators in the matter of pollution when we think of the three hundred million gallons of raw sewage dumped into the streams around the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, all right, then may I further inquire of the gentleman whether or not the amendments offered or rather O. Ked by the Attorney General of the State and the Governor of the Commonwealth do not still permit these same polluters, whether they be in Philadelphia or in any other county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to continue the very things that the original Brunner Bill would have abolished.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. They do not, Mr. Speaker. Certainly not, because we have set up a standard of water purity. If the gentleman thinks we can again in Pennsylvania, in an industrial state of the size of Pennsylvania get back to the type of water which we had when the Indians occupied this land, I think that he has a few more guesses coming.

Mr. LEVY. Then I would like to inquire of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, what is meant by the amendments inserted in committee, when it gives back to the Sanitary Water Board the right to determine the extent of treatment necessary, when the Majority Leader knows full well and the Governor of the Commonwealth knows full well that this very same Sanitary Water Board was always tender in its treatment of the polluters of Pennsylvania. Then I naturally ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, what assurance have we or what reason has he to believe that the attitude of this same Sanitary Water Board is going to, all of a sudden, like a miracle, be changed; for what reason?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the best reply is in the action of the Sanitary Water Board since the Attorney General rendered an opinion on the LaRue Act of 1937 in which he said that methods were now available which will take from the waters of Pennsylvania silt and many of the other polluting matters, and the action of the Sanitary Water Board since that opinion has been rendered is the best proof of the faith that they are going to keep with the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. Then I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not we ought to be guided by what is said by the Sanitary Water Board or what has been done by the Sanitary Water Board ever since 1937, and I would ask the gentleman from Lehigh with reference to the question propounded by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, name one prosecution that the Sanitary Water Board has started in Pennsylvania against any polluter within the Commonwealth within the past eight years.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have just mentioned to the gentleman the fact that until very recently the Sanitary Water Board was not exercising its authority because of the Act under which they were working, and until the recent opinion of the Attorney General they were not given full authority to act, and certainly not over a period of the last eight years. Since they have been given this authority there has been a great curtailment, because of the war effort, in obtaining the necessary material, both for municipal sewage and for the other industrial wastes going into our streams.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, and then I would ask the gentleman from Lehigh to explain why after the statement was made by the Sanitary Water Board following the LaRue case, why the Brunner Bill was introduced in its original form, if there was no criticism of the Sanitary Water Board, without amendments.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe the very reason that the Brunner Bill was introduced and the prime purpose for the introduction of this bill was because of the LaRue bill of 1937, for the matter of facilitating prosecution and getting away from the long-drawn-out cases of litigation, where it would give a short cut method of prosecution under the provisions of this act. I believe that it is the prime purpose for the introduction of the Brunner Bill. Certainly, under the LaRue bill of 1937, the violations which occurred under the Brunner Bill, were adequately cared for, but the method of prosecution was long and tedious.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the Majority Leader to answer the question, why was the Brunner Bill introduced in its original form only a few months ago when the majority party knew all about the laxity in the Sanitary Water Board and also knew about this change in attitude of this same bureau? Then all of a sudden there is a meeting of the coal operators and other industrial leaders and then the Brunner Bill is tagged with amendments, placing the bill back in the same status it was in the original 1937 act.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia usually makes a speech with every interrogation. It is hard to follow all of his points.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman must have been following them; he is answering them.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I have answered the gentleman in one of my previous answers. As I said before, the LaRue bill was adequate in trying to prevent pollution in the streams of Pennsylvania, and the Brunner as it was recently introduced and as it stands today, as we are considering it on second reading, primarily is to give the Attorney General proper powers and a short cut method of prosecuting violators of this Act.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh if it is not true, no matter how strict a bill is, that if the authority is vested in a weak bureau or board, that the bill loses its effectiveness, if in nothing else, in the enforcement of the same, isn't that true?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the Governor of this Commonwealth in establishing the foundation for this program certainly is not shadow boxing, that he is sincere in wanting to do a job for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. I am convinced and I am positive many of the men on the other side who have had occasion to discuss this problem with the Attorney General, feel that in placing the power of enforcement in his hands it is not shadow boxing but a sincere effort on the part of this administration to cope with this problem.

If the gentleman would take a little of his time I am positive that both the Governor and the Attorney General would be most happy to sit down and discuss with him these problems, and I feel that he would be convinced, as many of his colleagues have been, that both of these men in carrying out this program are sincere, with an honest purpose to do something for the people of Pennsylvania in a problem that we must correct, and which is long overdue in this Commonwealth.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, just one more question. If the gentleman is correct that the Governor of the Commonwealth and the Attorney General of the State are as sincere in this problem as the gentleman wants us to believe, then I want to know, and I am entitled to an answer, as to why after a conference with the polluters of the streams in Pennsylvania, we have these amendments in the bill. We are entitled to an answer, Mr. Speaker, and I think the Majority Leader should be in a position to give it to us.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. The amendments, Mr. Speaker, inserted in the bill, as I stated before are to give the proper authority to the Attorney General to enforce the provisions of the bill. They are reasonable, they are fair and they can be accomplished by industry, by the municipality, by the coal operator—the necessary things that are going to be required of them to comply with these acts. These amendments will enable the Attorney General to definitely enforce the provisions of this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, then is that the only amendment that was inserted in the bill in the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation? I would ask the Majority Leader what about the amendment that gives back to the Sanitary Water Board the right to determine the extent of treatment necessary to preserve the purity of any given stream in Pennsylvania? Let us have that answer.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to specifically ask just what he would like to know in the matter of the Sanitary Water Board setting up the extent of treatment necessary to preserve the purity of any stream.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want to know why the Governor of the Commonwealth and the Attorney General of the state, if they are sincere in their effort to clear up streams of Pennsylvania, agreed to an amendment to give back to the Sanitary Water Board the authority to determine the extent of treatment necessary to preserve the purity of any given waters in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Because, Mr. Speaker, from a practical standpoint I do not believe there is an agency in Pennsylvania better qualified to set up a standard of purity for the various streams in Pennsylvania and to clean up the many streams in Pennsylvania that are polluted. Certainly there will be times when because of methods that will have to be employed, because of the types of industry and the size of the municipalities upon those streams, that there must be certain research work done, there must be certain standards, probably for a temporary period of time at least, set up for the communities and the industries on that stream, which might determine every stream which is today without any pollution at all. Therefore in setting up this amendment, giving authority to one of the most qualified and able agencies of the state government, as I said, with trained engineers personnel in the problem of sanitation, they certainly have what it takes, if you please, to give to the people of Pennsylvania that are interested in this problem the right and proper formula to clear up our streams.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, then I would inquire of the gentleman when he speaks of these highly trained engineers, as to whether or not they are the same highly trained, efficient and capable engineers when they were confronted by violations by polluters in the past who said "We can't do anything about it because of the strong political situation in that political county." Now, let us get down to brass tacks.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I have adequately answered the gentleman. I agree with men all over this House who have been interested in this problem, that in the past the Sanitary Water Board may have been lax in the enforcement of the LaRue Act as it was passed in 1937, and I believe that we could point to a few political tricks pulled from the bag after that act was passed, and laxity in its enforcement. We have come along a few years with that board, probably in the life of many of the men in this House and the people of the Commonwealth when it has not done what it properly might have done to clear the streams in Pennsylvania, but I say that today we have an administration that has definitely launched a program to clean up the waters of Pennsylvania so that the health of the people and industry in Pennsylvania will be benefitted, and that the attitude of the Sanitary Water Board has changed because of the program launched by this administration, and that they are going to carry out the provisions of this act.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot believe that the attitude of the Sanitary Water Board has changed one iota, and I cannot be led to believe in the same vein that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the Attorney General of Pennsylvania are sincere in their rantings about pure streams in Pennsylvania. I did at one time believe so, when the Brunner Bill was first sent to committee in its original form, but today on second reading the truth is out, the Governor and the Attorney General have compromised with the polluters of the streams in Pennsylvania, and in all the interrogation of the Majority Leader he has not yet convinced us that this is not a fact. He really admits that this Sanitary Water Board has been lax, that they have been tender in their treatment of the polluters of the streams of Pennsylvania, and yet he says in the same breath their attitude has changed, they are going to be good boys from now on, and let us give them the works to enforce this piece of legislation.

I say, Mr. Speaker, to the Majority Leader and I say to the Governor of the Commonwealth, if he be sincere in his statement that the press of the state is carrying to the people of Pennsylvania, he will accept the amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, striking out the amendments that were inserted in the committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

And where, gentlemen, do these amendments come from? When we determine the meritorious rating or standing of the amendments let us find out from where they come. They come from a conference in the Governor's office, not with the people interested in cleaning the streams, but with the polluters of the streams in Pennsylvania, and these amendments are the concessions that the Governor and the Attorney General gave to the polluters of the streams of Pennsylvania so as to ease out on a very ticklish political situation.

Yes, I know that the industrial leaders of Pennsylvania are the backbone of the Republican party, but the Governor cannot serve two masters; he cannot serve the people of Pennsylvania who want clean streams and he cannot serve the industrial leaders of Pennsylvania who have supported him. Gentlemen, let us face the facts. As I said before, the Governor may kid you, he is not kidding me. The Governor in his quest, and I understood it was official yesterday, to be United States Senator, certainly will pull the wool over the peoples' eyes because the effects of such a—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell.

Mr. LEVY. I am speaking on the amendments, Mr. Speaker, directly on the amendments.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The rules of this House provide that members confine themselves directly to the question before the House. The question is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell.

Mr. LEVY. And I say, Mr. Speaker, that even if this bill were to be enforced by the same lax, inefficient Sanitary Water Board, and I draw my conclusions from the statement of the Majority Leader himself in the past, if these provisions were to be enforced, we in Philadelphia could not possibly have decent drinking water, I understand, for the next ten years, so that certainly the actions of the administration this afternoon will not be known for some time. That is the reason I respectfully submit to you gentlemen that the original Brunner Bill as it went to the committee was a sincere effort to do the job. With the amendments it sets it back where we were before, with a few minor exceptions.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, let us get the record straight. When this bill was introduced by me in the early part of this session it was realized that perhaps amendments would be introduced to clarify, to supplement, to strengthen. I have myself attended a score of meetings since the original introduction of this measure. I have met with groups who are resident in the area of southeastern Pennsylvania, which is chiefly affected by sewage pollution and silt. I have met with the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, the Secretary of Mines, a sub-committee of twenty-two state-wide conservation groups. I have met with representatives of industries who as the law stands now are violators. I have met very briefly with representatives of the coal industry.

In 1938, 1939 and 1940 my voice was as loud as anyone's in criticism of laxity on the part of the Sanitary Water Board. I realized at that time they could not be assured that there were means available for the elimination of silt, but I knew full well that the law gave them an opportunity and gave them a right to enforce the 1937 act against those industrial polluters with which this state abounded.

I resent the implication that as the sponsor of this bill and as the sponsor of the measure of 1943, which perhaps touched off this entire fight, we submit to amendments to this bill, which means so much to the people of Pennsylvania, for the sake of having the measure passed by this House and the Senate and becoming enacted into law, we agree to amendments which would emasculate it. I repeat to the Members of this House that in season and out of season some of us have devoted our time and effort to see an act put on the books of this Commonwealth of which we could be justly proud, which in our opinion would see the polluters, coal operators, whoever they may be brought to time, and properly so.

At the present time it has been said twenty per cent of the war production emanates from Pennsylvania. We are an industrial state. The future will demonstrate that Pennsylvania will have to have a diversified industry in the post war period, diversified industry to take up the unemployment created by the cessation of the war and the termination of the war contracts.

We as a Commonwealth will have to appeal to business to come into this state; we have no desire to drive it out, and one of the basic requirements of industry and the basic question which they ask when approached by representatives of this state to come in as an employer of millions of people is "What kind of water do you have? Where is good water available?"

This bill is definitely a strong addition to the Pure Streams Act of 1937. I could not have the lack of sincerity, and I do not think that any Member really believes that I could, to stand before my fellow Members of the House here today and ask them to go along on a half proposition. I sincerely believe that the government of this state headed by Governor Martin and Attorney General Duff, militant factors in this program, and the Sanitary Water Board, which reflects their attitude, will make a serious effort and a successful effort to clean up our streams. I again urge that these amendments be defeated.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think there has been an adequate exposition on this side of the House of the problems involved and an answer made to the questions raised by the two gentlemen on the other side, but it seems to me that in the heat of the statements made by the gentlemen on the other side they have polluted the stream of thought in this matter in a way that I would just like to take a few minutes to see whether I cannot straighten it out.

I came to this House twenty years ago, and when I came to this House there were pure streams bills introduced at that time, they had been introduced a number of sessions before I came, and they were introduced from session to session after I came here, but during that time there was an awakening, a constantly increasing awakening of public interest in this great problem. It was at first purely among the conservationists; it was purely among the men who wanted to fish in our streams and who thought our streams should be cleared so that we could have aquatic life. But gradually others began to see that there was a relationship between pure water and our industries and the health of the communities, and it took broader aspects.

The great quarrel that I always had with the men who advocated pure stream legislation was that they wanted to have industry choked off from dumping its waste into the streams, but the minute the Sanitary Water Board clamped down on a municipality and insisted that the municipality clean up and go through with the building of a sewage treatment works their ardor cooled measurably, and they immediately rushed down to Harrisburg to see the officials here to get the Sanitary Water Board to lay off on their community.

I have seen in my time, and I have represented municipalities for a long time, and I have had probably a broader experience in dealing with the sewage problem from a municipal standpoint than any man in this House. I have seen orders by the Sanitary Water Board to municipalities which the municipalities simply pigeon-holed or pushed aside.

Philadelphia has been mentioned, and I don't like to pick out Philadelphia, because every municipality in Pennsylvania except very few are in the same boat, but Philadelphia made an agreement with the Commonwealth many years ago that it would spend three million dollars every year toward creating ample treatment of the sewage of Philadelphia in order that the three hundred million gallons of sewage did not go into the Delaware River at Philadelphia. Philadelphia flagrantly violated that agreement and failed to set aside the necessary money, so that industry is not alone to be picked out as a whipping boy, because this House is not unanimously behind it. I realize there are many now in this House who fear the effect of the enforcement of the Act of 1937 because of the financial effect upon those municipalities.

Now, unless the people are behind the measure you know and I know that there is not enough power in any government, because it was proved during the prohibition era, to enforce laws that the public does not believe in.

So while I have criticized the Sanitary Water Board and while I have quarreled with them on many occasions I say to you in the words of my friend Hon. James Lovett, "let us be fair" about it and let us give the Sanitary Water Board its due.

This is not something new, this yardstick for the determination of the degree of pollution or degree of treatment. Back as far as 1939 the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin through a committee composed of the Sanitary Commissioners of the four states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, worked out a bill which we called a quality water bill, but which in effect set up zones of quality in the Delaware River. That measure was brought to Harrisburg, and before it was ever enacted into law the Sanitary Water Board in Pennsylvania agreed to enforce those provisions in conjunction with the states of New York, New Jersey and Delaware, and in any permits which they have issued and in any efforts which they have made to secure treatment of sewage, they have placed in their certificates a provision that the degree of pollution must be in accordance with the terms set forth in the agreement between the states. It is not a compact, but it is merely reciprocal legislation and an agreement in good faith among neighbors along the Delaware River.

Now then, turning back to industrial wastes, you could not clamp down on industries in Pennsylvania any more than you could the municipalities overnight and say that every one of them must get the effluent out of the stream and stop polluting the streams. You would have closed the largest industries in the state as well as many, many small ones. You would have closed industries that could not afford as they saw it at the time the treatment that was necessary. And as to treatment of many of the wastes, there were no known treatments at that time that were practical to put into effect, and this treatment by which they hope to remove culmi from the streams is something that has only been developed to a practical standard in the last few years.

It has only been a year or so that the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin made exhaustive studies on this subject in the Schuylkill Valley, going to State College, going to engineering concerns, going to the United States Army Engineers and others, visiting pilot plants that have been set up, in order to determine whether it was practical, and therefore we are now arriving at a point where we know that as far as the coal industry is concerned there is a practical method of removal.

In the meantime many industries have discovered that they can build treatment plants for their waste, and that they can recover chemicals and other products which have a value on resale that pays them to invest the money in plants.

I might use as an example the Bethlehem Steel Corporation at Bethlehem. They have within the past two or three years built a treatment plant there and are recovering chemicals and other materials from their waste which are paying them in a commercial sense for the investment of a half million dollars in their treatment plant.

In Philadelphia a couple of years ago the Publiker Alcohol Company was dumping hundreds of tons of waste into the river. It polluted the river so much last summer that it was injuring the activity at the United States Naval Yards at League Island. It was dangerous to the health of the sailors who were in service there; it was a menace to the whole community. It placed a burden of thirty-five thousand dollars in treatment alone on the water works of the city of Chester because of the dumping of that material into the river. But they discovered that you could reclaim that waste, that you could take that waste and sell it for cattle feed. The Federal Government has spent millions of dollars in building two plants, and before summer comes this year they expect to have in operation a plant that will entirely recover everything that was formerly placed in the river and that that material will have a value in the commercial market for cattle feed.

And so it is going on all over the Commonwealth, and I again repeat that you can not accomplish these things overnight. We have had a steady growth in public sentiment and as I said to you a few weeks ago, the people of this Commonwealth are determined to clean up the streams and nothing is going to stand in the way of having that done.

Now, as to the mystery of these amendments about which the gentleman from Philadelphia complains, these amendments were not the result of a meeting between the coal operators and the Attorney General, and I am sure that the Attorney General will not feel that I am violating any confidence when I say that a week or ten days before there was any meeting with the coal operators, and as far as I know before there was any meeting contemplated with anybody, a group of us who were interested in this measure, including the sponsor and engineers who have dealt with this problem, met in the Attorney General's office to discuss not only the Brunner Bill but all the phases of this problem, to see whether the legislation was in shape, whether we had sufficient legislation, and it was at the instigation of the engineers who had no connection with industry in any way, and who were wholeheartedly in favor of this program, that these amendments were inserted in the bill. They were prepared by the engineers, they were submitted back to the Attorney General and went through the hopper and came back to the House and were introduced by the gentleman from Montgomery.

So that the record may be kept straight, I want to mention to you the fact that the Sanitary Water Board as far back as 1939, and I know as a matter of practical fact before that time, they were determining the degree of treatment of the streams of Pennsylvania. We have in this session introduced the so-called quality bill on the Delaware River, which is now in committee, House Bill No. 662, which does exactly what this proposes, sets up the standards on the Delaware River to allow for changes as necessity from time to time will require. In the permits which the Sanitary Water Board issues, they do not definitely say what degree of pollution or what the degree of treatment is for which they are issuing the permit—they do not say that it shall be permanent or that there shall never be any change. Changes in conditions may require greater degrees of treatment.

We have two systems in Delaware County, one known as Central Delaware County Sewage which empties out into the Delaware, a sewage treatment plant which is now being planned, which requires primary treatment only; but we have another plant located up on Darby Creek with which we are now trying to serve some ten municipalities, for which the permit will require a secondary treatment.

In the city of Chester it cost some two million dollars to build a sewage treatment plant in order to protect its water intake. It was required to put in a secondary treatment plant. In other words, there must be some agency, there must be some group that can determine the degree of treatment that is necessary on any stream, therefore it would be unfair to merely make a hard and fast rule, as the Brunner Bill originally provided. It is necessary that you maintain and retain in the hands of some group in Pennsylvania the power to determine the yardstick or to determine the degree of treatment.

The power to enforce this is in the Sanitary Water Board. They know about it, they know what to do, and how to do it. They are the proper people. The Sanitary Water Board has issued many requests and many demands for the building of sewage treatment plants in the past. They issued recently extensive orders demanding of the municipalities that they prove that they have plans this year to go ahead, so there should be no doubt in the minds of anybody except for purely political purposes as to the action being taken and which is to be taken under the present law, and under the conditions existing.

Mr. Speaker, I would be derelict in my duty if I allowed a challenge to the gallant Attorney General who is fighting a great battle for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and for the people of Pennsylvania on this program. I too have sat here under administrations, both Republican, so-called Republican and Democratic and I have seen the action of those administrations in reference to these problems, but as far back as the summer of 1944 we held a conference with a great many conservationists, with the coal operators, with the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, the Sanitary Water Board and others on the program for the Schuylkill River, and I heard the Attorney General open that conference with a statement that left no doubt in my mind, a ringing statement as to the necessity of a conservation program, and what the people would demand. I have been in close touch with him during this entire legislative session and before in discussions on many occasions, on matters in which I was interested, and I am convinced, as convinced as any man can be that Jim Duff is wholeheartedly and honestly behind this program, and there is no one who will swerve him aside from doing his full duty to the Commonwealth.

Mr. MODEL. Mr. Speaker, I had no intention of rising again on this bill until I heard the gentleman from Delaware state that the reasons for such amendments at the present time, and his statement as to the gentlemen on this side of the House, that our amendments were based upon political reasons or for political reasons.

Mr. Speaker, I feel certain that the Members of this House, with the knowledge that House Bill 1 was placed in the hopper of this House in 1941 and 1943 by me know that I am interested in what House Bill 1 without amendments will accomplish. Now, as far as anything political, Mr. Speaker, I feel that politics if it entered at all, entered when the amendments were put into a bill which was announced to the entire state-wide public as the administration bill, and one to be backed by the Governor and the Attorney General and one which later with amendments placed in it would certainly change and weaken that bill.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I cannot see from any of the answers given by any of the gentlemen on the other side of the House why the Sanitary Water Board should have great discretionary power placed in its hands when they have already shown in the past that they are unable or would not handle those problems.

The bill as it was without the amendments would make it mandatory not to pollute the waters. We again with the amendments to House Bill No. 1 are back to the position of a "may", bill and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I say that if my amendments are carried we will have a strong bill, a bill which all of us can be proud of and one which will within a reasonable period of time clean our streams.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Montgomery if I am correct in my interrogation of the matter under discussion, that he was consulted before these amendments were placed in House Bill No. 1?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, may I reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, to this effect, and I would like to be as emphatic as possible, there has not been an amendment placed in this bill on which I was not consulted as to its adoption and which I did not approve of prior to its adoption.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman had the opportunity to hear the arguments as to the validity of these amendments, did he, and is the gentleman perfectly satisfied with them?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I am tickled with them, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman very much, Mr. Speaker.

I want to say that this procedure is highly to be commended, and in the future I hope it shall be followed, and for the reason stated by the gentleman from Montgomery I am going to vote for the bill as it came out of committee. I want the record to show that hereafter in the future those of us who have bills might have the same opportunity as the gentleman from Montgomery had in his bill.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to make a few comments on this bill in order to keep the record straight on the Legislative intent of the bill. This bill represents one of the most constructive pieces of legislation proposed in this House for some time and is in the interest of the people of the city of Philadelphia.

Under the present law, which is the act of 1921, the net debt of the city of Philadelphia is computed by deducting from its gross debt the amount of city bonds and cash held by the sinking funds, the outstanding solvent debts and all revenue applicable within one year to the payment of the gross debt. However, if any of the cash is invested or any of the city bonds are converted into federal bonds they cease to be deductible and the city does not receive the benefit of the asset in computing its net debt. The method of computing these items was changed for every political subdivision in Pennsylvania except Philadelphia by the Municipal Borrowing Act of 1941. This act set up a clear and complete system of computation for all political subdivisions except Philadelphia. The proposed act would adapt this system to cities of the first class.

On December 31, 1944 the City of Philadelphia held in its sinking fund $15,574,500 of United States War Bonds which are not deductible in computing the net debt. Due to this situation the net debt of the city exceeded by ten million dollars its borrowing power. If these bonds had been deductible or if the Sinking Fund Commission had sold these bonds the debt statement of the city would have shown a general borrowing power of five million dollars instead of having over borrowed by ten million dollars.

The City Controller in commenting on this has said that it clears up certain uncertainty and confusion in previous acts on an impossible situation arising out of a decision of the State Supreme Court in 1915. All changes are on the conservative side. Section 1A, subsection B, will prevent our losing borrowing capacity to the extent that we hold United States loans in the sinking fund. The former law entailed either an injustice to the city or a detriment to the Federal Government in this respect.

This now represents, Mr. Speaker, a good piece of legislation which will be immediately helpful to the financial situation in the City of Philadelphia. We on the Democratic side are happy to join with our brother Members from Philadelphia in this most constructive effort and I ask the Members of the House on this side to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mrs. VARALLO. Mr. Speaker, the bill before you, House Bill No. 478, presents a unique opportunity. By supporting this bill, members on both side of the House can redeem in part, a platform pledge made by their respective parties.

House Bill No. 478 is an equal rights measure.

You are perhaps acquainted with the text of the equal rights amendment now pending before the Congress which reads:

Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Congress and the several states shall have power, within their respective jurisdictions, to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

This amendment shall take effect three years after the date of ratification."

And you are doubtless familiar with the equal rights amendment planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms of 1944. The Republican plank said:

We favor submission by Congress to the States of an amendment to the Constitution providing for equal rights for men and women.

We favor job opportunities in the postwar world open to men and women alike without discrimination in rate of pay because of sex.

The equal rights plank in the Democratic platform in 1944 said:

We favor legislation assuring equal pay for equal work regardless of sex.

We recommend to Congress the submission of a Constitutional amendment on equal rights for women.

There is a need for legislation of the sort embodied in House Bill No. 478.

Do you know that a woman does not have—

Equal control of her property?

Equal right to make contracts?

Equal opportunities in professions and industries?

Equal opportunities in government service?

Equal pay for equal work?

Equal control of national, state and local government?

Equal rights after marriage to her own identity?

Equal control of her children?

Do you believe that the right to vote put women on an absolutely equal plane with men?

Do you know that common-law principles regarding women's status, apply, except where specific laws—abrogating them have been enacted?

Do you know that before Mrs. Ferguson was inducted into office as the first woman Governor of Texas, it was necessary for her to petition the Court to set aside her "legal disabilities as a married woman" in order that contracts entered into by her on behalf of the State might not be questioned?

Do you know what the legal phrase "disabilities of a married woman" means? Do you know that it means that married women, in the same way as criminals, children and the insane, are limited in their right to contract? That this classes large groups of women as legally and financially irresponsible and handicaps them in the legitimate transaction of their property and business?

Do you know that because of these disabilities courts have referred to the "dangers of a married woman's papers?"

Do you know that married women's property rights are restricted? That she may not sue her husband on anything involving trust, or title to, or management? That although a single woman may handle her property with the same freedom accorded a man, she becomes immediately upon marriage, in effect, a legal infant; that she may not make a contract or a promissory note, nor may she give a deed or mortgage, make a lease, nor sue or be sued, without the jointure of her husband?

An unmarried woman is considered competent to handle her own affairs but once she takes unto herself a husband, she somehow becomes incompetent in some way. Suddenly she becomes a widow, and then again becomes competent. Is this a reflection on husbands?

Do you know that these are but a fraction of the existing discriminations against women?

Do you know that these discriminations are not merely humiliation but bitter reality to many women?

And so!—under the law, women are not persons, wives are chattels. So in effect ruled the Comptroller General of the United States and two Baltimore Judges.

Not 100 years ago, but now.

How is this possible?

This is possible because the Federal Constitution is always considered in the light of common law. Early in our history, the Supreme Court said:

The interpretation of the Constitution of the United States is necessarily influenced by the fact that its provisions are framed in the language of the English common law and are to be read in its history.

Thus the position of women under our Constitution became the position of women under medieval English common law, and when women have claimed rights under the Constitution they have almost invariably been denied. Hence the rulings today that women are not persons, and wives are chattels.

How then have women gained the rights they now hold?

The right to vote was extended to women by federal amendment.

The various states have conferred rights upon women, but in general it has been the rule that common-law principles apply unless specific laws abrogating them have been enacted.

An astounding number of laws discriminating against women still exist, and there is no constitutional guarantee that more will not be enacted.

Constitutional inequality not only preserves the bad laws of the past, but encourages the enactment of new ones. It fortifies every employer, every university, every college, and every professional school in discriminations against women. It sent women into the world handicapped. It affects women's confidence in their own ability and provides a fertile ground for a devastating inferiority complex. It prevents women from becoming adult.

Today 16 million women are not only doing their homework but working for wages outside the home. Two millions of them are in munitions plants. Thousands of them have been, and are, under enemy fire, from Bataan to Sicily. Denying them equality is a plain robbery that does not become a virtue just by being ancient.

Carl Sandburg—poet and biographer, says:

Good luck to you in your courageous fight for Equal Rights for women—which shouldn't have to be fought in this age. If any new argument is needed in favor of Equal Rights, let us look to women's contribution to the war effort. When the sum total of this is known at war's end, the toughest part of your fight will be over.

Richard J. Walsh—Editor of "Asia and the Americas" says:

I am for Equal Rights exactly as I am for the independence of India, and for giving up our special rights in China, and for stopping the discriminations against Negroes. It is simply that I believe all human beings are created equal and all should have the same freedoms and the same chance. We treat woman half as a privileged class and half as a depressed class. Both attitudes are inherited nonsense and it is high time we got rid of it.

There is nothing confusing in the meaning of the amendment in this bill No. 478, it is

An Act to amend sections one and two and to further amend section three of the act approved the 8th day of June 1893, entitled "An Act relating to husband and wife enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property to sue and be sued and to make a last will enabling them to sue and to testify against other in certain cases" authorizing a married woman to mortgage or convey her real property to the same extent as a married man and to make contracts as if and to become surety on any bail or recognizance.

And so I, as a woman and one of the sponsors of this measure venture to express the hope that you, recognizing the place women have won for themselves in what has been a man's world, will give House Bill No. 478 such united support that its passage will represent your unanimous verdict.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman give us the distinction between the original language of that act, "To the credit of the annuity savings account together with the interest accredited thereon," and the change in language, "to the date of the termination of the contributor's state services."

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the intent of the bill is to terminate the running of interest after the termination of the state employe's employment with the State.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the previous practice has been when the employee has left the State service he may have considered it a good investment to leave his money in the fund to collect interest, although he may never have had the intention of coming back into the State service?

Mr. SORG. Apparently that is so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman very much, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, following the discussion last evening on the rules of the House, I have at this particular time a Pennsylvania Legislative Directory of 1935. On page 50, rule 4 reads as follows:

When a bill or resolution is on the calendar ten days in the hands of a committee after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from further consideration of the bill or resolution by a vote of 85 Members.

That rule was in effect in 1935.

On page 91 of the same Directory we find that the Republicans in this House had a membership of 88, the Democrats 117.

I just make that statement. Mr. Speaker, so that it will be clear to the Members of the House that last night in my statement I was correct in saying that the minority at one time did have sufficient votes to discharge committees with 85 votes, which we are asking you to do now.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules be discharged from further consideration of House Resolution No. 30 which has been in the possession of the Committee since February 21, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the issue presented by this motion is very clear cut. At the last session of the General Assembly this House and the Senate passed a resolution memorializing Congress to so amend the Federal Constitution as to place a twenty-five per cent ceiling on income taxes.

As you recall, the Governor of this Commonwealth in a considered, deliberate statement vetoed the purposes of the resolution that the General Assembly had enacted. I agreed with the Governor at the time. I agree with the Governor now. The Governor said that the time was inopportune to place a ceiling upon Federal income taxes and he questioned the judgment of this House and the judgment of the Senate when they presumed to place Pennsylvania on record at Washington favoring an amendment to the Federal Constitution which would limit the income tax to twenty-five per cent, and so the purpose of this motion is to bring on this floor a point of view which the Governor of the Commonwealth has taken, a point of view which I believe the membership of this House would have taken if in 1943 they had given the subject more consideration.

It must be evident to you that if we limit the power of the Federal Congress to impose income taxes, they must impose some other tax, and what does the Gannett Committee, the power behind the movement to limit Federal income taxes propose? They propose a Federal sales tax.

Now, I submit to you that the point of view of the Governor is the point of view which this House, having had time to think things over should take and incidentally, Mr. Speaker, I submit to you that a failure on the part of this House to take the view taken in 1943 by the Governor of the Commonwealth supplies the party that advocates a change in position with a very fine campaign issue, which I would gladly accept if the Members of this House decide to stand pat on their 1943 position.

Mr. TROUT. Now, Mr. Speaker, it is true that legislation to which the gentleman from Cambria referred passed the Senate during the last hours of its legislative session in 1943. However, it had passed the House previous to that, after very careful consideration, after a thorough discussion, provided for the elimination of the sixteenth amendment and enacting the twenty-second amendment.

The gentleman from Cambria is right when he says that the Governor vetoed that resolution, which however, was not a function of the Governor; he is not called upon either to approve or disapprove a memorial resolution memorializing Congress, so that his veto had no effect upon the resolution adopted by the Senate and the House.

The twenty-five per cent ceiling is pyramided, so that it amounts to approximately sixty-seven per cent. Under the present sixteenth amendment there is no ceiling and Congress has the right to confiscate property for taxation and it is doing it now as high as ninety-five per cent.

This resolution provides for the enactment of the twenty-second amendment, and the effect of it stops at the close of the war. Seventeen states have enacted resolutions, and it is not a political question because a number of the States that have passed the resolution in both the Senate and the House are Democratic states, so that it is not a political resolution, and I ask the Members of the House to vote down this resolution and stand by what they did at the end of 1943.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, if he has a leave of absence for this particular day?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I had a leave of absence for a part of the session this afternoon.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand it was just for a part of the session or for today's session?

Mr. ANDREWS. I thought I was asking for a part of the session, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman did not ask for it that way the Speaker did.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh will state it.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, my question is how can a Member with a leave of absence for today's session speak upon any question on the floor?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what is it necessary for me to do to establish my legal presence in the House?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's presence establishes his legal presence and he is entitled to all the privileges of a Member.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TROUT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, have any of the states that passed resolutions memorializing Congress to repeal the sixteenth amendment and enact the twenty-second amendment rescinded their action?

Mr. TROUT. I do not understand the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. Will the gentleman kindly repeat his question?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the question is, have any of the states which have passed in 1943 a resolution memorializing Congress to enact the twenty-second amendment, rescinded their action?

Mr. TROUT. In replying to the gentleman from Cambria, there are several that have rescinded, either in the House or the Senate. I am not in a position to say, however, whether there are any that have rescinded in both the Senate and the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion before the House because I think the original resolution was right. The resolution as I understand it, or the twenty-second amendment, as I understand it, will not put a ceiling on income taxes in a time of national emergency, or war. There is no limit whatever, you can go as far as you want to; you can take everything a man has, but when there is no emergency then this ceiling applies, which seems to me perfectly just.

The average man today does not know where he is at, about all he is doing is working for the government. He surely should have some opportunity to work for himself. This country has always been a peaceful country. It has had a capitalistic system and people have prospered in this country because when they make money they can keep it. In foreign countries just as soon as they get a little bit ahead they start to war again and after they get to a point where they cannot furnish any further munitions of war, they quit, and work like blazes until they get some more money and get their debts paid. Then they go to war again, and that keeps them poor all the time, they never can get anything ahead for their families or for their posterity. That is what nearly every foreign person will tell you, and I have talked to dozens of them.

But there is an element in this country, Mr. Speaker, that believes that all that anybody should have or make is twenty-five thousand dollars a year. That seems to be the element that is opposed to this twenty-second amendment. They want to make sure that all you can make or I can make in a year is twenty-five thousand dollars. Now this amendment, as I see it, does not hurt the big fellow so much as it hurts the little fellow because the big fellow has various exemptions that the little fellow does not have. He can set aside for this, that or the other thing that the little fellow cannot do; the law does not allow him to do it, and the result is that the little fellow is the one that is always squeezed out in these things, whereas they are always talking so much that they are going to soak the rich.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Huntley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUNTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman believe, Mr. Speaker, that Federal income taxes should be paid by the people who make twenty-five hundred a year or by the people who make twenty-five thousand dollars or more?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe that everybody should pay.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, should everybody pay in accordance with their means or in accordance with their lack of means?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think that it is all right to pay according to your means, but I do not believe that the government should confiscate your means and leave you poor.

Mr. ANDREWS. It is estimated, Mr. Speaker, that Federal debts after the war will be in excess of three hundred billion dollars. If we cannot tax money where it is, corporate money, large incomes, if we cannot tax income where it is, where is the gentleman from Cameron going to get the money with which to pay the three hundred billion dollar debt?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the three hundred billion dollar debt ought to be cut right in two, that it should be repudiated, one half of it—

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh will state it.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, are we discussing Resolution 30 and the merits of that resolution, or are we discussing the resolution presented by the gentleman from Westmoreland to discharge a committee?

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the question to discharge the Committee on Rules from further consideration of Resolution 30.

Mr. ANDREWS. I submit to the Chair and to the membership of the House that a motion to discharge a committee is meaningless unless the House understands what the resolution to be taken from the committee is.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria is correct, if he confines his remarks to the question of discharging the committee. Will the gentleman please confine himself to the question?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. Just speaking for myself, replying to the gentleman from Cameron, I believe that—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield. The gentleman from Cambria has the floor.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Speaker. I have no further questions to propound.

Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to dwell upon the remarkable comments of the gentleman from Cameron, that the way to dispose of a Federal debt is to repudiate it.

To return to the consideration of the question at issue, the judgment of this House in confining this resolution within the confines of a committee instead of bringing it out onto the floor for consideration when we know more about the conditions of the country than we did when this resolution was passed, when we faced this colossal Federal debt at the time this resolution was passed, it was sheer fantasy to expect that the Federal debt would be in excess of three hundred billion dollars. I submit to you, gentlemen, that a reconsideration of the issue is in order, and that the only way to reconsider the issue is to bring the resolution on to the floor of the House.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, speaking for myself, I believe that one half of this three hundred billion dollars should be repudiated and the interest doubled, instead of getting one and one-half per cent, we should get three per cent, or instead of getting three per cent we should get six per cent. It would mean more to the people and would give them some chance to amortize the debt and pay the interest and you would not be killing the goose that laid the golden egg in doing it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I'm not going to ask you to be fair with the Members on this side, I am going to ask you to be fair with your Governor. Your Governor vetoed the former resolution and stated very clearly as far as he was concerned that the action of the House and the Senate was not in accord with his wishes.

Now, we have had many requests from organizations to take this action. I am appealing to you folks over on the other side to be at least fair with your Governor and go along with us on this resolution. I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the resolution be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Burns.

Messrs. Lovett, Andrews and Skale asked for a verification of the roll.

TO REPEAL RULE 90

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution to repeal House Rule 90 which was laid over under the rules for printing.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SKALE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. SKALE, TRACHTMAN, LOFTUS, SMITH and McCORMACK offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1945.

This House has missed or been deprived of the pleasure attendant upon the celebration of another birthday.

The Honorable Frank A. Costa has had one lately, but he forgot to tell his friends about it and he also forgot his age.

Having been born at the very end of our shortest month, he has become short in many things, and even forgets the years that have accumulated.

It was foolish because the State Manual not only carries his picture, but places his birthday on February 28th, and his age as 54.

His graying locks to him mean not the passing of years, but the effect of late sessions of this House, and as his hair grows backward on his brow, he boasts of his noble looking forehead.

He must have been born under the influence of an isolated star, because, like a noted star of the movies, he "wants to be alone." He obviously forgets his birthdays and unless in the loneliness of his room he gnawed on a peanut butter sandwich, there was no proper celebration of this last one.

He must feel his years, for often he has remarked that the only thing he wanted for his birthday was, not to be reminded of it.

We celebrate Washington's birthday and Lincoln's birthday, and to miss celebrating Costa Day is almost sinful; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House of Representatives that we hereby officially designate Wednesday, March 7th, as the day upon which the 54th anniversary of the birthday of Frank A. Costa shall be celebrated, and we further authorize and empower him to proceed with the preparations necessary to make the celebration worthy of the occasion and to issue an invitation through the Speaker of this House to all the Members of this House to join him in making this postponed celebration a memorable one; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution served upon him by the Chief Clerk, shall be his full authority so to do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Costa.

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the sponsors of this resolution. I did forget when my birthday came. I never read that Manual but I appreciate, Mr. Speaker, this great send-off you are giving me today. Tomorrow I will reciprocate under this resolution, when everybody will be welcome.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Miss BRANCATO asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution.

RESOLUTION

Miss BRANCATO offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, have we finished with resolutions?

The SPEAKER. We are still on resolutions.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 20

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 20, Printer's No. 187 on page 17 of today's calendar. The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 12, 1945.

Whereas, many employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and former and present members of the General Assembly have been inducted into the Armed Forces of the United States since April first, one thousand nine hundred forty; and

Whereas, many of these persons have died while serving with the Armed Forces; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Property and Supplies be instructed to publish in the Pennsylvania Manual for 1945 a roster of all officers and employes of the Commonwealth and all former and present members of the General Assembly who have died in the armed service during World War II and to continue to publish such rosters and biographical notes in all future issues of the Pennsylvania Manual with such additions as may from time to time become necessary

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

Amend Resolve Clause, page 1, line 8, by striking out the words "and biographical notes"

It was agreed to.

The resolution was agreed to as amended.

The resolution as amended will lie over for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the hour is growing exceedingly late and I recognize we are all weary from a very heavy day, and I would not rise at this time were it not for the fact that I would be derelict in my duty and to my oath of office if I did not call to the attention of this House and for the record the fact that in our sister state of New York there was passed last night a bill described by his Excellency, Governor Dewey, as the most historic step in legislation to come before the General Assembly of that great Commonwealth. I refer to the F.E.P.C. Bill. I would like to read what Governor Dewey had to say about the bill, and I quote from the New York Times of today:

I am happy indeed that our state has led the entire nation in this great social advance which will assure equality of opportunity for all people, regardless of race, creed, color or national origin.

Much as I would like, Mr. Speaker, to give vent to my feelings at this particular time, I refrain because of the lateness of the hour, but there must be rejoicing upon the part of the soldiers from the state of New York who are fighting for democracy and equality of opportunity, for decency and for justice on thirty-two battle fronts throughout the world, and I believe there is rejoicing in the hearts of the men from Pennsylvania, notwithstanding the fact that we feel on the horizon in Pennsylvania an ill omen, an ill sign, that Pennsylvania will perhaps be weighed in the balance and be found wanting.

I say therefore, Mr. Speaker, with a plea from the bottom of my heart, with a fervent hope that the majority of this General Assembly, that the Governor of this Commonwealth, a man for whom we have the greatest respect, will see that Pennsylvania, though it will have to take second place will not have to take last place, and that there soon will come out of a committee of this House legislation which will delight the hearts of the men who are fighting at this very moment and who are dying, in order that there shall be equality of opportunity, and that they may like their comrades from New York, delight in the fact that Pennsylvania, though second is second only in time but not second in principle.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BONEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the gentleman has given up the time he had asked for previously because of the lateness of the hour on three different sessions. The Chair hopes the House will bear with the gentleman from Luzerne.

Mr. BONEY. Mr. Speaker, as the Speaker stated, on previous occasions, I relinquished my time because of my consideration of you Members and because of the lateness of the hour, but I feel that if I did not take advantage of this particular opportunity at this time I would be remiss in my duty.

Mr. Speaker you have all observed, during the past few years, the bravery of the mothers in your community upon the occasion of a son, or possibly a fifth son, entering the armed forces of the Nation. In that brief moment, upon being informed of a son's induction, these mothers saw the loneliness that would be theirs through the future days. The sun had seemed to have fallen from the sky, for he who was her sunshine and her happiness was to leave her, possibly forever. On such occasions I am sure we can all picture that mother turning her face away in an effort to hide a tear. Everything seemed empty and cold. Finally turning to her son, as I have observed in a lonely mining village, the mother's answer came. She said, "Go and may God protect you," and that answer, fellow Members, is typical of the answer given by all the mothers to their sons.

Many of these boys who have gone to foreign lands to fight for democracy, freedom and justice, that you and I may live in happiness, will never again return. But what will be the thoughts in the minds of those brave men who do return, when upon entering their modest homes from which they once departed to establish justice in the world, they find that their homes have been damaged by a mine subsidence?

Fellow Members, these returning boys and their brave mothers, and their fathers, too, know full well that it is the function and the duty of this great State to define precisely how the common good qualifies the right of an individual or a corporation to use his or its property. They know that they may not use their property as they see fit, without regard for the common good, and they find it hard to understand why a coal corporation is permitted to use its property without restraint, even though such use not only destroys the property of a whole community, but places in jeopardy the lives of the general public.

It is for these struggling people, who are in need of help and are unable to help themselves, that I appeal for your help in the passage of legislation that will regulate the mining of coal in the anthracite region, so that those who have helped make the world safe for democracy will at least have a safe place in which to live.

These poor people, fellow Members, have no paid lobbyist, nor do they have an organized power in our legislative halls, nor did they attempt to forestall the Government in its war activities when called upon by the Nation to contribute that which all the gold in these United States could not purchase. These people now come to you for relief. There is involved in the legislation they seek a sound principle of justice, a principle to which all must make their final appeal. The legislation which I have introduced for the cure of the mine subsidence evil, which has existed in the anthracite region for years and still exists, and is becoming more serious, although fair and just, will be opposed by those extreme upholders of the present system of destruction, who cling to an autocratic and irresponsible theory which is as inconsistent with human welfare as it is contrary to the ideals of democracy.

Therefore, fellow Members, I say to you that American justice demands an end to this inhuman practice of destruction or property carried on by the coal companies of the anthracite region.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. KIRLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. KIRLEY. Mr. Speaker, on page 711 of the Legislative Journal of February 26 I am registered as not voting on House Bill 412, to permit motor boats on Pymatuning Lake. I was present in the hall of the House and voted "no" on that bill, Mr. Speaker.

WEDNESDAY, March 7, 1945

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.
The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

"Righteous art Thou, O God, and upright are Thy judgments." "Thy law is the truth." Make us wise to accept Thy judgments and abide by Thy law. Dependent as we are upon Thee for all our material needs we can not be independent for our moral and spiritual needs. Our moral and spiritual strength are supplied by Thee. Write Thy law, O God, on our hearts that we may live to Thy glory and our own honor. In all departments of our living may Thy law be our delight.

We are grateful for Thy favor to us as a nation. In times of peace as in days of war the leadership has been Thine. May this be the case today, and may we so follow the divine Leader, in faith, that out of the present war we shall come with honor as well as victory, and take our place of leadership among the nations, the leadership for truth righteousness and justice for all.

Bless with Thy presence the President, the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor, and all those upon whom rests the burden of authority and responsibility. Reveal Thy purposes and Thy truth to the members of the Assembly that in all their deliberations and transactions they may seek first Thy glory.

All we ask in the name of the Lord Christ. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, one of the saddest catastrophes that can happen in any family circle is to have that circle broken because of the mental illness of a beloved member of the family. Last week Miss O'Hara, Secretary of the Department of Welfare of this Commonwealth, laid on our desks certain reports from her department. Among them was a report of a committee appointed by the Governor to study this problem of our mental institutions.

I do not intend to read into the record statistics from that report, but I say for the record that the report indicates that we face in our Commonwealth presently, today and in the future, tremendous over crowding of our institutions. Last week the Board of Trustees of the Woodville State Mental Institution, located in Allegheny County, by resolution, refused to admit any more women patients to that institution. They did that because of their terrific over crowding. In one dormitory they are using an attic as a place for women patients to sleep.

This week there appeared for several days in various Pittsburgh papers stories calling attention to this over crowding and its result. I would like to read one of these articles which came from the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph last night, and is as follows:

"INSANE WOMEN SHACKLED TO JAIL BEDS

"Four women, pronounced insane, are shackled to beds in the county jail because state authorities won't admit them to Mayview or Woodville, Warden Charles L. Dye told the County Prison Board yesterday.

"Medical commitments for the women and seven allegedly insane men have not been honored, Dye added.

Judge John J. Kennedy charged local aldermen with using ruses to send mental cases to jail. He added:

"Aldermen are putting surety of peace charges against mentally unsound people, refusing them bail, and then sending them to the county jail. If we allow this to continue, we are party to the subterfuge."

"A court order to send one woman to Woodville was answered by a flat refusal, Dye said, Woodville officials claimed the institution was overcrowded, he added.

"The board authorized Chairman George Rankin, Jr., to notify the State Secretary of Welfare of the 'intolerable situation.' Rankin will ask that a state representative be sent to Pittsburgh to investigate conditions.

City, county, hospital and social agency representatives met in closed conference yesterday in the Community Fund Building to discuss medical commitments to the state institutions. H. J. Heinz, II, president of the Federation of Social Agencies who called the meeting, presided."

I do not know what the situation is in other parts of the state, other than indicated by the report of Miss O'Hara. I do know, from a personal investigation that I have made, that the situation in our county is intolerable. Where to place the fault I can not say. The report has indicated that it has been obvious for some years that there were a growing number of patients confined to our mental institutions, and it seems to me that this great Commonwealth, conversant with that fact, long before this should have made some arrangements to house the increasing number of persons who need treatment.

I believe that this Senate should have the facts. I am not satisfied, knowing these facts, to sit in this Senate and see nothing done about it.

I therefore propose the following resolution, which would authorize the President Pro Tempore of the Senate to appoint a committee of Senators from Allegheny County to immediately investigate those parts of the mental hospitals of Woodville and Mayview which are under the control of the state and to make a report to this Senate on Monday, if possible, and if not, as soon thereafter as possible.

RESOLUTIONS

URGING INVESTIGATION OF THE MENTAL HOSPITALS OF WOODVILLE AND MAYVIEW

Mr. COX offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 7, 1945.

Whereas, The report of the Honorable S. M. O'Hara, Secretary of the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has disclosed that the mental institutions of the Commonwealth are so crowded that it is impossible to admit a great many persons awaiting admission, and

Whereas, The Board of Trustees of Woodville State Hospital located at Woodville, Penna.; because of serious overcrowded conditions, have passed a resolution refusing to accept any more women patients, and

Whereas, The newspapers of the City of Pittsburgh have disclosed that insane persons are being committed to the county jail because the State has furnished no facilities for their treatment, and

Whereas, All the facts disclose that an emergency exists in the problem of housing persons with mental illness, not only in the County of Allegheny, but in all parts of the Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of members of the Senate from Allegheny County to immediately investigate the conditions of the parts of the mental hospitals of Woodville and Mayview which are under the control of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and report their findings to the Senate of Pennsylvania on Monday, March 12, 1945, if possible, or as soon thereafter as can be done.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration because I am quite sure that no investigation is necessary. Everybody agrees that there is overcrowding in our mental institutions. The administration is aware of that fact, Mr. President, and is taking steps to correct it. If the gentleman will read the budget message of the Governor, he will find an item of $15,735,000 for construction and major improvements of the penal and mental institutions of the Commonwealth.

I also submit, Mr. President, the administration is aware of this condition and has been taking steps to correct it. As evidenced of that fact there is $24,000,000 more appropriation for welfare in the present biennium than under the last biennium of Governor Earle.

I contend, Mr. President, it is not a question of investigation; it is a question of getting something done. Everybody agrees there is overcrowding, and steps have been taken to correct it. In addition to this item in the budget message of Governor Martin, the Secretary of Welfare, I understand, has a longrange post-war building program in mind. If the gentleman from Allegheny would like me to furnish that program for him at the next session of the Senate, I would be glad to do so.

Mr. COX. People in my county are shackled to prison cells because of the neglect of this Commonwealth to furnish adequate facilities for proper hospitalization of mental cases—they are shackled now, Mr. President,—in a civilization and a state as great as our, and there is no excuse for this emergency ever having existed.

If the Majority Leader of the Senate were conversant with the report of the Secretary of the Department of Welfare, he would be conversant with the fact that the $15,000,000 as set up in the Governor's budget is no answer to the problem. There is such a thing in the world as humanity, and in this instance humanity can not wait; something has to be done. I see no indication that the Department of Welfare is doing anything presently to take the people out of the jails of Allegheny County who are mentally ill.

This is no attempt on my part to make a political attack on the Republican Administration and its maladministration of the mental institutions of this state. I want to do something for these people.

During the past five weeks I have been in contact with the situation at Woodville. I know how chaotic the situation now is, and if it is true in Woodville and if it is true in Mayview, where it is necessary to put cots in corridors because of the overcrowding, the same picture can probably be painted of the mental institutions all over this Commonwealth.

Last week I tried to find a legislative program of this administration of the Republican party that would solve some of these problems. As yet I have not seen the program. I have heard repeatedly from the floor of this Senate, when members of the minority side would get up to remonstrate about conditions that exist and should be remedied, that old story "Why do you not do something about it"—gentleman, I am trying to do something about it. This is not a political issue.

You have in Allegheny County, representing the majority party, two members of this Senate. I would be perfectly happy to have this committee, which is to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, consist of only those two Republican members of the Senate. This is a situation which has to be answered now and not tomorrow.

Since I have been in the Senate this week I received one of the most tragic telephone calls I have ever received, concerning the mother of three or four minor children, who suddenly went to pieces mentally—the type of case that had to be institutionalized—and there is not one private hospital in the city of Pittsburgh that can handle that case. I communicated with people in Allegheny County. There is only one hospital with a psychopathic ward, St. Francis—they have done a wonderful job but they are so crowded at this time it is impossible to have any one admitted, and even if any one were to be admitted, it could only be for the purpose of observation for a matter of one or two weeks, but if they are incurable or have not responded to immediate treatment, then they must be sent to a state hospital.

This is not a situation that can wait. We, as members of this Legislature, certainly are not doing our duty to the people of this Commonwealth if we say we are going to have a post-war planning program which is going to add a number of needed beds to our mental hospitals. This is not a post war condition, it is today, and we have a problem to do, we have the ill today. In Miss O'Hara's careful study of this whole problem of mental health, she has indicated in this war period a tremendous worry and distress because of the fact that many of the young men of the country are in the army and it has had the effect of making people cross over the border line from sanity to insanity.

Her report also has pointed out the fact that when this war is over many members of the armed forces will have become psychopathic, and will not be able to be taken care of in federal hospitals, but an added burden will be imposed upon the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We can pass G. I. bills here galore, spending public moneys, but here is an opportunity to do something constructive.

Last week, when I sat in Miss O'Hara's office, talking this problem over with her, I learned of a request made by various officials of the army, pleading for help to assist persons who have been released from the army and who required mental treatment.

I will never forget, when I first came here in 1941, when the Republican Administration of this Commonwealth said to the people of the Commonwealth that the Democratic party had built a tuberculosis hospital at Butler which was an unnecessary expenditure of public funds, a hospital that was not needed, and yet today we face a rapidly rising increase in the spread of this dreaded tuberculosis in this Commonwealth.

It is not my point at this stage of the game to make a long speech calling your attention to some of these things that are wrong in this Commonwealth but I certainly intend to do it in the future. All I ask you to do is to forget the fact that we represent any political party in this body and I call on you in the name of the people of one of the greatest counties in this Commonwealth, people who have contributed to the general funds of this state a tremendous part of the state income, to do something about the crisis which affects the peace and the happiness and the security of the homes of the people of my county.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I also have no desire to prolong this discussion, because I appreciate the sincerity of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, in his desire to remedy the situation back in Allegheny County.

However, I think there is a hiatus in the gentleman's argument, which lies in the fact that this resolution calls for an investigation by the members of the Senate. I think everybody in the Senate—and especially those members of the Senate from Allegheny County—are cognizant of the overcrowded condition of our mental institutions all over the Commonwealth and especially there in Allegheny County, where recently the state took over a county institution under legislation passed at the preceeding session.

When this matter was first brought to my attention, which was last week, I took the liberty of calling the Department of Welfare and found they were also cognizant of the situation in Allegheny county and they are doing every thing they can to remedy this situation.

Private hospitals are overcrowded and anybody who has tried to become hospitalized, either themselves or members of their family, know how tough it is to get into a hospital today, even if you are willing to pay hospital rates. Everybody knows that our state hospitals, such as Woodville, are overcrowded, but may I respectfully suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, that the thing we are trying to solve is the overcrowded condition and that an investigation at this time will not help. We all know the situation. If the Senator is willing—and if that will meet the situation without appointing a committee by the President Pro Tempore—I will be very happy to go with him to Woodville and investigate, and we will find that the situation is just as he represented, it is overcrowded, and then we will come back and say to the Senate on Monday that Woodville is overcrowded and we will be right back where we are today, that is, that the Department of Welfare is trying to remedy the situation and they have been at it for days trying to work out a solution.

I do not want the gentleman from Allegheny to feel we are not sympathetic with the results which he is attempting to attain; we are merely not in accord with the modus operandi which he has adopted.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, we all understand this situation, which will have to be remedied as rapidly as possible, but it seems to me to come with bad grace from the people of Allegheny County and Philadelphia to come in here and complain that the State has not corrected these conditions immediately.

In 1938 the members from Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties, with some assistance, forced over upon the state the taking over of mental hospitals. This was not finally accomplished until 1942. The war was then on. These people in Allegheny County, when they had charge of this institution, let it run down so that it was crowded then, and then forced it over on the state in that condition. The same thing applied to Byberry.

The other counties of the state were taking care of their institutions in a proper manner.

It seems to me that this is no reason why they should come in here and complain about the state not remedying conditions which were due largely to their own fault.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I refuse to accept the chastisement of the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy. From 1938 to 1945 is a long span of years and if this Commonwealth was on its toes there would be no overcrowding in this institution or any other institution.

I might say that the people of Allegheny county did not force on the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the problem of caring for the mentally ill of this Commonwealth. That is a state function. As society increases in its complexity there are many problems, handled improperly by local communities, which political philosophy has shown are proper problems for the Commonwealth.

I do not want to prolong this discussion. I realize that in the face of the united opposition of the majority party I am getting nowhere. There is a need to know the facts. This has existed over a long period of time. In accordance with the report of the Secretary of the Department of Welfare, the crisis facing the people of my county should have been prognosticated two years ago. This is only the beginning of this problem in our Commonwealth. I know this, if this Session of the Legislature stays in session long enough, the probabilities are that every member of this Senate will be asking for the same help in solving their problem as I am asking for the people of my community.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, for bringing up this subject, this morning, should be commended by everyone, I personally commend him because last night at exactly 11:15 I received a phone call from Pittsburgh, from a veteran of the sixteenth ward, appealing to me to get a woman into Mayview or any hospital for the insane. When I tell the members of the Senate why this woman lost her mind I know they certainly can sympathize, because her son was killed; she received a wire yesterday morning that her son was killed in action; she had another son who was missing in action, and she lost her mind completely. They tried to take her to hospitals but could not get her in. They said she was over at the county jail.

I say to you as a Senator of Pennsylvania that we should not leave this Senate today, or any other day this week, until we bring Miss O'Hara here and meet this emergency. This is a war emergency. We have had enough flag waving, saying what we want to do for the soldier. Can we not do something for soldiers' mothers who are dying.

I do not want to delegate my power to Miss O'Hara, or anyone else, because in this state I was elected, and so were you elected, to accept these responsibilities, and you should stay in this Senate, no matter how many days it takes, until this responsibility is met, the same as responsibilities are met at the front. When our boys were meeting a terrific attack from the Germans they did not stop then to investigate—you start talking about planning—they threw in emergency troops, reserve forces, and stopped the German advance. Let us stay here. Let us stay here in Harrisburg until we solve this problem. It is our problem, not the problem of the people back in the counties. It is the problem of the state. Allegheny county pours into the coffers of this state as much money, if not more, than any other county in the state. We owe it to them. Why go back to people who own real estate and say it is their problem, say to the man and woman who owns a home, it is your problem? It is our problem. Let us shoulder it. It is our problem, and as elected Senators we should stay here until we solve it. It is one of the greatest emergencies existing in the state of Pennsylvania today, and anyone who walks out of the Senate today, tomorrow or the next day, without solving this problem, is a slacker to the people back home.

I do not know what I am going to go back and tell the family of that mother who has become ill over the death of her boy. I told them last night I could not do anything. I might tell you, gentlemen, I was insulted over the phone. They said "you are a Senator, we elected you, and you say you cannot do anything; we will take care of you the next time you run." I say to you that is what a lot of them are going to say to all of us if we do not do our duty now.

I think my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox, should be commended for bringing this matter to the attention of the Senate so early this morning because I know he, and I think every other Senator of this Senate, should inform the people back home we are facing this problem.

I think we should accept our responsibility and stay here. We only have been sitting three days a week. Let us stay here seven days, if necessary, this week, until we solve this problem.

I personally, Mr. President, will not vote for adjournment of this Senate today until we accept the responsibility put upon our shoulders and do something about it.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am not going to continue this argument any longer, except to say to both the gentlemen from Allegheny, Senator Cox and Senator Holland, that everybody in this Senate is sympathetic with the problem now confronting the mentally ill. It is silly to get up here and try to convince anybody about this, because there is not a man in this Senate, of either party, who does not want to do something about this thing. But, Mr. President, I have told these gentlemen that $15,000,000 is allocated in the Governor's budget for relieving this condition. The first step to take, gentlemen, is to get priorities released out of Washington in order that the necessary building materials can be made available to the Commonwealth. I can assure them that the Governor of Pennsylvania will give immediately orders to start construction, if they can get these building materials released. I am quite confident, Mr. President, that is the way to approach this problem. We can stay in session and make speeches for six months, but what we need is materials, iron and steel, to build these mental institutions.

Mr. DENT. I want to inform the Majority Leader that any time he or anybody he or the Governor may designate, wants to go to Washington, D. C., to see the proper authorities, to release any materials and any priorities that may be needed, I assure him we will be not only willing to go but will make the necessary appointments; if you are ready to go this afternoon, we are ready, or any day you may designate.

I have always said hindsight is easier than foresight. We tried during the days when we were the majority party, and had full responsibility, to see into the future, and we built many buildings to take care of this thing we are talking about today—under the General State Authority, which has been so roundly condemned by so many members of your party, we built the only institutions that you have today available for the purposes that are now needed. $15,000,000 is a paltry sum when you start out to do the thing you will probably face when the war is over and we have so many boys returned.

I might say, relative to this resolution, it seems ridiculous to me, when we ask that a committee be named by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, that one of the majority party objects and says "we will go without the authority of the resolution and do the same thing and get the same information," I see nothing wrong with clothing that committee with the authority the Senate of Pennsylvania represents, so that when they go the institution they will go as the agents of this body, and not as individuals going in to see what they can find out for their own interests or their own purposes.

That is a far cry from the day not over three weeks ago when members of the House of Representatives expended a great sum of money to make a junket to the state of Louisiana to see in action some recording device to show how they vote. Gentlemen, the people of Pennsylvania know how you vote without any recording device.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, under the order of business of resolutions I want to serve notice that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, and myself, will introduce on Monday a resolution concerning the city of Philadelphia as the site of the peace machinery. We just want to have the week-end in order to consult the mayor of Philadelphia and Judge Edwin R. Lewis, president of the Independence Hall Association, concerning preparation of this resolution, and on Monday we shall introduce it.
